Disagrees With Cawein Article

College Site Status Written by Davenport

A communication today from Kenneth Davenport, chairman of the Board of Trustees, took issue with a recent article in The Freeman concerning the Ulster County Community College.

The article with an accompanying eight-column map appeared on Wednesday, Feb. 5, under the by-line of Albert J. Cawein, Freeman Staff Writer.

The title of the article was Many Obstacles Hinder Start of Building Plan.

Mr. Davenport is a resident of Stone Ridge, Mr. Cawein is of Saugerties.

Chairman Davenport's communication today said: The following report is presented to clarify and correct some of the information presented in the February 5 story.

Davenport's Report

Presented verbatim is as follows:

The report that State appraisers have set the value of the site at $41,000 is not correct. An appraisal has not yet been received on the Stone Ridge site. On October 28th, the College received a letter from Dean Paul B. Orvis, State University of New York, which indicated that "a cursory examination of the properties — not a formal appraisal" placed an evaluation of $33,520 on the property then owned by the County. The letter further indicated that, if the estimated evaluation was satisfactory to the Board of Trustees and the local sponsor, it would be assumed that the Board of Trustees of the State University of New York and the Division of Budget wiuld be willing to approve it. It was further suggested, however, that the local sponsor and the Board of Trustees very well might wish to have a formal appraisal made and that the value placed upon a cursory examination might not be sufficient. Early in November the Board of Trustees confirmed the request for an official appraisal which had first been made on July 9th. That appraisal has not yet been made.

The February 5th article in The Freeman, in referring to the $41,000 figure, further stated "The State will only give $41,000 matching funds for the construction of the permanent building". This is a misinterpretation of the State matching fund concept. The State will not only credit Ulster County for the amount of the eventual appraisal, but will, in fact, pay 50 per cent of all of the cost of construction and campus development.

DeWitt Donation

The Freeman story on February 5th suggested that the designation of the $150,000 gift from the DeWitt Revolving Fund, Inc. for use as a library was presented at a recent executive session. This generous gift, $50,000 more than the original pledge, was presented to and accepted by the Board of Supervisors, by resolution, at their meeting on August 22, 1963, with the understanding and agreement that the gift, when matched by the State, would be used for construction of the MacDonald DeWitt Library. The library building will initially provide speace for other services, probably administrative space and possibly some classrooms.

Parcels Necessary

It was reported by the Kingston Freeman on February 5th "that four vital parcels of land purported to be necessary to consolidate the Stone Ridge site

O'Reilly's Store Burglarized, One Other Teen Held

Several cameras, transistor radios and leather brief cases were reported stolen in an overnight burglary at O'Reilly's Office Equipment Inc., 611 Broadway, while city detectives were rounding up another suspect in two other burglaries.

Kingston Detective Division reported that entry was gained through an unlocked window overlooking a rear alley.

The amount of the loss could not be determined until an inventory is taken by the store management.

This is the most recent of a series of burglaries reported in the city in the past two weeks.

In an overnight roundup Tuesday by city police, several teenagers were apprehended and break-ins at M. Yallum's Sons Inc., Broadway and East Strand, last Sunday and Maroon's Confectionery store, 100 Broadway, the previous Sunday night.

Ector Faces Charge

Another 16-year-old Kingston youth was arrested early today in connection with the two burglaries which city police reported involved six teenage youths, three of them under 16.

Fred Ector, 16, of 32 Maple Street, arrested today on two charges of third degree burglary

Speed Cited In Ramming Of Destroyer

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Both ships were moving at close to top speed when the 20,000-ton carrier Melbourne rammed into the destroyer Voyager Monday night and cleaved her in half in three seconds, the Melbourne's skipper said today.

Capt. R. J. Robertson described Australia's worst peacetime naval disaster after the Melbourne, the Australian navy's flagship, limped into port with 159 of 239 survivors from the destroyer. The carrier's bow was badly damaged.

Search Continues

A navy spokesman held out little hope for 79 Voyager crew members listed as missing, but a search is continuing. There are three known dead, including the destroyer's commander, Capt. Duncan H. Stevens, 42, of Sydney.

Stevens was on the Voyager's bridge when she was struck by the carrier during night maneuvers 20 miles off the Australian coast 120 miles south of Sydney.

The bow section of the 3,500-ton destroyer sank within 10 minutes. The stern remained afloat for three hours. The destroyer was a marvel of modern electronics—literally a push-button ship whose guns and steering could work automatically with radar.

Conditions Good

Robertson, on the bridge of the carrier at the time, told reporters there was no moon but the sea was calm and conditions generally good for the maneuvers.

"We had been engaged in night flying exercises which require the carrier to move as fast as possible," Robertson said.

"Both ships were blacked out except for the port and starboard and red masthead lights.

Cut Like Knife

"Melbourne hit Voyager amidships, cutting through her like a knife. Voyager split clean in halves. The halves slid down our sides.

"Voyager slid easily under our bow. Melbourne did not even rise when she hit.

"'I ordered engines astern (reversing propellers) and we drifted away from the two sections of the Voyager.

"'The immediate thoughts of my officers and men were to organize rescue operations. Those carried out by members of Melbourne were very smooth."

Schedule for Big Push Includes Over 27 Dates in 20 Places Through Friday

DOVER, N.H. (AP)—A three-day round of sidewalk tours, teas, coffee hours, visits and speech-making lay ahead today for Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, who is opening his big push in the New Hampshire primary.

The Rockefeller itinerary listed 27 activities in more than 20 communities between this morning and Friday night.

The crowded schedule marked Rockefeller's most intensive foray into this state since he announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for president on Nov. 7.

Primary March 10

New Hampshire will hold the first presidential preference primary of 1964 on March 10.

Rockefeller plans to campaign exclusively in New Hampshire until primary day. Previously, his New Hampshire visits were mixed with trips to other states in which he is competing in primaries—California and Oregon.

Rockefeller was asked Tuesday night at a news conference in New York whether he agreed with those who contend the New Hampshire primary will be meaningless because of the large number of entrants.

Rocky's View

The governor replied:

"To those who lose that probably will be the conclusion. But to the ones who win, it is going to be a very significant primary."

This week's visit—and a five-day swing planned next week—will offer Rockefeller ample opportunity to reply to a new charge of his chief, declared opponent, Sen. Barry Goldwater, that Rockefeller is too liberal to represent Republicanism.

Goldwater renewed that argument Tuesday night in Portland, Ore. He said he and Rockefeller differed in many areas and asserted that the governor supported federal aid to education, compulsory unionism, medicare and deficit spending.

His Main Criticism

For his part, Rockefeller has been saying throughout New Hampshire that Goldwater's views are out of the mainstream of Republican thinking on the major problems of the day.

The governor also has been criticizing the Democratic national administration's handling of foreign policy since 1961.

He said Tuesday night that the decision failure of the Kennedy administration not to provide air cover for the Bay of Pigs invasion by Cuban refugees in 1961 "doomed the Cuban freedom fighters to defeat."

Views on Cuba

Rockefeller has continued to call for the elimination of Soviet troops from Cuba and an end to Cuban - supported subversion of other Latin American nations.

But he has declined to specify what steps he would take as president to achieve those goals.

Rockefeller's schedule today called for a flight from New York City aboard his private airplane, a visit to a Dover newspaper office, a handshaking tour of the business district, two coffee hours and a tea.

Mrs. Rockefeller said previously she would not accompany her husband on this trip. Neither is she expected to make a five-day swing that will take him next week to the ski resorts of the northern part of the state.

Mrs. Rockefeller, who expects a child in June, is thought to be planning on making only the less hectic campaign trips, those involving a minimum of travelling and walking.

Briefing Is Done on UR Plans Here

City officials, the aldermen comprising the Common Council's Urban Renewal Committee, members of the Citizen's Executive Advisory Committee and members of various sub-committees were given a detailed report on the status of Kingston's two Urban Renewal projects last night by Alexander Yosman, Urban Renewal adviser.

The meeting, held in the City Courtroom, centered around the Broadway East model, which outlines what is planned for the project area. It is expected that the approved Broadway East plan will be received from the federal government shortly and that public hearings will be held in the spring.

Relocation Stressed

The meeting covered primarily the residential and relocation phases of the Broadway East project.

At a later date members of the sub-committees involved with the industrial and commercial aspects of Urban Renewal will be invited to a meeting covering their particular phases of the program.

Prior to the public hearings by the Planning Board and Common Council there will be a general meeting of the area residents to acquaint them with the final plan.

Yosman also covered the highlights of the plan for the uptown project, which is now undergoing review by the Housing and Home Finance Agency. The uptown project is primarily a non-residential project with emphasis on the improvement of the parking and retail facilities, and economic structure of the area.

Groups Attending

In addition to Alderman-at-Large Joseph F. Carroll, who is acting mayor while Mayor Schwenk is on vacation, and alderman and executive members, others attending last night's meeting were sub-committee members representing banking, civic groups, clergy, minority groups, relocation, real estate, conservation, labor groups.

Members of the Urban Renewal Committee from the Common Council are: Alderman John Naccarato, Third Ward, chairman, and Alderman Donald Tucker, Fourth Ward; Leonard Van Dyke, Sixth Ward; Edward Norton, Seventh Ward; Raymond Armater, 11th Ward; John Machione, 12th Ward and William G. Davis, 13th Ward.

The Citizen's Executive Advisory Committee is headed by J. R. Shults Sr. as chairman and James F. Gilpatric is vice-chairman. Other members of the Executive Committee are: Thomas J. Mitchell, Frank A. Reis, John

Crowns His 42-Year Career

Celler Happy About CR Passing in House

By JOSEPH R. COYNE

WASHINGTON (AP) — For Rep. Emanuel Celler, House passage of the administration's civil rights bill was the greatest achievement of his 42-year congresssional career.

"I sort of feel like I climbed Mt. Everest and I'm just pausing up there and looking around," the 75-year-old New York Democrat said today in an interview.

As chairman of the powerful House Judiciary Committee, he had spent nine days guiding the civil rights bill through the House. Despite his years, he lost none of his bounce or his good humor during that time.

Most Important Thing

"It's the most important thing I've done," Celler said of the measure approved 290 to 130 Monday night, "and it's one of the most important things ever passed by the House."'

The Judiciary Commmittee began its investigation of the civil rights bill almost one year ago. Celler said it was the hardest year he has ever spent in Congress.

He attributed preparation and diplomacy for the committee's success in winning House passage of the legislation.

"We didn't shut off debate," he explained. "The provocation was sometimes strong but we never shut it off. We set a tone of friendliness, good will and tolerance. We were very careful in everything. We didn't try to rub salt in the wounds. We tried to keep the debate high level."

Credits Others

By we, Celler made it plain that he meant other members of the Judiciary Committee who supported the civil rights bill, especially Rep. William M. McCulloch of Ohio, the senior Republican member.

"'Bill McCulloch is entitled to tremendous credit,'" Celler said.

The Brooklyn Democrat, who was first elected to Congress on Nov. 7, 1922, said he felt confident from the start that the House would pass the measure although he admitted worrying about possible crippling amendments to sections calling for a fair employment practices commission and cutting off federal aid to segregated programs.

Southern Democrats failed to win approval of any major amendments.

"It was preparation that put this over," Celler said.

Lawyers to Try For Speed Up of Ruby Trial Shift

DALLAS (AP)—Lawyers indicated today they will try to speed up the lengthy hearings in which the defense seeks to move the Jack Ruby murder trial to another city.

Lawyers for both sides arrived well ahead of court opening to go through stacks of Dallas newspapers, seeking agreement on what stories may be entered in evidence.

Time Consuming

Courtroom arguments over what is admissable have been time consuming.

The hearing entered its third day with Ruby's defense team seeking to establish that a city scarred by the presidential assassination and the killing of the accused assassin could not produce an impartial jury to hear the case.

A wide range of witnesses, including a number of attorneys, testified Tuesday it appears unlikely, if not impossible, that Ruby could get a fair trial in Dallas.

The trial is scheduled to begin Monday, unless Dist. Judge Joe B. Brown grants a change of venue.

Violence Threats Rumble in Nicosia

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Undersecretary of State George Ball and British envoy Cyril Pickard called on President Makarios today to present the latest U.S.-British plan to land an international peace keeping force on Cyprus.

Ball hurried to the meeting shortly after he arrived from Turkey on his flying peace mission.

At Least One Killed

The conference took place as fighting between Greek and Turkish communities flared anew in the south coastal city of Limassol, 38 miles southwest of Nicosia. At least one Greek Cypriot policeman was killed, a palace spokesman said.

A spokesman for the Greek Cypriot president said the talks will decide whether Makarios will take the case to the United Nations. If they are considered unsatisfactory, a special Greek Cypriot delegation probably will be sent to U.N. headquarters in New York later this week.

Ball told newsmen he hoped to have full discussions with Makarios and Vice President Fazil Kitchuk, a Turkish Cypriot.

No Comment on Yanks

He refused to comment on a newsman's query as to when American troops would land on Cyprus as part of a U.S.-British plan for a peace-making force.

There were no signs of anti-American demonstrations in Nicosia and Greek Cypriot officials insisted they expected none.

Nicosia rumbled with threats of a new flareup of Greek Cypriot violence. Two bomb explosions at the U.S. Embassy last week sent women and children of American personnel fleeing from the Mediterranean island.

Clashes between Greek police and students marked Ball's stopover at Athens Monday as demonstrators demanding union between Cyprus and Greece tried to march on the U.S. and British embassies.

Britain was one target because its troops now police an uneasy truce between the warring Greek and Turkish Cypriot communities. The United States was the other because it has offered to help with the police work.

U.N. Voice, No Vote

As President Johnson's troubleshooter, Ball is expected to outline the latest U.S.-British proposal for an international peace force for Cyprus.

British officials in London said the revised plan gives the United Nations a voice but no vote on peacekeeping operations and abandons a previous condition that the force be raised from partners in the North Atlantic alliance.

Makarios turned down the original plan because of the dominant role it gave the North Atlantic Treaty Organization

Suicide Is Ruled Out Of L. I. Vice 'Steerer'

MINEOLA, N.Y. (AP)—Dist. Atty. William Cahn says he has ruled out suicide in the flaming auto death of a tavern operator described as a "steerer" in a purported $200,000-a-year housewives prostitution ring.

"It was definitely not suicide," Cahn said Tuesday of the death of Edmund M. (Teddy) Nugent, 49. "We do not know whether it was accidental or homicide, but we do know he was alive and breathing when the fire broke out." An autopsy showed the victim had inhaled smoke.

Nugent's burned body was discovered early Tuesday in a flaming car parked outside his Jericho, Long Island, tavern.

Cahn said Nugent admitted steering clients to prostitutes, named many of the 200 Long Island businessmen questioned in the case, signed a statement and was a prospective defendant.

Meanwhile, the attorney for the accused madam of the call girl ring announced he would fight for an "open" trial to expose what he said were the leading Long Island politicians and businessmen who were customers of the operation.

John J. Sutter of Mineola, counsel for alleged vice queen Mrs. Concetta McAllister, said: "I intend to rip the shroud of anonymity from these people."

The Nassau district attorney's office has offered to shield customers of the ring from publicity if they cooperated in the inquiry.

Cahn disclosed that the investigation had spead to three other states—which he refused to name.

Nugent, who lived in nearby Plainview, was a former bartender at the Copacabana nightclub in New York. He took over part ownership of the Jericho Lounge, six miles from his home, about a year ago.

The 14 alleged call girls seized as material witnesses had all been married. Only five live with their husbands and children. Husbands of three of the five babysat with full knowledge of what their wives were engaged in, Cahn said.

School Groups, Mayor Wagner Attend Budget Hearings to Ask for More Aid

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Education groups demanded a $110-million increase in school aid and New York Mayor Robert F. Wagner was on hand to seek $274 million more for his city as the Legislature opened public hearings today on Gov. Rockefeller's new budget.

Wagner was first on a long list of witnesses who sought to persuade the Legislature's fiscal committees either to authorize more spending or effect greater economies than envisioned by Rockefeller's precariously balanced $2.92-billion budget.

The budget for this fiscal year, ending March 31, is $2.79 billion.

Today's session in Chancellor's Hall at the State Education Building was devoted strictly to the local assistance—that is, state aid — portion of the budget.

The governor has proposed a total of $1.65 billion in state aid, up $103 million from this year.

The lawmakers will air the capital construction and state purposes sections of the record-high spending plan tomorrow.

Wagner came to Albany Tuesday night and made a side-trip, speaking at a Democratic dinner in Glens Falls. Shortly before Wagner arrived, Rockefeller made public the text of a letter formally rejecting the mayor's request for more aid.

The Republican governor said that, if other communities were given the same kind of extra aid sought by Wagner, the state would have to increase its personal income tax by 33 per cent to raise the money.

Rockefeller also rejected again Wagner's call for a legal, taxable system of off-track betting on the horses.

Spokesmen for education groups descended on the capital in force to press their case for a state aid for the public schools.

Howard Goold, representing the State Teachers Association, was among those who urged the Legislature to increase from $500 a pupil to $585 the ceiling on school costs in which the state shares. This would cost $110-million in the next school year.

School districts throughout the state "are suffering hardships because the ceiling was not increased either in 1962 or 1963," Goold asserted in a prepared statement.

Rockefeller says there is no room in his tight budget for a major increase in education aid. Although some Republican lawmakers have been agitating for an increase, they have been generally reluctant to espouse a tax boost in this election year.

One lawmaker who is willing to raise taxes, Assemblyman Edwin J. Fehrenbach, R-Nassau County, introduced a bill Tuesday that would increase the state tax on cigarettes from five to six cents a pack.

Fehrenbach said this would produce $25 million that could be used for the first step in a $50-million increase in school aid.

The bill's chances of passage were poor.

Assembly Speaker Joseph F. Carlino, an advocate of greater school aid, declined to take a position on it. He said he would discuss it first with Rockefeller

Disagrees With Cawein Article

College Site Status Written by Davenport

A communication today from Kenneth Davenport, chairman of the Board of Trustees, took issue with a recent article in The Freeman concerning the Ulster County Community College.

The article with an accompanying eight-column map appeared on Wednesday, Feb. 5, under the by-line of Albert J. Cawein, Freeman Staff Writer.

The title of the article was Many Obstacles Hinder Start of Building Plan.

Mr. Davenport is a resident of Stone Ridge, Mr. Cawein is of Saugerties.

Chairman Davenport's communication today said: The following report is presented to clarify and correct some of the information presented in the February 5 story.

Davenport's Report

Presented verbatim is as follows:

The report that State appraisers have set the value of the site at $41,000 is not correct. An appraisal has not yet been received on the Stone Ridge site. On October 28th, the College received a letter from Dean Paul B. Orvis, State University of New York, which indicated that "a cursory examination of the properties — not a formal appraisal" placed an evaluation of $33,520 on the property then owned by the County. The letter further indicated that, if the estimated evaluation was satisfactory to the Board of Trustees and the local sponsor, it would be assumed that the Board of Trustees of the State University of New York and the Division of Budget wiuld be willing to approve it. It was further suggested, however, that the local sponsor and the Board of Trustees very well might wish to have a formal appraisal made and that the value placed upon a cursory examination might not be sufficient. Early in November the Board of Trustees confirmed the request for an official appraisal which had first been made on July 9th. That appraisal has not yet been made.

The February 5th article in The Freeman, in referring to the $41,000 figure, further stated "The State will only give $41,000 matching funds for the construction of the permanent building". This is a misinterpretation of the State matching fund concept. The State will not only credit Ulster County for the amount of the eventual appraisal, but will, in fact, pay 50 per cent of all of the cost of construction and campus development.

DeWitt Donation

The Freeman story on February 5th suggested that the designation of the $150,000 gift from the DeWitt Revolving Fund, Inc. for use as a library was presented at a recent executive session. This generous gift, $50,000 more than the original pledge, was presented to and accepted by the Board of Supervisors, by resolution, at their meeting on August 22, 1963, with the understanding and agreement that the gift, when matched by the State, would be used for construction of the MacDonald DeWitt Library. The library building will initially provide speace for other services, probably administrative space and possibly some classrooms.

Parcels Necessary

It was reported by the Kingston Freeman on February 5th "that four vital parcels of land purported to be necessary to consolidate the Stone Ridge site

Capt. R. J. Robertson described Australia's worst peacetime naval disaster after the Melbourne, the Australian navy's flagship, limped into port with 159 of 239 survivors from the destroyer. The carrier's bow was badly damaged.

Search Continues

A navy spokesman held out little hope for 79 Voyager crew members listed as missing, but a search is continuing. There are three known dead, including the destroyer's commander, Capt. Duncan H. Stevens, 42, of Sydney.

Stevens was on the Voyager's bridge when she was struck by the carrier during night maneuvers 20 miles off the Australian coast 120 miles south of Sydney.

The bow section of the 3,500-ton destroyer sank within 10 minutes. The stern remained afloat for three hours. The destroyer was a marvel of modern electronics—literally a push-button ship whose guns and steering could work automatically with radar.

Conditions Good

Robertson, on the bridge of the carrier at the time, told reporters there was no moon but the sea was calm and conditions generally good for the maneuvers.

"We had been engaged in night flying exercises which require the carrier to move as fast as possible," Robertson said.

"Both ships were blacked out except for the port and starboard and red masthead lights.

Cut Like Knife

"Melbourne hit Voyager amidships, cutting through her like a knife. Voyager split clean in halves. The halves slid down our sides.

"Voyager slid easily under our bow. Melbourne did not even rise when she hit.

"'I ordered engines astern (reversing propellers) and we drifted away from the two sections of the Voyager.

"'The immediate thoughts of my officers and men were to organize rescue operations. Those carried out by members of Melbourne were very smooth."

O'Reilly's Store Burglarized, One Other Teen Held

Several cameras, transistor radios and leather brief cases were reported stolen in an overnight burglary at O'Reilly's Office Equipment Inc., 611 Broadway, while city detectives were rounding up another suspect in two other burglaries.

Kingston Detective Division reported that entry was gained through an unlocked window overlooking a rear alley.

The amount of the loss could not be determined until an inventory is taken by the store management.

This is the most recent of a series of burglaries reported in the city in the past two weeks.

In an overnight roundup Tuesday by city police, several teenagers were apprehended and break-ins at M. Yallum's Sons Inc., Broadway and East Strand, last Sunday and Maroon's Confectionery store, 100 Broadway, the previous Sunday night.

Ector Faces Charge

Another 16-year-old Kingston youth was arrested early today in connection with the two burglaries which city police reported involved six teenage youths, three of them under 16.

Fred Ector, 16, of 32 Maple Street, arrested today on two charges of third degree burglary

Crowns His 42-Year Career

Celler Happy About CR Passing in House

By JOSEPH R. COYNE

WASHINGTON (AP) — For Rep. Emanuel Celler, House passage of the administration's civil rights bill was the greatest achievement of his 42-year congresssional career.

"I sort of feel like I climbed Mt. Everest and I'm just pausing up there and looking around," the 75-year-old New York Democrat said today in an interview.

As chairman of the powerful House Judiciary Committee, he had spent nine days guiding the civil rights bill through the House. Despite his years, he lost none of his bounce or his good humor during that time.

Most Important Thing

"It's the most important thing I've done," Celler said of the measure approved 290 to 130 Monday night, "and it's one of the most important things ever passed by the House."'

The Judiciary Commmittee began its investigation of the civil rights bill almost one year ago. Celler said it was the hardest year he has ever spent in Congress.

He attributed preparation and diplomacy for the committee's success in winning House passage of the legislation.

"We didn't shut off debate," he explained. "The provocation was sometimes strong but we never shut it off. We set a tone of friendliness, good will and tolerance. We were very careful in everything. We didn't try to rub salt in the wounds. We tried to keep the debate high level."

Credits Others

By we, Celler made it plain that he meant other members of the Judiciary Committee who supported the civil rights bill, especially Rep. William M. McCulloch of Ohio, the senior Republican member.

"'Bill McCulloch is entitled to tremendous credit,'" Celler said.

The Brooklyn Democrat, who was first elected to Congress on Nov. 7, 1922, said he felt confident from the start that the House would pass the measure although he admitted worrying about possible crippling amendments to sections calling for a fair employment practices commission and cutting off federal aid to segregated programs.

Southern Democrats failed to win approval of any major amendments.

"It was preparation that put this over," Celler said.

Lawyers to Try For Speed Up of Ruby Trial Shift

DALLAS (AP)—Lawyers indicated today they will try to speed up the lengthy hearings in which the defense seeks to move the Jack Ruby murder trial to another city.

Lawyers for both sides arrived well ahead of court opening to go through stacks of Dallas newspapers, seeking agreement on what stories may be entered in evidence.

Time Consuming

Courtroom arguments over what is admissable have been time consuming.

The hearing entered its third day with Ruby's defense team seeking to establish that a city scarred by the presidential assassination and the killing of the accused assassin could not produce an impartial jury to hear the case.

A wide range of witnesses, including a number of attorneys, testified Tuesday it appears unlikely, if not impossible, that Ruby could get a fair trial in Dallas.

The trial is scheduled to begin Monday, unless Dist. Judge Joe B. Brown grants a change of venue.

Suicide Is Ruled Out Of L. I. Vice 'Steerer'

MINEOLA, N.Y. (AP)—Dist. Atty. William Cahn says he has ruled out suicide in the flaming auto death of a tavern operator described as a "steerer" in a purported $200,000-a-year housewives prostitution ring.

"It was definitely not suicide," Cahn said Tuesday of the death of Edmund M. (Teddy) Nugent, 49. "We do not know whether it was accidental or homicide, but we do know he was alive and breathing when the fire broke out." An autopsy showed the victim had inhaled smoke.

Nugent's burned body was discovered early Tuesday in a flaming car parked outside his Jericho, Long Island, tavern.

Cahn said Nugent admitted steering clients to prostitutes, named many of the 200 Long Island businessmen questioned in the case, signed a statement and was a prospective defendant.

Meanwhile, the attorney for the accused madam of the call girl ring announced he would fight for an "open" trial to expose what he said were the leading Long Island politicians and businessmen who were customers of the operation.

John J. Sutter of Mineola, counsel for alleged vice queen Mrs. Concetta McAllister, said: "I intend to rip the shroud of anonymity from these people."

The Nassau district attorney's office has offered to shield customers of the ring from publicity if they cooperated in the inquiry.

Cahn disclosed that the investigation had spead to three other states—which he refused to name.

Nugent, who lived in nearby Plainview, was a former bartender at the Copacabana nightclub in New York. He took over part ownership of the Jericho Lounge, six miles from his home, about a year ago.

The 14 alleged call girls seized as material witnesses had all been married. Only five live with their husbands and children. Husbands of three of the five babysat with full knowledge of what their wives were engaged in, Cahn said.

School Groups, Mayor Wagner Attend Budget Hearings to Ask for More Aid

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Education groups demanded a $110-million increase in school aid and New York Mayor Robert F. Wagner was on hand to seek $274 million more for his city as the Legislature opened public hearings today on Gov. Rockefeller's new budget.

Wagner was first on a long list of witnesses who sought to persuade the Legislature's fiscal committees either to authorize more spending or effect greater economies than envisioned by Rockefeller's precariously balanced $2.92-billion budget.

The budget for this fiscal year, ending March 31, is $2.79 billion.

Today's session in Chancellor's Hall at the State Education Building was devoted strictly to the local assistance—that is, state aid — portion of the budget.

The governor has proposed a total of $1.65 billion in state aid, up $103 million from this year.

The lawmakers will air the capital construction and state purposes sections of the record-high spending plan tomorrow.

Wagner came to Albany Tuesday night and made a side-trip, speaking at a Democratic dinner in Glens Falls. Shortly before Wagner arrived, Rockefeller made public the text of a letter formally rejecting the mayor's request for more aid.

The Republican governor said that, if other communities were given the same kind of extra aid sought by Wagner, the state would have to increase its personal income tax by 33 per cent to raise the money.

Rockefeller also rejected again Wagner's call for a legal, taxable system of off-track betting on the horses.

Spokesmen for education groups descended on the capital in force to press their case for a state aid for the public schools.

Howard Goold, representing the State Teachers Association, was among those who urged the Legislature to increase from $500 a pupil to $585 the ceiling on school costs in which the state shares. This would cost $110-million in the next school year.

School districts throughout the state "are suffering hardships because the ceiling was not increased either in 1962 or 1963," Goold asserted in a prepared statement.

Rockefeller says there is no room in his tight budget for a major increase in education aid. Although some Republican lawmakers have been agitating for an increase, they have been generally reluctant to espouse a tax boost in this election year.

One lawmaker who is willing to raise taxes, Assemblyman Edwin J. Fehrenbach, R-Nassau County, introduced a bill Tuesday that would increase the state tax on cigarettes from five to six cents a pack.

Fehrenbach said this would produce $25 million that could be used for the first step in a $50-million increase in school aid.

The bill's chances of passage were poor.

Assembly Speaker Joseph F. Carlino, an advocate of greater school aid, declined to take a position on it. He said he would discuss it first with Rockefeller

Children's Home Serves County Area for 87 Years

Ulster County can be rather proud of the fact that the Kingston Children's Home has provided 87 years of continuous service to children, said Gerald E. Shampo, director, in his annual report to the Board of Directors.

Great progress was made during 1963, said Mr. Shampo, who has been director for 10 years.

"We have developed the philosophy," he said, "of 'You are either on the way or in the way.' The world will not wait. Things don't turn up in this world until somebody turns them up.' "

Has New Recreation Room

For the first time since 1903, he continued, the Children's Home has added an additional building which will sustain the institution as a child caring agency for children. The new addition contains an all purpose recreation room which the Home has never had. This has been a most difficult problem for many years for community services are already overtaxed, and most inadequate. Certainly, above all else Mr. Shampo pointed out "we must be able to channel a child's energies into a healthy, active, well directed program and a good recreation facility can do this." In a word of caution Mr. Shampo went on to say this: "Experience has taught us that this remedy is not a cure all. We will still have many problems because it will take time to re-direct the habits and energies of the maladjusted child. He must learn to know that there is fun and thrills and personal satisfaction in healthy competition with other boys—just as perhaps in his distorted thinking there were thrills and satisfaction in stealing or frustrating a teacher—or skipping school."

Classroom Added

The other most important addition in the new building is the classroom for remedical education. Mr. Shampo went on to state, "We must not view this program as something that we shall work for in the future. It is needed now—it will be needed more tomorrow. Six boys presently living with us desperately need a more intensive personalized educational program.

"Our studies show from all agencies that the educational program for the institutionalized child is one of the most sadly neglected. If his home life, moral and spiritual training have been neglected—what kind of problems must he have in school? The truth is that he has done nothing in school nor will he do anything until his life is structured."

"When he is ready to learn," Mr. Shampo continued, "he becomes remorseful because of the following reasons: He can only concentrate for short periods of time. His mind is easily distracted. He is several years retarded in reading. He needs to re-learn some of the basic principals taught in the early grades.

"The public school is not the place where he will find the kind of help that he needs. It will only be found in the confines of a small class setting where a teacher who has specialized training can give intensive personal direction to the child's needs. It's a big job but every human mind is a great slumbering power until awakened by a keen desire and by definite resolution to do."

The rest of the feafures in the new building such as the offices and social service rooms provide for an orderly transfer of space for the many renovations taking place in the old building. "These renovations were due," Mr. Shampo stated, "because of the board's intense desire to improve the living facilities of the staff and to provide the children with a more complete and organized living area."

New staff apartments were created on the second and third floors which provide living room, bedroom, bath and kitchen for each couple. The boy's lounge room will subsequently be moved to the first floor and a series of rooms will be constructed on the second floor wing to provide the boys with more personalized living quarters. Consideration was also given to the director's cottage, second floor, which had not been touched for some 14 years.

"Keeping the physical plant in order is a big job, Mr. Shampo stated, "and we have gone as far as our money would allow for the year 1963."

Two major changes were made in the personnel area: The addition of a full time maintenance man and provision for an on the campus bookkeeper.

Summing up the actual services to the children, Shampo gave the following statistics:

Forty children were given a home for some 12,258 days of care in 1963; nine were admitted during the year and a total of 19 were discharged; a total of 23 children needed regular medical attention by Dr. John Roberts, the home physician; a total of seven required specialist services; a total of 18 needed emergency medical care at Kingston Hospital; there were two operative cases at the Kingston Hospital.

The dental program was a busy one with some 70 appointments being provided by the dentists of the city. Special orthodontia treatment was provided for two of the children.

Seven special eye examinations in the city and county had contributed much to the program by providing entertainment and activity for the children. During the Christmas period especially many joined together with us to make the holiday a successful one.

The summer vacation period saw all of the children participating in two of the day camps in the area: The YMCA Camp and Catholic Day Camp.

In closing out his report for the year Mr. Shampo expressed his sincere thanks to the churches, business organizations, service clubs and the many individuals who contributed of their means to make the year 1963 a successful one.

Growers Urged To Divert Acres For Conservation

The 1964 Feed Grain Program can furnish the answer to the farm operator's questions about what to do with their land next year, according to Joseph Sauer, chairman Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Ulster County Committee.

If the farm has a feed grain base, the farm operator is eligible to participate in the 1964 Feed Grain Program, thus earning diversion payments by keeping land out of unneeded feed grain production and shifting it to conservation uses.

Those interested may file their intentions from now to March 27 at the ASCS office, 54 John Street, Kingston.

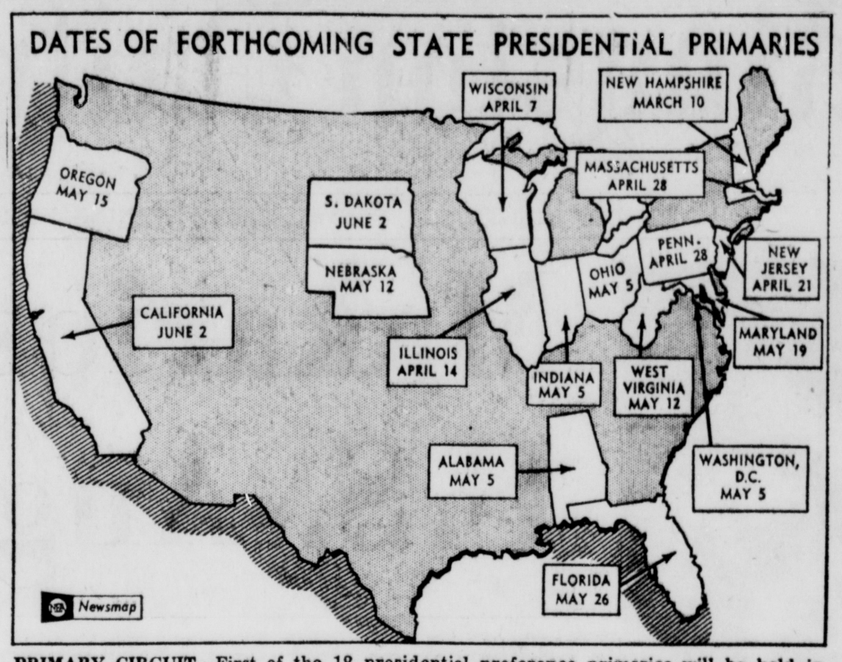
TORONTO (AP) — Britain's Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home, who wants to redress Britain's trade balance with Canada, says he holds the whip hand in the situation.

He told the Empire Club Tuesday night: "If Britain neeeds to earn more dollars from Canada, I warn you, I shall send the Beatles."

The Beatles now are amassing dollars in the United States.



PRIMARY CIRCUIT—First of the 18 presidential preference primaries will be held in New Hampshire on March 10. Republican candidates Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York and Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona are already on the campaign trail there. New York will hold a primary in addition to states shown on Newsmap. The date has not yet been set, but is generally held on the first Tuesday of April. Alabama will hold a Democratic-only primary on May 5. Last primaries before the Republican and Democratic National Conventions are in California and South Dakota on June 2.

Would Build 24 Miles Across the Southern Tier

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The State Public Works Department says it will seek bids to build 24 miles of the Southern Tier Expressway at an estimated cost of $29 million — provided Gov. Rockefeller's budget is approved with road funds intact.

The expressway eventually will cross the southern section of the state from the New York Thruway near Harriman to the Pennsylvania state line near Jamestown.

E. Burton Hughes, deputy public works superintendent, told a group of western New York legislators Tuesday that the department expected to call for bids this year on these segments:

—6.7 miles between Livingston Manor and Roscoe, Sullivan County, estimated cost, $8.9 million.

—6.5 miles between Hancock and City Brook, Delaware County, estimated cost, $12 million.

—11 miles between Salamanca and Steamburg, Cattaraugus County, estimated cost, $8 million.

St. Lucia, second largest of the Winward Islands, lies south of Martinique in the Caribbean Sea.

Two Bills That Would Broaden Police Searches Before Senate

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Two bills that would broaden police powers in making searches and arrests were before the Senate today after winning Assembly approval despite protests that they would harm civil liberties.

The measures, known as the "knock - knock" bill and the "frisk" bill, are key parts of Gov. Rockefeller's anti - crime program.

One would provide for special search warrants that would permit a policeman to enter a building or room without having to knock or call out the usual, "Police! Open up."

The other would clearly authorize a policeman to detain and search a person whom he suspects of having committed a crime or being about to commit a crime. There has been a question over the legality of such action.

The search bill passed Tuesday on a vote of 107-26 and the arrest bill, 92-45. Democrats formed most of the opposition to the bills and argued that the measures violated personal liberties.

Debate on the two bills was a highlight of a day of brisk legislative activity. These were among the other developments:

— Assemblyman Edwin J. Fehrenbach, R-Nassau, introduced a bill to increase the state cigarette tax by one cent a pack to help finance his proposal for raising state aid to education by $50 million a year.

—The Senate approved a bill under which surrogates' courts would retain a role in adoption proceedings.

—A bill to reduce the insurance premiums on a family automobile when a youngster in the family leaves home to attend college was introduced in the Legislature.

—A measure was introduced in the Assembly that would limit the use of hypnosis to physicians, dentists and certified psychologists.

Fehrenbach said his cigarette-tax increase plan had substantial support from both Republicans and Democrats. Assembly Speaker Joseph F. Carlino, a Republican, took no position on it, explaining he would first discuss the matter with Rockefeller and Senate Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney.

Fehrenbach estimated the one-cent increase, to six cents a pack, would produce an additional $25 million a year. But the possibility that his estimate may be too optimistic arose, however, when the State Tax Department reported a downward trend in cigarette sales.

The car insurance measure was introduced by the Joint Legislative Committee on Motor Vehicles and Traffic Safety. Under present rate practices, the committee said, a reclassification is not allowed even though a person under 25 has left the insured's household to attend college.

Insurance is higher for families with drivers less than 25 years old.

The restriction on use of hypnosis would prohibit exhibitions of hypnotism, Assemblyman Francis P. McCloskey, R-Nassau, said in introducing the measure.

Fla. City Makes Lavish Plans for College Invasion

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Fort Lauderdale again plans a varied entertainment program to keep collegians out of mischief in this south Florida resort at Eastertime.

The program was instituted in 1962 to prevent a repetition of the wild Easter vacation of 1961 when hordes of beer-drinking students taunted police and were arrested by the hundreds.

If the students come in peak numbers, possibly as many as 50,000 will be here over a 15-day period.

A program mapped by civic groups provides maximum entertainment and minimum idle time. It will cost the city $15,000. Included are dances, beach parties, boat cruises, athletics and gift certificates.

All a student needs is a "hello" tag costing 25 cents.

Soviet Spokesman Blames West for Yuri's Defection

GENEVA (AP) — Soviet disarmament negotiator Semyon K. Tsarapkin said today "provocative activity" by Western intelligence agencies in Switzerland led to the defection of a member of his delegation, Yuri I. Nossenko.

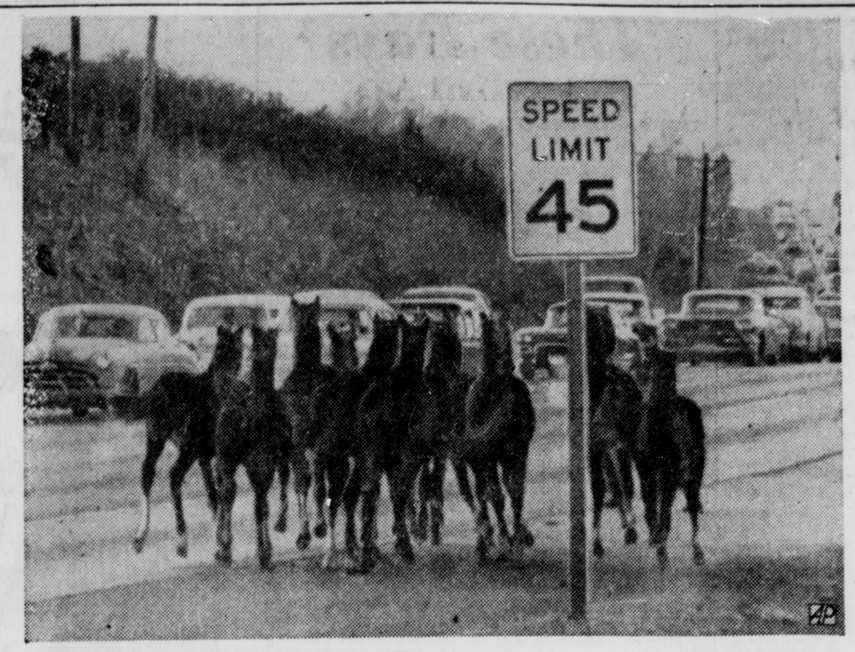
The State Department disclosed Monday that Nossenko, 36, identified as an officer of the KGB, top Soviet security agency, had requested political asylum in the United States.

State Department press officer Richard I. Phillips said Nossenko had told U. S. officials he was a staff officer of the KGB sent to Geneva on temporary duty from security headquarters in Moscow.

In a prepared statement read to newsmen, Tsarapkin accused the Swiss authorities of tolerating this activity on the sidelines of the 17-nation disarmament conference. He made it clear he considered Switzerland responsible for Nossenko's disappearance.

He called on the Swiss to "take all necessary measures to return Nossenko to his place of work and to his family."

Nossenko disappeared from Geneva Feb.4.



SHADES OF THE PAST— Motorists must have rubbed their eyes at this sight in suburban St. Louis during the rush hour. Police had to stop traffic in front of a speed zone sign to enable 10 yearlings to make their way across busy Lindbergh Boulevard.

Beatles Showered With Jelly Beans In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Beatles, Britain's rock 'n' roll sensations with the ragmop hair styles, rocked the capital's teenage set who showed their appreciation by pelting them with jelly beans.

In their first live American concert—that is the way it was billed — the four singers of "yeah, yeah" music drew squeals and screams Tuesday night from some 8,000 youngsters, mostly girls, in the Washington Coliseum.

Dressed in tight gray suits with black Chesterfield collars, they twanged away on their electric guitars to the pounding drums of Ringo Starr.

All in all, it was deafening.

Every time one of the boys shook his shaggy locks the audience shrieked.

Venders sold cotton candy, peanuts and large buttons with the legend, "I love Beatles."

Also available were wigs that would allow a wearer to give a reasonable imitation of a Beatle or a shaggy poodle.

While they banged out their hit songs, the audience tossed jelly beans at the stage. In Britain jelly beans are called jelly babies. In some mysterious way they have become identified with the Beatles. Among the jelly beans were peanuts, combs and apparently anything else that came readily to hand.

After the show the Beatles helped raffle off prizes at a masked charity ball at the British Embassy. Most of the prizes were Beatle record albums.

Today they return to New York, for concerts in Carnegie Hall.

'Mob Coverage' May Mean Curbs, Editors Warned

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — "Mob coverage" by newsmen of events like the shooting of President John F. Kennedy's accused slayer may lead to control over reporting, a leading editor contends.

Herbert Brucker, president of the American Society of Newspaper Editors and editor of the Hartford, Conn., Courant, said Tuesday night that newsmen faced controls unless they acted to prevent mass media from becoming "mob media."

Brucker commented in an address at a joint meeting of the New York State Publishers Association and the State Society of Newspaper Editors.

About 100 newspaper executives attended the two - day meeting, which ended today.

The editor said that newsmen in Dallas offered "perhaps the most shocking example of mob coverage."

Brucker was referring to the slaying of Lee Harvey Oswald, who was accused of killing the President.

Two Bills That Would Broaden Police Searches Before Senate

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Two bills that would broaden police powers in making searches and arrests were before the Senate today after winning Assembly approval despite protests that they would harm civil liberties.

The measures, known as the "knock - knock" bill and the "frisk" bill, are key parts of Gov. Rockefeller's anti - crime program.

One would provide for special search warrants that would permit a policeman to enter a building or room without having to knock or call out the usual, "Police! Open up."

The other would clearly authorize a policeman to detain and search a person whom he suspects of having committed a crime or being about to commit a crime. There has been a question over the legality of such action.

The search bill passed Tuesday on a vote of 107-26 and the arrest bill, 92-45. Democrats formed most of the opposition to the bills and argued that the measures violated personal liberties.

Debate on the two bills was a highlight of a day of brisk legislative activity. These were among the other developments:

— Assemblyman Edwin J. Fehrenbach, R-Nassau, introduced a bill to increase the state cigarette tax by one cent a pack to help finance his proposal for raising state aid to education by $50 million a year.

—The Senate approved a bill under which surrogates' courts would retain a role in adoption proceedings.

—A bill to reduce the insurance premiums on a family automobile when a youngster in the family leaves home to attend college was introduced in the Legislature.

—A measure was introduced in the Assembly that would limit the use of hypnosis to physicians, dentists and certified psychologists.

Fehrenbach said his cigarette-tax increase plan had substantial support from both Republicans and Democrats. Assembly Speaker Joseph F. Carlino, a Republican, took no position on it, explaining he would first discuss the matter with Rockefeller and Senate Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney.

Fehrenbach estimated the one-cent increase, to six cents a pack, would produce an additional $25 million a year. But the possibility that his estimate may be too optimistic arose, however, when the State Tax Department reported a downward trend in cigarette sales.

The car insurance measure was introduced by the Joint Legislative Committee on Motor Vehicles and Traffic Safety. Under present rate practices, the committee said, a reclassification is not allowed even though a person under 25 has left the insured's household to attend college.

Insurance is higher for families with drivers less than 25 years old.

The restriction on use of hypnosis would prohibit exhibitions of hypnotism, Assemblyman Francis P. McCloskey, R-Nassau, said in introducing the measure.

Fla. City Makes Lavish Plans for College Invasion

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Fort Lauderdale again plans a varied entertainment program to keep collegians out of mischief in this south Florida resort at Eastertime.

The program was instituted in 1962 to prevent a repetition of the wild Easter vacation of 1961 when hordes of beer-drinking students taunted police and were arrested by the hundreds.

If the students come in peak numbers, possibly as many as 50,000 will be here over a 15-day period.

A program mapped by civic groups provides maximum entertainment and minimum idle time. It will cost the city $15,000. Included are dances, beach parties, boat cruises, athletics and gift certificates.

All a student needs is a "hello" tag costing 25 cents.

LINCOLN FOR US, TODAY

Abraham Lincoln still lives.

Almost a century after his death, his memory is familiar and comfortable as the penny which bears his likeness.

Lincoln is a car, a school, a monument, a city, a bank. His biographers are legion. Lincolniana fills our libraries. Politicians routinely quote him in speeches. Almost every schoolchild, at one time or another, memorizes the Gettysburg Address.

Abraham Lincoln has counseled us for 100 years, yet we have too seldom listened. He has shown us the road to brotherhood, yet we have too often set our faces against it.

For too many of us, Lincoln has been an abstraction, a school holiday, a head carved in the rocks of the Dakotas.

But last November all America touched Lincoln and we really knew him for perhaps the first time. Abraham Lincoln can no longer be merely a figure in history.

For the fourth time in a century, our country's faith in reason and the basic humanity of man was cruelly shaken by the bullet which took the life of a president.

We were bewildered, saddened, angered. Later, numbly, we thought back to Lincoln and to the legacy that lives in his words. With John Kennedy's assassination, those words were more clearly understood.

Abraham Lincoln's eloquent wisdom has been carefully and reverently passed to us. It still makes our minds soar and our heartbeats quicken, but unless it makes our hands move, it is empty sound upon the air.

Can we not help but hope that the sobering events of the past year have given Lincoln's words a new vigor?

We have touched Lincoln and, in turn, have been touched by him. Remembering this, perhaps we can make his memory more meaningful, now and in the future, by sharing and working toward his cherished hope that "by the best cultivation of the physical world beneath and around us, and by the best intellectual and moral world within us, we shall secure in individual, social and political prosperity and happiness whose courage shall be onward and upward and which, while the earth endures, shall not pass away."

WORSE OFF THAN DROPOUTS

Great attention is being focused on high school dropouts these days, but another group of students is more to be pitied—those who take college preparatory courses and graduate with only Cs or worse.

That is the opinion of Norman C. Harris, a professor of technical education at the University of Michigan.

"They have no saleable skill," explains Harris, "most four-year colleges will not admit them and they are not prepared to begin an occupation education program in a two-year college. And there are several hundred thousand of these youngsters every year."

To these should be added the fresh crop of students who by virtue of high school diplomas were admitted to state universities last September, only to be weeded out in January.

Harris advocates pretechnical programs in high schools that are planned in cooperation with nearby community colleges or technical institutes.

Whether C students in academic courses would turn into A or B students in a technical curriculum is another question. In cases where poor counseling or parental pressure forced an uninterested student into a college prep major, this might be true.

One thing is clear, though: As job competition and college entrance competition sharpen with the years, the so-so scholar will find that the middle of the road is full of chuckholes.

We do progress. It used to be chilblains. Now it's gas-line freeze.

THE FIGHT FOR THE SOUL OF AMERICA

There will probably be millions of words written for this Lincoln's Birthday pointing to the very true fact that the American Negro, while he has been emancipated from slavery, still has to suffer the slings and arrows of discrimination.

Well, there are ways and ways of trying to rid society of the scourge of racial antipathy. Mass demonstrations and agitation have their place. But there are other methods, more quiet, that have their effectiveness, too.

I think of my friend George Schuyler, the Negro columnist who made his first reputation writing for H. L. Mencken's old "American Mercury." I have never seen George fazed in any company. He assumes that he is good, and that he has a right to consideration on his merits, and in most places his attitude evokes respect. He believes that reasoned argument is the most potent tool the Negro has.

George has a daughter, Philippa Schuyler, who is cast in her father's spiritual image. A concert pianist of note, Philippa belongs to that world of the "talented tenth" which George Schuyler thinks could do immeasurable good for the Negro race if it would invest its earnings in the creation of Negro industries, banks and suburban housing projects. Philippa assumes that she is good, that she has a right to consideration on her merits—and her attitude, along with her talent, has taken her all over the world without undue trouble.

Philippa does not believe in underestimating the negative, but she also joyously accentuates the positive. She went to Africa to give musical performances, but she remained to report on what she had seen. As a journalist, she was one of the few to take Tshombe's side in the Congo. She wrote a book about it that was ignored by our State Department, which also ignored the famed medical missionary Dr. Albert Schweitzer's own very comparable brief for Tshombe. Philippa didn't cry over her lack of influence. Instead, she went on reporting from Africa.

Philippa Schuyler hates Communism, even when she pities Communists. Always one to seek a counterpoise, she visited twenty-nine countries in Africa to ascertain what Christianity was doing to combat what might be called the "Zanzibar technique" of Communist subverters. She wrote another book about her African findings, this one called "Jungle Saints: Africa's Heroic Catholic Missionaries."

The book is fervent, judicious and piquant, in a unique combination. American kids get kudos when they go to African nations as Peace Corpsmen, and Philippa would not take any credit away from them. But she wants to know why the world isn't told about the Irish Sisters of Charity at Edelvale, near Nairobi in Kenya, whose rehabilitation work among waifs is carried on without fanfare or even much money. She wants to know why the Italian Consolata Missions aren't more famous, and she tells of one Consolata priest, Father Artero, who helps administer sixteen schools in an area fifty miles in diameter, cultivating coffee at one time to raise the money to keep his Mission work going. She admires Dr. Schweitzer, but she wants to know why a young Franciscan nun from Padua in Italy, Sister Bianca, isn't a toast of liberals for single-handedly taking care of forty lepers at her leprosarium in the Copperbelt country of Northern Rhodesia.

Philippa Schuyler had audiences with many African Negro prelates who are convinced that Christianity will not give ground to Communism in its fight for the African soul. Cardinal Rugambwa of East Africa, the "first black African cardinal in Africa's history" by the decision of Pope John XXIII told Philippa with calm confidence that his church can successfully counter the "Zanzibar technique."

Cuban-and-Red-Chinese-trained guerillas have recently been killing Christian missionaries in the Kwilu Province of the Congo. Philippa Schuyler's book provides a good measure of the force that the Christian missions in Africa can muster to fight the importation into Africa of Che Guevara's and Mao-Tse-tung's own secular religion of Communism. The pity of it is that Philippa had to have the book published in Rome, by Casa Editrice Herder. What's the matter with American publishers, anyway? Abraham Lincoln would be ashamed of them.

The DOCTOR SAYS

Cholesterol May Have Accomplices

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

What causes hardening of the arteries and especially the deposits in the coronary arteries that are associated with so many heart attacks?

Browsing thought the maze of medical literature on this subject is like reading a whodunit. In this case, however, we cannot rule out the butler—or the butter. For over 10 years we have been hot on the trail of cholesterol. I still think he's guilty but it is beginning to look as though he has some accomplices in crime.

The foremost of these is a group of products which, like cholesterol, is derived from your body fats. These are the triglycerides and they, along with cholesterol, do what the detectives would call as inside job. But first there must be a weak spot in the artery due to overstretching or an inherited defect. If this localized weakness is great enough, little plaques will form in the aterial wall regardless of the amount of fat-derived chemicals in the blood.

The greater the amount of plaque-forming substances in the blood, the greater the likelihood of arterial hardening. Triglycerides in normal concentration remain in solution in the blood, but when the concentration exceeds the saturation point they combine with cholesterol (a normal and essential constituent) and form the insoluble particles of which the plaques are made.

Even with this knowledge we cannot say definitely that restricting the fat in your diet will insure you against arteriosclerosis. Persons who were subjected to severe fat restriction but who used sugars and starches to supply the calories formerly supplied by fats were found to have an even higher triglyceried concentration in their blood than when they were allowed a more liberal amount of fat.

It would appear, too, that another accomplice is lack of exercise. Persons who walk several miles a day or otherwise use their muscles in their work have lower concentrations of cholesterol and triglycerides than their more sedentary neighbors.

Because cholesterol is manufactured in the body tissues, the amount of it in your diet is not the important consideration. What is important is how much you yourself manufacture. A high concentration of cholesterol and triglyceride in your blood does not always spell an early heart attack, but there can be no doubt that it increases the risk.

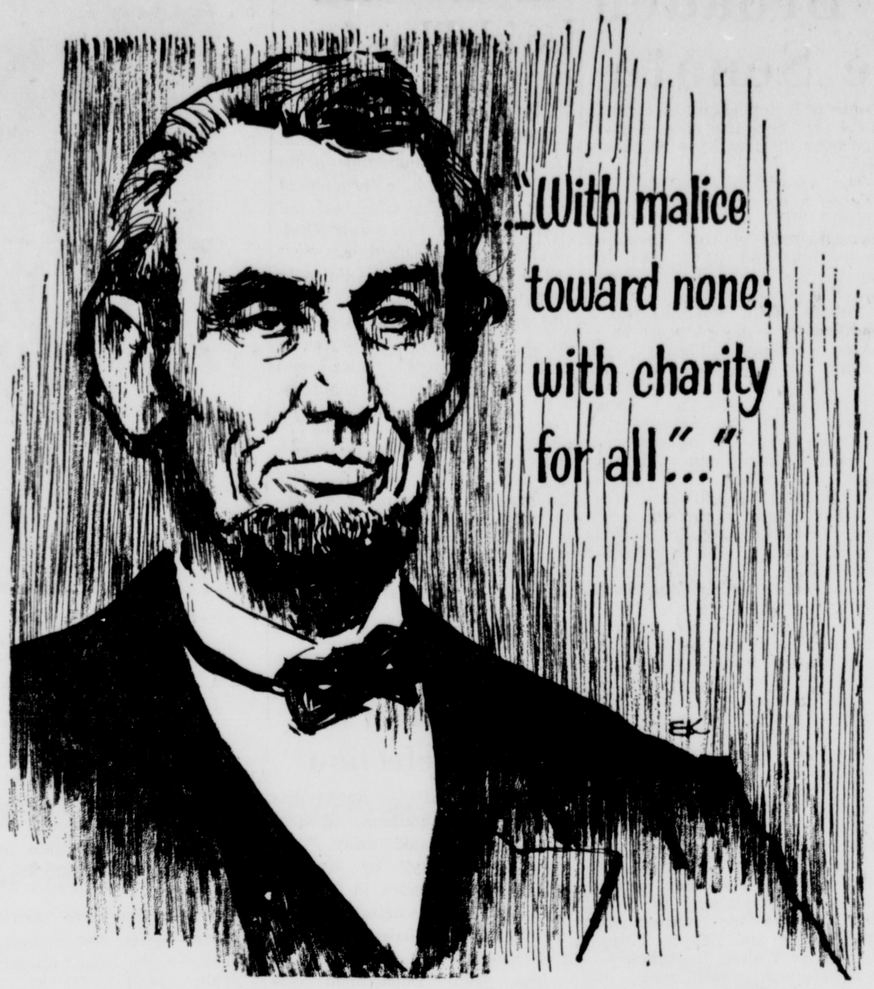
Truer Than Ever



Washington News

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The Negro drive in the North, stepping up again after months of quiet, is not all militancy and marching. Clearly visible strains of caution and consevatism show themselves in potential hot spots.

An example is Philadelphia, scene of several outbreaks in 1963. Minor rumblings already have been felt this year.

Philadelphia's Negro leaders, of course, press for steady, good-faith action on jobs, housing, schools. They dislike the present state of things. But not all of them look for miracles of Negro progress the day after tomorrow.

SEEK THEM OUT in their troubled city and you will hear opinions like these:

● The city's white leaders—and citizens—have been awakened to the Negroes' problems. Contact between the races gets better all the time.

A prominent white politician's daughter dropped in at the Urban League to offer help. Many others do the same, including "social action" groups from white churches.

● Businessmen try honestly to place Negroes in good jobs. Their personnel men constantly tap Negro organizations in the search. The city's unique job training program, geared to specifically available jobs, is further tangible proof.

● But no pressure, no campaign of demonstration will assure skilled, well-paying work for all unemployed or unskilled Negroes. Handicaps in schooling put many thousands beyond effective reach of retraining.

● Last year's riot over entry of a Negro family into white suburban Folcroft was not typical. Though the months more than 100 Negro families have been installed in Philadelphia suburbs without fuss.

Some white resistance to desegregation of housing, in city and suburb, is to be expected. But Negro spokesmen insist it will not be as grave as white po- will not be as grave as white politicians fear—at the polls or elsewhere.

● In education, a frequently held, though not general, view is that the Negro wants better schooling above all, rather than desecregation for its own sake. The two are said by some to be bound up simply because the whites have the good schools.

"WE SHOULDN'T WANT to bus little children across town just to have a white child sit next to a Negro," says an NAACP official.

What troubles such leaders is the fact of overcrowded, poorly equipped Negro schools within easy bus ride of underused white schools.

Taking note of white parents' concern over a school "mix," one Negro Philadelphian says:

"We understand well enough that they are afraid of poor, ignorant, underprivileged Negro kids being moved into their schools.

"The thing to do is get the education level of the Negro children up to decent standard. Then no one will be afraid."

Leaders cite cases where, when standards at mixed schools prove good, white parent-teacher associations actually urge further desegregation.

NONE OF THESE cautious, unmilitant, basically hopeful opinions among some Negro leaders should be misread as complacency. The line between these men and the militants can vanish swiftly.

A Negro lawyer asked a white friend to look in the mirror.

"See that fellow there?" he went on. The white friend nodded.

The Negro then said: "What he wants, I want."

Rights Bill Is Criticized As Taking Away Rights

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Ninety-eight years ago—after the Civil War was over—an intolerant majority in Congress disregraded the Constitution, took away seats from duly elected members of the House and Senate and sent troops to certain states to compel the legislatures, at bayonet point, to "ratify" the 14th Amendment to the Constitution. A civil rights act was subsequently passed, and the Supreme Court later declared it unconstitutional.

Today, nearly a century later, a frightened, if not terrorized, majority in the House of Representatives — stampeded by nation-wide demonstrations that have often led to violence — has passed a so-called civil rights bill which actually takes away some important civil rights from the citizens.

If the Senate now should pass the same bill as the House did, a Federal police force would be authorized to enter any kind of business — not just hotels or restaurants — and investigate whether its hiring or promotion of employes is conducted on the basis of racial or religious discrimination.

Although the measure passed the House by a vote of 290 to 130, Rep. Louis C. Wyman, R., N. H., says that, if a secret ballot were taken in the House, the legislation wouldn't get 50 votes. Rep. Wyman was formerly Attorney General of his state and also was president of the National Association of Attorneys General. He was twice elected chairman of the standing committee on jurisprudence of the American Bar Association. Here are some extracts from a significant speech he delivered this week to the House of Representatives:

"This legislation makes a mockery of the Constitution. To yield to pressure for an unconstitutional law because of sympathy for social injustice is to say that the end justifies the means. . . .

"I came here to uphold the Constitution not to destroy it. To uphold it I am compelled to vote against this bill. . . .

"It means finally that there is no power in this Congress to legislate as is have proposed in regard to private lives, private business and individual activity within and among the several states having nothing to do with interstate commerce and not constituting state action.

"And it is the sheerest hypocricy to contend that by so defining such private conduct that it becomes Constitutionally amenable to Federal law when the power to enact that law was never given to the Federal government in the Constitution. It is hypocrisy compounded by fraud upon the people to ignore these basic truths because some members believe there are more votes for their re-election to be found in perpetuating the fraud than protecting the Constitutional rights of the people — all the people, both white and colored, Protestant, Catholic, Jewish and disbeliever. . . .

"There are still many private rights in America that under our Constitution are beyond the power of government to regulate, and one of these is the right to pick and choose one's associates, one's friends and one's customers in private business. . . .

"The passage of unconstitutional legislation in the face of political pressure, contrary to oath to support the Constitution, on the basis that the end justifies the means, is a perversion of our function as responsible legislators. . . .

Mrs. Ora Segar of Creek Locks, a collector of local historical items, called me, to describe a book of green trade stamps dating back to 1898. It seems in those years even professional men, like dentists and even undertakers gave out these stamps. She read me some of the advertisements in the book. I think she mentioned John J. Cooney, proprietor of Hotel Ulster, Broadway at Railroad Avenue. John Gotelli, fruit and vegetable merchant on Wall Street. Dr. H. F. Meinhardt, Wall Street dentist. Can you imagine how many trading stamps one could get today in 1964, for a 'silver filling,' and just who enjoyed the trading stamps from an undertaker firm. It seems all these stamps were rubber-stamped with date, like June 7, 1898. She read to me, the Kingston Premium Stamp Co. of 19 North Front Street who put these out. They had premiums like Rochester lamps, pianos and other items.

In years gone by, Mrs. Segar, raised some 40 children as a foster mother, over a period of 25 years. Sometimes she had as many as eight children in her home. She admitted that the present generation is more difficult to handle, everything is so changed. She keeps in touch with her 'children' and they all have taken their place in society, in the service, and most of them have not only graduated high school, but some are now teaching. They visit her from time to time. She described a little boy she had, who was a good student and graduate of the country school at the age of 12. She wanted to send him to Kingston High School, and what a time she had, as they would not accept him on the bus, or the school until tuition was paid for him by the locality. But he did go and did graduate high school, and now has a pair of twins who are good students also. He and his family now live in Jersey.

One of the readers of this column, who often loans me items and shows me books from his vast collection of original photographs and historical collections of this section, showed me The Commemorative Record, Biography and portraits, of the famous men and families of Ulster County. It is illustrated with handsome portraits, no doubt some from steel engravings. The book is dated 1896, and this is the book I would very much like to have, even if I could find one not in too good condition, as it would aid me in research. Right now I am looking for anything on the family of John Decker, Sr. I know that John Decker, Jr. was born in 1750 in Kingston, and died in Knox County, Ind. He was married to Blandina Kuykendall, who also was born in Kingston. I think perhaps, Kuykendall, might have been changed to Coykendall as the years went by. There is the mention of nine members of the Coykendall family in the 1898 Kingston city directory. He also asks about the wife and sisters of Henry Dildine, Sr. and Jr. of Northampton County, Pa. which records I do not have. That shows how important records, autograph books, letters, and all sorts of biographic books are. Ulster County goes back to early Dutch and English settlers, who stayed in this country, but often moved around freely from state to state. Now that their descendants have settled somewhere in a far state, they want to know, all about their ancestors.

LINCOLN FOR US, TODAY

Abraham Lincoln still lives.

Almost a century after his death, his memory is familiar and comfortable as the penny which bears his likeness.

Lincoln is a car, a school, a monument, a city, a bank. His biographers are legion. Lincolniana fills our libraries. Politicians routinely quote him in speeches. Almost every schoolchild, at one time or another, memorizes the Gettysburg Address.

Abraham Lincoln has counseled us for 100 years, yet we have too seldom listened. He has shown us the road to brotherhood, yet we have too often set our faces against it.

For too many of us, Lincoln has been an abstraction, a school holiday, a head carved in the rocks of the Dakotas.

But last November all America touched Lincoln and we really knew him for perhaps the first time. Abraham Lincoln can no longer be merely a figure in history.

For the fourth time in a century, our country's faith in reason and the basic humanity of man was cruelly shaken by the bullet which took the life of a president.

We were bewildered, saddened, angered. Later, numbly, we thought back to Lincoln and to the legacy that lives in his words. With John Kennedy's assassination, those words were more clearly understood.

Abraham Lincoln's eloquent wisdom has been carefully and reverently passed to us. It still makes our minds soar and our heartbeats quicken, but unless it makes our hands move, it is empty sound upon the air.

Can we not help but hope that the sobering events of the past year have given Lincoln's words a new vigor?

We have touched Lincoln and, in turn, have been touched by him. Remembering this, perhaps we can make his memory more meaningful, now and in the future, by sharing and working toward his cherished hope that "by the best cultivation of the physical world beneath and around us, and by the best intellectual and moral world within us, we shall secure in individual, social and political prosperity and happiness whose courage shall be onward and upward and which, while the earth endures, shall not pass away."

WORSE OFF THAN DROPOUTS

Great attention is being focused on high school dropouts these days, but another group of students is more to be pitied—those who take college preparatory courses and graduate with only Cs or worse.

That is the opinion of Norman C. Harris, a professor of technical education at the University of Michigan.

"They have no saleable skill," explains Harris, "most four-year colleges will not admit them and they are not prepared to begin an occupation education program in a two-year college. And there are several hundred thousand of these youngsters every year."

To these should be added the fresh crop of students who by virtue of high school diplomas were admitted to state universities last September, only to be weeded out in January.

Harris advocates pretechnical programs in high schools that are planned in cooperation with nearby community colleges or technical institutes.

Whether C students in academic courses would turn into A or B students in a technical curriculum is another question. In cases where poor counseling or parental pressure forced an uninterested student into a college prep major, this might be true.

One thing is clear, though: As job competition and college entrance competition sharpen with the years, the so-so scholar will find that the middle of the road is full of chuckholes.

We do progress. It used to be chilblains. Now it's gas-line freeze.

'These Days'

THE FIGHT FOR THE SOUL OF AMERICA

There will probably be millions of words written for this Lincoln's Birthday pointing to the very true fact that the American Negro, while he has been emancipated from slavery, still has to suffer the slings and arrows of discrimination.

Well, there are ways and ways of trying to rid society of the scourge of racial antipathy. Mass demonstrations and agitation have their place. But there are other methods, more quiet, that have their effectiveness, too.

I think of my friend George Schuyler, the Negro columnist who made his first reputation writing for H. L. Mencken's old "American Mercury." I have never seen George fazed in any company. He assumes that he is good, and that he has a right to consideration on his merits, and in most places his attitude evokes respect. He believes that reasoned argument is the most potent tool the Negro has.

George has a daughter, Philippa Schuyler, who is cast in her father's spiritual image. A concert pianist of note, Philippa belongs to that world of the "talented tenth" which George Schuyler thinks could do immeasurable good for the Negro race if it would invest its earnings in the creation of Negro industries, banks and suburban housing projects. Philippa assumes that she is good, that she has a right to consideration on her merits—and her attitude, along with her talent, has taken her all over the world without undue trouble.

Philippa does not believe in underestimating the negative, but she also joyously accentuates the positive. She went to Africa to give musical performances, but she remained to report on what she had seen. As a journalist, she was one of the few to take Tshombe's side in the Congo. She wrote a book about it that was ignored by our State Department, which also ignored the famed medical missionary Dr. Albert Schweitzer's own very comparable brief for Tshombe. Philippa didn't cry over her lack of influence. Instead, she went on reporting from Africa.

Philippa Schuyler hates Communism, even when she pities Communists. Always one to seek a counterpoise, she visited twenty-nine countries in Africa to ascertain what Christianity was doing to combat what might be called the "Zanzibar technique" of Communist subverters. She wrote another book about her African findings, this one called "Jungle Saints: Africa's Heroic Catholic Missionaries."

The book is fervent, judicious and piquant, in a unique combination. American kids get kudos when they go to African nations as Peace Corpsmen, and Philippa would not take any credit away from them. But she wants to know why the world isn't told about the Irish Sisters of Charity at Edelvale, near Nairobi in Kenya, whose rehabilitation work among waifs is carried on without fanfare or even much money. She wants to know why the Italian Consolata Missions aren't more famous, and she tells of one Consolata priest, Father Artero, who helps administer sixteen schools in an area fifty miles in diameter, cultivating coffee at one time to raise the money to keep his Mission work going. She admires Dr. Schweitzer, but she wants to know why a young Franciscan nun from Padua in Italy, Sister Bianca, isn't a toast of liberals for single-handedly taking care of forty lepers at her leprosarium in the Copperbelt country of Northern Rhodesia.

Philippa Schuyler had audiences with many African Negro prelates who are convinced that Christianity will not give ground to Communism in its fight for the African soul. Cardinal Rugambwa of East Africa, the "first black African cardinal in Africa's history" by the decision of Pope John XXIII told Philippa with calm confidence that his church can successfully counter the "Zanzibar technique."

Cuban-and-Red-Chinese-trained guerillas have recently been killing Christian missionaries in the Kwilu Province of the Congo. Philippa Schuyler's book provides a good measure of the force that the Christian missions in Africa can muster to fight the importation into Africa of Che Guevara's and Mao-Tse-tung's own secular religion of Communism. The pity of it is that Philippa had to have the book published in Rome, by Casa Editrice Herder. What's the matter with American publishers, anyway? Abraham Lincoln would be ashamed of them.

The DOCTOR SAYS

Cholesterol May Have Accomplices

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

What causes hardening of the arteries and especially the deposits in the coronary arteries that are associated with so many heart attacks?

Browsing thought the maze of medical literature on this subject is like reading a whodunit. In this case, however, we cannot rule out the butler—or the butter. For over 10 years we have been hot on the trail of cholesterol. I still think he's guilty but it is beginning to look as though he has some accomplices in crime.

The foremost of these is a group of products which, like cholesterol, is derived from your body fats. These are the triglycerides and they, along with cholesterol, do what the detectives would call as inside job. But first there must be a weak spot in the artery due to overstretching or an inherited defect. If this localized weakness is great enough, little plaques will form in the aterial wall regardless of the amount of fat-derived chemicals in the blood.

The greater the amount of plaque-forming substances in the blood, the greater the likelihood of arterial hardening. Triglycerides in normal concentration remain in solution in the blood, but when the concentration exceeds the saturation point they combine with cholesterol (a normal and essential constituent) and form the insoluble particles of which the plaques are made.

Even with this knowledge we cannot say definitely that restricting the fat in your diet will insure you against arteriosclerosis. Persons who were subjected to severe fat restriction but who used sugars and starches to supply the calories formerly supplied by fats were found to have an even higher triglyceried concentration in their blood than when they were allowed a more liberal amount of fat.

It would appear, too, that another accomplice is lack of exercise. Persons who walk several miles a day or otherwise use their muscles in their work have lower concentrations of cholesterol and triglycerides than their more sedentary neighbors.

Because cholesterol is manufactured in the body tissues, the amount of it in your diet is not the important consideration. What is important is how much you yourself manufacture. A high concentration of cholesterol and triglyceride in your blood does not always spell an early heart attack, but there can be no doubt that it increases the risk.

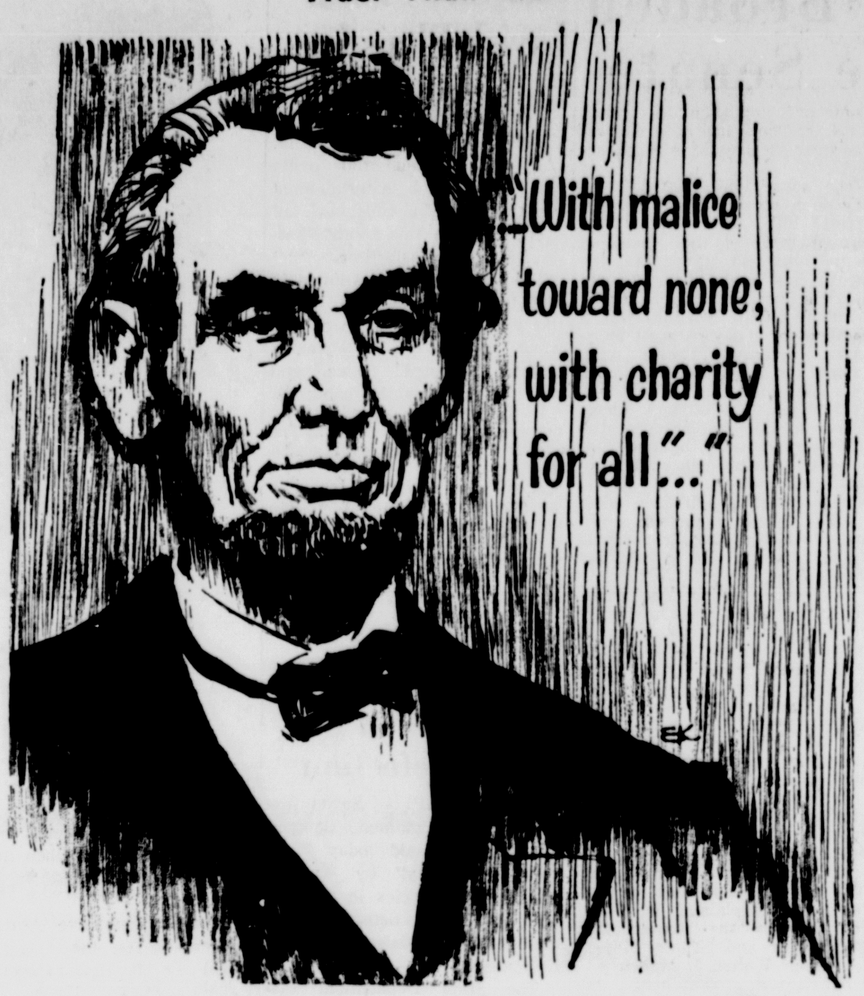
Truer Than Ever



Washington News

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The Negro drive in the North, stepping up again after months of quiet, is not all militancy and marching. Clearly visible strains of caution and consevatism show themselves in potential hot spots.

An example is Philadelphia, scene of several outbreaks in 1963. Minor rumblings already have been felt this year.

Philadelphia's Negro leaders, of course, press for steady, good-faith action on jobs, housing, schools. They dislike the present state of things. But not all of them look for miracles of Negro progress the day after tomorrow.

SEEK THEM OUT in their troubled city and you will hear opinions like these:

● The city's white leaders—and citizens—have been awakened to the Negroes' problems. Contact between the races gets better all the time.

A prominent white politician's daughter dropped in at the Urban League to offer help. Many others do the same, including "social action" groups from white churches.

● Businessmen try honestly to place Negroes in good jobs. Their personnel men constantly tap Negro organizations in the search. The city's unique job training program, geared to specifically available jobs, is further tangible proof.

● But no pressure, no campaign of demonstration will assure skilled, well-paying work for all unemployed or unskilled Negroes. Handicaps in schooling put many thousands beyond effective reach of retraining.

● Last year's riot over entry of a Negro family into white suburban Folcroft was not typical. Though the months more than 100 Negro families have been installed in Philadelphia suburbs without fuss.

Some white resistance to desegregation of housing, in city and suburb, is to be expected. But Negro spokesmen insist it will not be as grave as white po will not be as grave as white politicians fear—at the polls or elsewhere.

● In education, a frequently held, though not general, view is that the Negro wants better schooling above all, rather than desecregation for its own sake. The two are said by some to be bound up simply because the whites have the good schools.

"WE SHOULDN'T WANT to bus little children across town just to have a white child sit next to a Negro," says an NAACP official.

What troubles such leaders is the fact of overcrowded, poorly equipped Negro schools within easy bus ride of underused white schools.

Taking note of white parents' concern over a school "mix," one Negro Philadelphian says:

"We understand well enough that they are afraid of poor, ignorant, underprivileged Negro kids being moved into their schools.

"The thing to do is get the education level of the Negro children up to decent standard. Then no one will be afraid."

Leaders cite cases where, when standards at mixed schools prove good, white parent-teacher associations actually urge further desegregation.

NONE OF THESE cautious, unmilitant, basically hopeful opinions among some Negro leaders should be misread as complacency. The line between these men and the militants can vanish swiftly.

A Negro lawyer asked a white friend to look in the mirror.

"See that fellow there?" he went on. The white friend nodded.

The Negro then said: "What he wants, I want."

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Ninety-eight years ago—after the Civil War was over—an intolerant majority in Congress disregraded the Constitution, took away seats from duly elected members of the House and Senate and sent troops to certain states to compel the legislatures, at bayonet point, to "ratify" the 14th Amendment to the Constitution. A civil rights act was subsequently passed, and the Supreme Court later declared it unconstitutional.

Today, nearly a century later, a frightened, if not terrorized, majority in the House of Representatives — stampeded by nation-wide demonstrations that have often led to violence — has passed a so-called civil rights bill which actually takes away some important civil rights from the citizens.

If the Senate now should pass the same bill as the House did, a Federal police force would be authorized to enter any kind of business — not just hotels or restaurants — and investigate whether its hiring or promotion of employes is conducted on the basis of racial or religious discrimination.

Although the measure passed the House by a vote of 290 to 130, Rep. Louis C. Wyman, R., N. H., says that, if a secret ballot were taken in the House, the legislation wouldn't get 50 votes. Rep. Wyman was formerly Attorney General of his state and also was president of the National Association of Attorneys General. He was twice elected chairman of the standing committee on jurisprudence of the American Bar Association. Here are some extracts from a significant speech he delivered this week to the House of Representatives:

"This legislation makes a mockery of the Constitution. To yield to pressure for an unconstitutional law because of sympathy for social injustice is to say that the end justifies the means. . . .

"I came here to uphold the Constitution not to destroy it. To uphold it I am compelled to vote against this bill. . . .

"It means finally that there is no power in this Congress to legislate as is have proposed in regard to private lives, private business and individual activity within and among the several states having nothing to do with interstate commerce and not constituting state action.

"And it is the sheerest hypocricy to contend that by so defining such private conduct that it becomes Constitutionally amenable to Federal law when the power to enact that law was never given to the Federal government in the Constitution. It is hypocrisy compounded by fraud upon the people to ignore these basic truths because some members believe there are more votes for their re-election to be found in perpetuating the fraud than protecting the Constitutional rights of the people — all the people, both white and colored, Protestant, Catholic, Jewish and disbeliever. . . .

"There are still many private rights in America that under our Constitution are beyond the power of government to regulate, and one of these is the right to pick and choose one's associates, one's friends and one's customers in private business. . . .

"The passage of unconstitutional legislation in the face of political pressure, contrary to oath to support the Constitution, on the basis that the end justifies the means, is a perversion of our function as responsible legislators. . . .

"A vote here for this bill is a vote against the proper interests and reserved rights of the American people, not a vote for them. Make no mistake about one thing—that we are dealing with an iceberg here. Nine-tenths of public opinion on this legislation has never been shown on the surface. They are privately owned — maybe even by you or me or our next-door neighbor, be he or she black or white. . . .

LBJ Outdances His Diplomats at Washington Fete

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson proved he can outdance the best of Washington's diplomatic corps.

He hardly missed a dance in close to two hours and was still twirling in the East Ballroom when the last of his ambassadorial guests had left a gala White House reception Tuesday night.

A Marine Corps jazz combo, playing everything from cha-cha-cha and samba to Dixieland kept the tunes short so the President could get around.

Johnson seemed as indefatigable as his 19-year-old daughter, Lynda Bird.

He danced with the wives of many ambassadors — including the wife of Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin.

His favorite partners seemed to be women reporters asssigned to cover the 7 to 9 p. m. White House party for some 400 diplomats and their wives. At least a dozen of the reporters were summoned by the President for a turn on the dance floor.

Polled afterwards about the President's dancing ability, they rated him from "not bad" to "very good."

Mrs. Johnson, who had been in bed for two days with a virus flu attack, gamely stood in the Blue Room receiving line with the President and Lynda to greet all the guests, including four new ambassadors from Peru, Sweden, Libya and the Dominican Republic, who presented their credentials as they went through.

Then, she and the President started the dancing. Mrs. Johnson wore two white orchids on her two-piece white silk dress.

Public Will Get JFK Half Dollars Late March, April

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The first new half dollars bearing the likeness of the late President John F. Kennedy were struck Tuesday at simultaneous ceremonies at the Philadelphia and Denver mints.

At a telephone signal given in Philadelphia four new silver coins were stamped out at each mint.

Eva Adams, director of the mint who came here from Washington for the ceremony, said the eight coins will be given to President Johnson, who will pass them on to Mrs. John F. Kennedy and her children, Caroline and John.

The face of the coin bears a portrait of President Kennedy, facing left. On the reverse is the presidential coat of arms and an eagle holding an olive branch.

When 26 million of them are made, they will be distributed to banks throughout the country and released to the public in late March or April.

LBJ Outdances His Diplomats at Washington Fete

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson proved he can outdance the best of Washington's diplomatic corps.

He hardly missed a dance in close to two hours and was still twirling in the East Ballroom when the last of his ambassadorial guests had left a gala White House reception Tuesday night.

A Marine Corps jazz combo, playing everything from cha-cha-cha and samba to Dixieland kept the tunes short so the President could get around.

Johnson seemed as indefatigable as his 19-year-old daughter, Lynda Bird.

He danced with the wives of many ambassadors — including the wife of Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin.

His favorite partners seemed to be women reporters asssigned to cover the 7 to 9 p. m. White House party for some 400 diplomats and their wives. At least a dozen of the reporters were summoned by the President for a turn on the dance floor.

Polled afterwards about the President's dancing ability, they rated him from "not bad" to "very good."

Mrs. Johnson, who had been in bed for two days with a virus flu attack, gamely stood in the Blue Room receiving line with the President and Lynda to greet all the guests, including four new ambassadors from Peru, Sweden, Libya and the Dominican Republic, who presented their credentials as they went through.

Then, she and the President started the dancing. Mrs. Johnson wore two white orchids on her two-piece white silk dress.

Public Will Get JFK Half Dollars Late March, April

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The first new half dollars bearing the likeness of the late President John F. Kennedy were struck Tuesday at simultaneous ceremonies at the Philadelphia and Denver mints.

At a telephone signal given in Philadelphia four new silver coins were stamped out at each mint.

Eva Adams, director of the mint who came here from Washington for the ceremony, said the eight coins will be given to President Johnson, who will pass them on to Mrs. John F. Kennedy and her children, Caroline and John.

The face of the coin bears a portrait of President Kennedy, facing left. On the reverse is the presidential coat of arms and an eagle holding an olive branch.

When 26 million of them are made, they will be distributed to banks throughout the country and released to the public in late March or April.

NEW YORK (AP)—"Just like a pay raise" is the way most employes are likely to greet the federal income tax cut when it shows up next month in their take-home pay.

For most of them look on the take-home amount as their real pay. They tend to ignore the gross figure the employer pays the worker.

Some Juggling Due

And take-home pay is set to rise, although some juggling will still have to be done by many taxpayers in squaring their final accounts with the U.S. Treasury.

From the gross amount, which the employe doesn't see except as a token figure, the employers withhold sums for various city or state taxes, pension funds, Social Security taxes, insurance, hospitalization maybe union dues and employe-savings or bond programs.

But the figure on the check itself, or the bills in the envelope, is what many employes regard as their pay.

And when the official withholding rate for federal income taxes drops from 18 per cent to 14 per cent, this money-in-hand is due to rise.

For many the "pay raise" will have some temporary aspects, maybe some illusions.

For a worker in the lowest pay brackets, the 14 per cent withholding will still be too high. And at the end of the tax year he will have a refund coming from the tax collector. But he'll have to wait for the money until then—as many are used to doing right now.

Too Small for Sum

For those in higher brackets, the 14 per cent withholding will be too small to meet the full amount due. Employes in these brackets, unless they ask the boss to withhold a larger sum, will have to increase the amount payments they make in settling the difference between the total withheld and the estimated tax due. This they declare each April.

And this April the taxpayer will be main gouhsunret rtik will be making out his return on 1963 income along one set of rules and figuring out his 1964 declaration along another set. With all the help the Internal Revenue Service may plan to clear this up for the taxpayer, this April's tussle with forms and scratch pads may be colossal.

$16,000 for Message

NEW YORK (AP)—President Abraham Lincoln's message of congratulations to the defeated Union Army of the Potomac in the battle of Fredericksburg, Va., was auctioned Tuesday for $16,000.

The Carnegie Book Shop of Manhattan purchased the document, the only known version written in Lincoln's hand. It was auctioned by the Parke-Bernet Galleries.

In both manuscript and printed form, the message commended the qualities of the army and gave the thanks of the nation.

Minor 3-Card Utility Bid

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Another innovation in my 1935 book "The Four Aces System" was the three-card minor suit opening. The wording in describing it was, "The three-card minor suit bid is a general utility man. It is neither used nor intended as a psychic and is employed only with a hand which is a compulsory bid and when there is no other satisfactory opening bid."

We qualified this bid further by explaining that we only bid it with one of the three top honors and when we could bid either three-card minor we opened one club.

The three-card minor is a part of every system and every expert's kit of bids today. Furthermore, it has not changed one iota from my original concept. It is only used with a three-card suit headed by an honor. It is only used when there is no convenient other bid and it is not a forcing bid. If partner has a bad hand partner passes a one club opening just as he would pass a one diamond, heart or spade opening.

North's opening club bid is standard today. Not that it matters much. The final contract of four spades would be reached by almost anyone.

It also would be made by almost anyone. All South has to remember to do is to go after hearts before he releases dummy's ace of clubs. Eventually he discards one club on the king of hearts so as to hold his losses to two diamonds and one heart.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—America's affluent society may soon have a new status symbol, a television show that may make yachts, imported limousines, chinchilla wraps and collections of French impressionist paintings as passe as bustles and congress gaiters.

It is a new panel show called "I Made a Million," which CBS will put into its Sunday night schedule starting April 5, right after Ed Sullivan's variety show.

Each week, the usual celebrity panel—names to be announced—will be called upon to guess which of several contestants is the real millionaire. The lucky winner of the round will be awarded "up to $600," the network announced in the solemn manner it reserves for important announcements.

It was only five or six years ago that television was dedicated to game shows that, by one means or another, were turning humble cobblers, cops and college instructors into men of financial substance.

By curious coincidence, the producer of "I Made a Million" will be Steve Carlin, who not so long ago was the producer of a memorable CBS quiz show called "The $64,0000 Question."

Probably some millionaires will turn down an invitation to be contestants. After all, $600 is just cigar money to a millionaire.

The CBS staff may have its hands full checking the bona fides of self-confessed millionaires. The program ought to be marvelous for newly rich fellows who want everybody to know they made good. It may be helpful to the Internal Revenue Service, tooo.

We may be getting to a point where we have as many of these game and panel shows as we can take. Not counting the new CBS entry, there are seven evening shows in this category on the three networks and 14 in the daytime.

ABC commentators Howard K. Smith and Edward P. Morgan will team up as the network's television anchor men for the broadcasts of the political conventions next summer.

The pair performed together smoothly during the four-day emergency after President John F. Kennedys asssassination. They will be competing against tough competition—NBC's Chet Huntley and David Brinkley and CBS' Walter Cronkite.

FRIGID FLIGHT—A U.S. Navy ski-bird hops off a South Polar icecap after delivering men and supplies to Byrd Station. American scientists and technicians are busy this winter participating in a co-operative program of "upper atmosphere observation" at the South Pole, one of the International Year of the Quiet Sun (IQSY) explorations. In addition, the federal government is building a salt water distillation plant at McMurdo Station which will convert salt water to fresh, replacing the supply now obtained by melting snow.

Local Educator Completes Book For India Agency

DR. EUGENE P. LINK

A faculty member of State University College at New Paltz, Dr. Eugene P. Link of New Paltz wrote a book Victories in the Villages which is being published by the Government of India's National Council of Educational Research and Training for use of Indian village workers.

Dr. Link recently returned from an assignment in India. He served for five months as sociology consultant under a contract arrangement between the Agency for International Development and Teachers College, Columbia University.

Chairman of the Division of Social Sciences of the State University College, New Paltz, Dr. Link was selected to work with India's National Institute of Education's Department of Social Education and its Social and Philosophical Foundations. His chief concern was to help plan courses of study for master's and doctor's degrees to be offered by the Fundamental Education Center. It was from research and observations gathered from his work that he wrote the guide book.

India's National Institute of Education trains teachers for educational leadership, conducts research projects and develops educational extension and field services. Under the continuing contract with AID, the Teachers College, Columbia University provides American advisors to NIE and trains Indian educators in the U. S.

This was Dr. Link's third professional visit to India. Twice before he went as a Fulbright Lecturer on one-year assignments to two Indian universities. He lectured at Baroda University in 1954-55, and at Annamalai University in 1958-59.

His wife, Beulah, is a teacher in the Wallkill School system.

Busy Republic

The Dominican Republic mills more than a million tons of sugar a year, in addition to growing huge crops of cacao beans, coffee, rice, peanuts and tobacco. Cattle raising also is a big industry.

Roth Questions Right of State on Thruway Name

Victor H. Roth, executive vice president of the Ulster County Savings Institution, contends that the state has no right to change the name of the New York State Thruway without consulting the bond-holders.

Roth, in a telegram to Gov. Rockefeller, said his bank owns Thruway bonds "presently selling below par."

"Are we owners to the extent of our holdings in said Thruway?" Roth asked. "If so, why are we not consulted about the change of name."

The Legislature has voted to change the name of the super highway to the Gov. Thomas E. Dewey Thruway. Construction of the Thruway was begun in the administration of the former governor.

Roth added:

"Changing the name is going to cost considerable money, despite the claims of the Authority. Any expense, even $100, comes out of income, which affects our investment. We do not believe the state can legally change the name, unless it guarantees full payment of interest and principal on the revenue bonds not outstanding."

State 'Take' Dips From Cigarettes

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Cigarette sales in New York State fell off by nearly 10 million packages last month, cutting state revenues by about a half million dollars.

A spokesman for the State Tax Department said today the decline probably was a reaction to the federal government report branding cigarette smoking as a danger to health.

The department reported that cigarette-tax collections for the full month of January totaled $9,710,503, down $480,511 from the $10,191,014 collected in January 1963.

The decline was 4.7 per cent.

Since the tax is 5 cents a package, the revenue figures may be translated into sales of 194.2 million packages last month, compared with 203.8 million in January 1963.

The federal government report on smoking was issued Jan. 18.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—America's affluent society may soon have a new status symbol, a television show that may make yachts, imported limousines, chinchilla wraps and collections of French impressionist paintings as passe as bustles and congress gaiters.

It is a new panel show called "I Made a Million," which CBS will put into its Sunday night schedule starting April 5, right after Ed Sullivan's variety show.

Each week, the usual celebrity panel—names to be announced—will be called upon to guess which of several contestants is the real millionaire. The lucky winner of the round will be awarded "up to $600," the network announced in the solemn manner it reserves for important announcements.

It was only five or six years ago that television was dedicated to game shows that, by one means or another, were turning humble cobblers, cops and college instructors into men of financial substance.

By curious coincidence, the producer of "I Made a Million" will be Steve Carlin, who not so long ago was the producer of a memorable CBS quiz show called "The $64,0000 Question."

Probably some millionaires will turn down an invitation to be contestants. After all, $600 is just cigar money to a millionaire.

The CBS staff may have its hands full checking the bona fides of self-confessed millionaires. The program ought to be marvelous for newly rich fellows who want everybody to know they made good. It may be helpful to the Internal Revenue Service, tooo.

We may be getting to a point where we have as many of these game and panel shows as we can take. Not counting the new CBS entry, there are seven evening shows in this category on the three networks and 14 in the daytime.

ABC commentators Howard K. Smith and Edward P. Morgan will team up as the network's television anchor men for the broadcasts of the political conventions next summer.

The pair performed together smoothly during the four-day emergency after President John F. Kennedys asssassination. They will be competing against tough competition—NBC's Chet Huntley and David Brinkley and CBS' Walter Cronkite.

FRIGID FLIGHT—A U.S. Navy ski-bird hops off a South Polar icecap after delivering men and supplies to Byrd Station. American scientists and technicians are busy this winter participating in a co-operative program of "upper atmosphere observation" at the South Pole, one of the International Year of the Quiet Sun (IQSY) explorations. In addition, the federal government is building a salt water distillation plant at McMurdo Station which will convert salt water to fresh, replacing the supply now obtained by melting snow.

Local Educator Completes Book For India Agency

A faculty member of State University College at New Paltz, Dr. Eugene P. Link of New Paltz wrote a book Victories in the Villages which is being published by the Government of India's National Council of Educational Research and Training for use of Indian village workers.

Dr. Link recently returned from an assignment in India. He served for five months as sociology consultant under a contract arrangement between the Agency for International Development and Teachers College, Columbia University.

Chairman of the Division of Social Sciences of the State University College, New Paltz, Dr. Link was selected to work with India's National Institute of Education's Department of Social Education and its Social and Philosophical Foundations. His chief concern was to help plan courses of study for master's and doctor's degrees to be offered by the Fundamental Education Center. It was from research and observations gathered from his work that he wrote the guide book.

India's National Institute of Education trains teachers for educational leadership, conducts research projects and develops educational extension and field services. Under the continuing contract with AID, the Teachers College, Columbia University provides American advisors to NIE and trains Indian educators in the U. S.

DR. EUGENE P. LINK

This was Dr. Link's third professional visit to India. Twice before he went as a Fulbright Lecturer on one-year assignments to two Indian universities. He lectured at Baroda University in 1954-55, and at Annamalai University in 1958-59.

His wife, Beulah, is a teacher in the Wallkill School system.

Busy Republic

The Dominican Republic mills more than a million tons of sugar a year, in addition to growing huge crops of cacao beans, coffee, rice, peanuts and tobacco. Cattle raising also is a big industry.

Roth Questions Right of State on Thruway Name

Victor H. Roth, executive vice president of the Ulster County Savings Institution, contends that the state has no right to change the name of the New York State Thruway without consulting the bond-holders.

Roth, in a telegram to Gov. Rockefeller, said his bank owns Thruway bonds "presently selling below par."

"Are we owners to the extent of our holdings in said Thruway?" Roth asked. "If so, why are we not consulted about the change of name."

The Legislature has voted to change the name of the super highway to the Gov. Thomas E. Dewey Thruway. Construction of the Thruway was begun in the administration of the former governor.

Roth added:

"Changing the name is going to cost considerable money, despite the claims of the Authority. Any expense, even $100, comes out of income, which affects our investment. We do not believe the state can legally change the name, unless it guarantees full payment of interest and principal on the revenue bonds not outstanding."

Church Council Renews Attack On Liquor Bill

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The State Council of Churches protested today that adoption of the Moreland Commission's plan for wider licensing of liquor outlets would be "an act of irresponsible government."

The Protestant church group renewed its attack on the liquor program in a statement by the Rev. T. L. Conklin, associate general secretary of the organization.

Gov. Rockefeller endorsed the program and urged its enactment in a special message to the Legislature on Monday. The key proposals are to permit licensing of more package liquor stores and remove state-imposed minimum price controls on liquor.

College Site

have not been deeded over to the County. One parcel is not expected to be turned over to the County until next year and three other parcels must be purchased by the County or someone at a reported asking price of $60,000 in order to consolidate the site and protect it from undesirable industries."

The only parcel of property not yet deeded to the County of Ulster on the date of The Freeman story which was a part of the campus site originally proposed and accepted by the Board of Supervisors on March 14, 1963, and approved by the Board of Trustees of the State University of New York on December 13, 1962, was a plot of approximately 15 acres to be contributed by Mrs. Frances Leggett. The other three parcels referred to in The Freeman story were not a part of the original campus proposed and were not believed by the trustees of the college to be necessary for the development of the college. The position taken by the trustees after careful thought and deliberation was that the college had sufficient space on the 82.28 acre site for adequate long range planning. While it was recognized that acquisition of property on the periphery of any campus might be considered desirable, it was not believed to be necessary. In studying this matter it was noted that Dutchess Community College had a fall 1963 total enrollment of 2,063, with 1078 of them full time, and that a State University of New York Report, dated December 3, 1963, indicated a 58-acre campus.

Orange County Community College, with a total enrollment of 2343, 1103 of them full time, had a campus of 23 acres. Hudson Valley Community College in Troy, New York, has a 70 acres campus with 1568 full time students and a total enrollment of 2301. Mohawk Valley Community College has an 86 acre campus and serves a total enrollment of 2331, with 1156 of them full time. Broome Technical Community College in Binghamton has a 48.3 acre campus and serves 1982 students, 1006 of them full time. The desirability of procuring these properties has been suggested by the Community College Committee of the Board of Supervisors and it was suggested that the possibility of securing options to purchase be investigated.

However, these parcels are not, and were not, a part of the campus property originally proposed or officially accepted by the County. The Leggett parcel of 15 acres was promised by Mrs. Leggett at the time she made her original gift but with the provision that it be conveyed in January, 1964. The Freeman story has indicated that this particular parcel "was expected to be turned over to the County in 1965." The deed to this parcel of land has now been signed by Mrs. Leggett and completes the consolidation of 82.28 acre campus originally proposed and subsequently accepted by the County of Ulster.

Indicated Building Sites

Two building sites were indicated on the engineer's map printed in the Freeman on February 5. No building locations have yet been designated and Augustus Schrowang Associates, architects, appointed by the Board of Supervisors on September 12, 1963 to develop the permanent campus, are currently making the necessary studies and will present to the Board of Trustees several alternate building location plans for long range campus development. These site plans have not yet been presented to the Board of Trustees and at no time have buildings been considered in the locations indicated on the map. Tentative plans for the first phase of campus development include the construction of three buildings — a Science Building, a Humanities - Business - Classroom Building and a Library — all within the referendum and gift monies, plus matching funds.

Drainage Easements

Alternate drainage plans for carrying affluent from sewage away from the campus have been proposed by the engineering firm of Brinnier and Larios. Final plans will not be crystallized until ultimate building locations are designated and the buildings for the first phase of construction are identified.

Access Road

The construction of an access road from the County road to the College buildings was suggested in The Freeman story to be a financial obstacle to starting the building plans. The original study plan prepared by Brinnier and Larios, dated September 11, 1962, indicated a proposed access road and the construction of such a road was a cost consideration at that time. The need for such a road has been apparent and is not viewed as a cost obstacle.

'Got an Urge'

Negro Admits He Slew 3 Strangers

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — An unemployed Oakland man today admitted the knife slaying of three strangers and serious attacks on two other men, Oakland police said.

Homicide officers quoted Clarence Harold Hardy, 33, as saying he stabbed the men because "I just got an urge."

Police said the same knife was used in fatal slayings — the latest on Monday.

Hardy was arrested in an extensive manhunt that was spurred Monday when George Gilson, a retired railroad conductor, was fatally stabbed while returning home from a grocery store. He managed to tell witnesses that the attacker was a stranger.

Here's the series of attacks police say Hardy admitted:

On Feb. 4 he stabbed a man at the Trans-Bay Terminal in San Francisco. The victim did not die.

Later that day, Hardy went to Oakland and fatally stabbed Jack Woodward, 36.

Four days later, Roscoe Belcher, 43, of Oakland was stabbed in the chest by a shabbily dressed man who asked for a match. Belcher did not know the man.

Monday, according to Hardy's admission, he "got the urge" again. That's when Gilson was stabbed.

Police report Hardy is a Negro and all his victims except Gilson were Negroes.

Police said the other knifing Hardy admitted occurred in 1963 in Los Angeles.

Lawyers to Try

Belli said he would call Carl Freund of the Dallas News, author of several stories since the assassination that have been entered into the court record.

The defense has produced several witnesses who testified a feeling exists that the 52-year-old nightclub operator besmirched the city when he gunned down accused presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald Nov. 24, and that he would have to be convicted to brighten the city's image.

The killing of Oswald followed by two days the death of President John F. Kennedy at the hands of a sniper as the presidential motorcade moved through downtown Dallas.

Ruby sat amid his lawyers at the hearing, nervously wiping his forehead and occasionally staring at the floor. Several times he held whispered conferences with his counsel.

Two and a half months in jail have left him pallid.

Calls Boycott Success

CAMBRIDGE, Md. (AP) — "Our attendance was almost normal," say school officials of a Negro boycott of Dorchester County schools.

"The boycott was a success," says Mrs. Gloria Richardson, the integrationist leader who organized it to speed integration.

School officials said about 980 Negro pupils—roughly 40 per cent of the Negro schoolchildren in the county—stayed at home during Tuesday's boycott. But they put much of the blame on a three-inch snowfall.

Absences from the weather alone would have run as high as 20 per cent, they said.

The boycott was called, Mrs. Richardson said, to obtain integration of school faculties, assignment of Negroes to schools by geographic location, and complete desegregation of both Cambridge high schools.

Orders Cease-Fire

MOGADISHU, Somalia (AP) —Responding to a peace plea from U.N. Secretary-General U Thant, the government of Somalia has ordered an immediate cease-fire in its border fight with Ethiopia.

Both Prime Minister Abirashid Ali Shermarke of Somlia and Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia hailed Thant's appeal, but each accused the other of border violations.

Beatles Attract 8,000 in D. C., No Johnson Girls

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than 8,000 screaming Beatle fans turned out Tuesday night to hear the mop-haired British singers, but the teen-aged Johnson girls were not among them.

The White House press office said today that Lynda Bird Johnson, 18, after attending the diplomatic reception Tuesday night, got in some study. Lucy Baines Johnson, 16, stayed home "to hit the books," a spokesman said.

Lull for Holiday

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—The Chinese Nationalist commander of Quemoy has ordered his troops to hold fire against the Chinese mainland for the next three days unless the Reds start something.

The order was designed to enable civilians and Red troops along the mainland coast to celebrate the Chinese lunar new year, which begins Thursday. Red China announced Tuesday it was withholding artillery fire against the offshore islands during the holiday period.

No Progress

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—A dispute over whether there is de facto segregation in Cincinnati's public schools wound up today, after a one-day school boycott, right where it started—in dispute and in the federal court.

The Cincinnati School Board reported there was about 35 per cent absenteeism compared with a normal 10 to 12 per cent for any given day in February.

The Congress of Racial Equality, however, called the boycott a "tremendous success."

by Detective Gurnsey Burger Jr., asked for an opportunity to secure an attorney when he appeared in City Court this morning. The hearing was put over to 9 a. m. by Special City Judge Bernard A. Feeney Jr. Ector is also charged with involvement in burglaries at Yallum's and Maroon's.

Clinton Awaits Jury

Isom Clinton Jr., 17, of 86 Farrelly Street, apprehended Tuesday night with four others, was charged with two third degree burglary counts. He waived preliminary examination this morning in city court and was remanded to Ulster County jail to await grand jury action.

Edward Mayo Jr., 16, of 43 Newkirk Avenue appeared yesterday morning, waived preliminary examinations and was committed to county jail to await grand jury action. Mayo was charged with one count of third degree burglary.

The Detective Division said the youths along with three other juveniles, all under 16 years of age were involved in the burglaries. The juveniles allegedly involved are to be petitioned to Family Court, Detective Lt. Lemuel Howard said Tuesday.

Some Goods Recovered

Police reported some $2,000 in shoes and clothing were taken from Yallum's. Much of the loot has been recovered, it was reported. About $50 in cigars, cigarettes, candy and change were taken from Maroons, Lt. Howard said.

Clinton and Ector are charged with involvement in the Yallum burglary with three juveniles and Clinton, Mayo and Ector with two juveniles are reportedly involved in the Maroon break-in, police said.

The Detective Division said entry was gained at Yallum's by breaking a glass door on the East Strand side of the corner building.

Entry into the confectionery store was by breaking a window pane at the rear of the store, detectives said.

Yonkers Man Named

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller has named Leo Murin of Yonkers to the Workmen's Compensation Board for a term ending Dec. 31, 1970.

Murin, 55, succeeded Isadore Siegeltuch of Brooklyn, whose term expired last Dec. 31. The post carries an annual salary of $20,475.

Rockefeller also announced he had reappointed Seymour H. Knox of Buffalo as chairman of the State Council on the Arts for a term ending April 1, 1967.

Ulster Lists Hearing On Subdivision Changes

A public hearing will be held Monday, March 9, to discuss changes in subdivision regulations in the Town of Ulster.

The hearing was scheduled Monday night by the Ulster Planning Board.

At Grange Hall

The March 9 hearing, set for Lake Katrine Grange Hall, will start at 8 p. m.

Proposed changes to be aired at the hearing would add a "check list" and establish reasonable fees for future reviews of subdivision applications.

Edward Devine, chairman of the Ulster planners, said that the check list will aid both the applicant and planning board as it is a step by step procedure from initial submission to completion. The reasonable fees, DeVine said, would help to offset the expense incurred in reviewing subdivision applications.

A target date of mid-summer has been established for completion of an industrial brochure, it was disclosed at this week's meeting. The board is revising its master town map to show the changes since 1957. Mrs. Katherine Houser has been hired as secretary and Robert Mickle as planning consultant.

Some Get Numbers

Mickle reported that the field survey has been completed from the city line north through Forest Glen Park. Numbers are now being distributed for both Sunset Park and Forest Glen Park. Maps have been completed up to Sunset Park and within a month the maps will be complete through Forest Glen Park. Field surveys also are being made south of the city in the Hillside Section, 1 through 5, by Mr. and Mrs. James Krom.

A street name change requested by Arthur McSpirit in the vicinity of the Cherry Hill Development was reviewed by the board. McSpirit requested that the wood road running behind Cherry Hill be changed to McSpirit Lane. The road was cut into two by the installation of the new 209 Bypass. The board is forwarding its recommendation to the town board for action.

Others present at Monday's meeting were Erwin Craw, Raymond Coles and Wellington Beckert.

LBJ Shocks Rocky

NEW YORK (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller today described as "a shocking statement" President Johnson's comment that politics should be confined to events within the nation's borders.

The candidate for the Republican presidential nomination said that criticism of the nation's foreign policy was entirely legitimate "in view of the way things have been going—or not been going."

The governor commented in an airport interview en route to New Hampshire for a three-day campaign swing. Rockefeller said that, by not criticizing where criticism is merited, "we sacrifice our greatest heritage."

Memoriam

In loving memory of my dear husband, Michael Gallo, who passed away three years ago today, Feb. 12, 1961.

Someone remembers, someone cares,
Your name is whispered in my prayers;
A smile, a tear,
With thoughts sincere,
How often I wish that you were near.
You always made my life worthwhile,
Your kindly words and cheerful smile;
When no one else could understand,
You always came and clasped my hand.
Sacred heart of Jesus, have mercy on him.

Church Council Renews Attack On Liquor Bill

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The State Council of Churches protested today that adoption of the Moreland Commission's plan for wider licensing of liquor outlets would be "an act of irresponsible government."

The Protestant church group renewed its attack on the liquor program in a statement by the Rev. T. L. Conklin, associate general secretary of the organization.

Gov. Rockefeller endorsed the program and urged its enactment in a special message to the Legislature on Monday. The key proposals are to permit licensing of more package liquor stores and remove state-imposed minimum price controls on liquor.

College Site

have not been deeded over to the County. One parcel is not expected to be turned over to the County until next year and three other parcels must be purchased by the County or someone at a reported asking price of $60,000 in order to consolidate the site and protect it from undesirable industries."

The only parcel of property not yet deeded to the County of Ulster on the date of The Freeman story which was a part of the campus site originally proposed and accepted by the Board of Supervisors on March 14, 1963, and approved by the Board of Trustees of the State University of New York on December 13, 1962, was a plot of approximately 15 acres to be contributed by Mrs. Frances Leggett. The other three parcels referred to in The Freeman story were not a part of the original campus proposed and were not believed by the trustees of the college to be necessary for the development of the college. The position taken by the trustees after careful thought and deliberation was that the college had sufficient space on the 82.28 acre site for adequate long range planning. While it was recognized that acquisition of property on the periphery of any campus might be considered desirable, it was not believed to be necessary. In studying this matter it was noted that Dutchess Community College had a fall 1963 total enrollment of 2,063, with 1078 of them full time, and that a State University of New York Report, dated December 3, 1963, indicated a 58-acre campus.

Orange County Community College, with a total enrollment of 2343, 1103 of them full time, had a campus of 23 acres. Hudson Valley Community College in Troy, New York, has a 70 acres campus with 1568 full time students and a total enrollment of 2301. Mohawk Valley Community College has an 86 acre campus and serves a total enrollment of 2331, with 1156 of them full time. Broome Technical Community College in Binghamton has a 48.3 acre campus and serves 1982 students, 1006 of them full time. The desirability of procuring these properties has been suggested by the Community College Committee of the Board of Supervisors and it was suggested that the possibility of securing options to purchase be investigated.

However, these parcels are not, and were not, a part of the campus property originally proposed or officially accepted by the County. The Leggett parcel of 15 acres was promised by Mrs. Leggett at the time she made her original gift but with the provision that it be conveyed in January, 1964. The Freeman story has indicated that this particular parcel "was expected to be turned over to the County in 1965." The deed to this parcel of land has now been signed by Mrs. Leggett and completes the consolidation of 82.28 acre campus originally proposed and subsequently accepted by the County of Ulster.

Indicated Building Sites

Two building sites were indicated on the engineer's map printed in the Freeman on February 5. No building locations have yet been designated and Augustus Schrowang Associates, architects, appointed by the Board of Supervisors on September 12, 1963 to develop the permanent campus, are currently making the necessary studies and will present to the Board of Trustees several alternate building location plans for long range campus development. These site plans have not yet been presented to the Board of Trustees and at no time have buildings been considered in the locations indicated on the map. Tentative plans for the first phase of campus development include the construction of three buildings — a Science Building, a Humanities - Business - Classroom Building and a Library — all within the referendum and gift monies, plus matching funds.

Drainage Easements

Alternate drainage plans for carrying affluent from sewage away from the campus have been proposed by the engineering firm of Brinnier and Larios. Final plans will not be crystallized until ultimate building locations are designated and the buildings for the first phase of construction are identified.

Access Road

The construction of an access road from the County road to the College buildings was suggested in The Freeman story to be a financial obstacle to starting the building plans. The original study plan prepared by Brinnier and Larios, dated September 11, 1962, indicated a proposed access road and the construction of such a road was a cost consideration at that time. The need for such a road has been apparent and is not viewed as a cost obstacle.

'Got an Urge'

Negro Admits He Slew 3 Strangers

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — An unemployed Oakland man today admitted the knife slaying of three strangers and serious attacks on two other men, Oakland police said.

Homicide officers quoted Clarence Harold Hardy, 33, as saying he stabbed the men because "I just got an urge."

Police said the same knife was used in fatal slayings — the latest on Monday.

Hardy was arrested in an extensive manhunt that was spurred Monday when George Gilson, a retired railroad conductor, was fatally stabbed while returning home from a grocery store. He managed to tell witnesses that the attacker was a stranger.

Here's the series of attacks police say Hardy admitted:

On Feb. 4 he stabbed a man at the Trans-Bay Terminal in San Francisco. The victim did not die.

Later that day, Hardy went to Oakland and fatally stabbed Jack Woodward, 36.

Four days later, Roscoe Belcher, 43, of Oakland was stabbed in the chest by a shabbily dressed man who asked for a match. Belcher did not know the man.

Monday, according to Hardy's admission, he "got the urge" again. That's when Gilson was stabbed.

Police report Hardy is a Negro and all his victims except Gilson were Negroes.

Police said the other knifing Hardy admitted occurred in 1963 in Los Angeles.

Lawyers to Try

Belli said he would call Carl Freund of the Dallas News, author of several stories since the assassination that have been entered into the court record.

The defense has produced several witnesses who testified a feeling exists that the 52-year-old nightclub operator besmirched the city when he gunned down accused presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald Nov. 24, and that he would have to be convicted to brighten the city's image.

The killing of Oswald followed by two days the death of President John F. Kennedy at the hands of a sniper as the presidential motorcade moved through downtown Dallas.

Ruby sat amid his lawyers at the hearing, nervously wiping his forehead and occasionally staring at the floor. Several times he held whispered conferences with his counsel.

Two and a half months in jail have left him pallid.

Calls Boycott Success

CAMBRIDGE, Md. (AP) — "Our attendance was almost normal," say school officials of a Negro boycott of Dorchester County schools.

"The boycott was a success," says Mrs. Gloria Richardson, the integrationist leader who organized it to speed integration.

School officials said about 980 Negro pupils—roughly 40 per cent of the Negro schoolchildren in the county—stayed at home during Tuesday's boycott. But they put much of the blame on a three-inch snowfall.

Absences from the weather alone would have run as high as 20 per cent, they said.

The boycott was called, Mrs. Richardson said, to obtain integration of school faculties, assignment of Negroes to schools by geographic location, and complete desegregation of both Cambridge high schools.

Orders Cease-Fire

MOGADISHU, Somalia (AP) —Responding to a peace plea from U.N. Secretary-General U Thant, the government of Somalia has ordered an immediate cease-fire in its border fight with Ethiopia.

Both Prime Minister Abirashid Ali Shermarke of Somlia and Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia hailed Thant's appeal, but each accused the other of border violations.

Beatles Attract 8,000 in D. C., No Johnson Girls

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than 8,000 screaming Beatle fans turned out Tuesday night to hear the mop-haired British singers, but the teen-aged Johnson girls were not among them.

The White House press office said today that Lynda Bird Johnson, 18, after attending the diplomatic reception Tuesday night, got in some study. Lucy Baines Johnson, 16, stayed home "to hit the books," a spokesman said.

Lull for Holiday

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—The Chinese Nationalist commander of Quemoy has ordered his troops to hold fire against the Chinese mainland for the next three days unless the Reds start something.

The order was designed to enable civilians and Red troops along the mainland coast to celebrate the Chinese lunar new year, which begins Thursday. Red China announced Tuesday it was withholding artillery fire against the offshore islands during the holiday period.

No Progress

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—A dispute over whether there is de facto segregation in Cincinnati's public schools wound up today, after a one-day school boycott, right where it started—in dispute and in the federal court.

The Cincinnati School Board reported there was about 35 per cent absenteeism compared with a normal 10 to 12 per cent for any given day in February.

The Congress of Racial Equality, however, called the boycott a "tremendous success."

by Detective Gurnsey Burger Jr., asked for an opportunity to secure an attorney when he appeared in City Court this morning. The hearing was put over to 9 a. m. by Special City Judge Bernard A. Feeney Jr. Ector is also charged with involvement in burglaries at Yallum's and Maroon's.

Clinton Awaits Jury

Isom Clinton Jr., 17, of 86 Farrelly Street, apprehended Tuesday night with four others, was charged with two third degree burglary counts. He waived preliminary examination this morning in city court and was remanded to Ulster County jail to await grand jury action.

Edward Mayo Jr., 16, of 43 Newkirk Avenue appeared yesterday morning, waived preliminary examinations and was committed to county jail to await grand jury action. Mayo was charged with one count of third degree burglary.

The Detective Division said the youths along with three other juveniles, all under 16 years of age were involved in the burglaries. The juveniles allegedly involved are to be petitioned to Family Court, Detective Lt. Lemuel Howard said Tuesday.

Some Goods Recovered

Police reported some $2,000 in shoes and clothing were taken from Yallum's. Much of the loot has been recovered, it was reported. About $50 in cigars, cigarettes, candy and change were taken from Maroons, Lt. Howard said.

Clinton and Ector are charged with involvement in the Yallum burglary with three juveniles and Clinton, Mayo and Ector with two juveniles are reportedly involved in the Maroon break-in, police said.

The Detective Division said entry was gained at Yallum's by breaking a glass door on the East Strand side of the corner building.

Entry into the confectionery store was by breaking a window pane at the rear of the store, detectives said.

Murin, 55, succeeded Isadore Siegeltuch of Brooklyn, whose term expired last Dec. 31. The post carries an annual salary of $20,475.

Ulster Lists Hearing On Subdivision Changes

A public hearing will be held Monday, March 9, to discuss changes in subdivision regulations in the Town of Ulster.

The hearing was scheduled Monday night by the Ulster Planning Board.

At Grange Hall

The March 9 hearing, set for Lake Katrine Grange Hall, will start at 8 p. m.

Proposed changes to be aired at the hearing would add a "check list" and establish reasonable fees for future reviews of subdivision applications.

Edward Devine, chairman of the Ulster planners, said that the check list will aid both the applicant and planning board as it is a step by step procedure from initial submission to completion. The reasonable fees, DeVine said, would help to offset the expense incurred in reviewing subdivision applications.

A target date of mid-summer has been established for completion of an industrial brochure, it was disclosed at this week's meeting. The board is revising its master town map to show the changes since 1957. Mrs. Katherine Houser has been hired as secretary and Robert Mickle as planning consultant.

Some Get Numbers

Mickle reported that the field survey has been completed from the city line north through Forest Glen Park. Numbers are now being distributed for both Sunset Park and Forest Glen Park. Maps have been completed up to Sunset Park and within a month the maps will be complete through Forest Glen Park. Field surveys also are being made south of the city in the Hillside Section, 1 through 5, by Mr. and Mrs. James Krom.

A street name change requested by Arthur McSpirit in the vicinity of the Cherry Hill Development was reviewed by the board. McSpirit requested that the wood road running behind Cherry Hill be changed to McSpirit Lane. The road was cut into two by the installation of the new 209 Bypass. The board is forwarding its recommendation to the town board for action.

Others present at Monday's meeting were Erwin Craw, Raymond Coles and Wellington Beckert.

Johnson Gets Half Hour Start On All Other Men in Washington

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP) — As a boy, Lyndon B. Johnson was often awakened at 4:30 a.m. by having one bare foot twisted by his father's impatient hands.

"Git up, Lyndon!" the father's words were as sharp as the sudden twinge of the ankle. "Every other boy in town already has a half - hour's head start on you!"

Few men in Washington get a half-hour's head start on the President, and few work later.

The key fact about Johnson's work pattern is that he seldom stops working—even when he's socializing. Work and relaxation go hand in hand.

Awake at 6:30

On an average morning, Johnson is awake by 6:30 a. m. A lifetime of habit makes it difficult for him to sleep later. By 5:45, the President's aide and official shadow, Jack Valenti, is at the White House, prepared to go over the day's schedule and give Johnson a briefing on secret intelligence from around the globe.

After the intelligence briefing, the first order of business is a look at the day's schedule. How should the President handle each visitor or visiting delegation? What does he want to tell them? What does he want to learn from them? Johnson and Valenti, shuffling through folders of neatly filed memos on each appointment, decide the day's strategy.

Then comes the "reading hour," which may stretch to nearly two hours. There are special studies, intelligence reports, diplomatic cables and memoranda from various agencies.

Like the late President John F. Kennedy, Johnson is a fast reader. His assistants say he has "a blotting paper memory" for key facts.

Reads Newspapers

Newspapers are a major part of the President's morning reading. He thumbs through seven or eight of them, including the Washington Post, Baltimore Sun, New York Times, New York Herald Tribune, New York Daily News, Chicago Tribune and Philadelphia Inquirer. The list is limited only by the number available at dawn.

The President skims the paper, looking in particularly for prime news or for dispatches, columns and editorials concerning his own activities.

Like many a president, Johnson attaches great importance to the things that reporters and pundits write about him. If an article strikes him as favorable — "objective," he would say — Johnson is delighted. He has been known to venture into the White House lobby, where newsmen congregate, to bestow personal congratulations on a startled reporter. If the printed word is displeasing, the writer may get a personal phone call from the President, who does not hesitate to suggest amendments.

Sticks to Menu

His reading completed, Johnson is ready for breakfast: a half melon and a cup of tea. The menu seldom varies.

Sometimes Johnson remains in the White House living quarters for an hour or two after breakfast, seeing top officials or calling them on the telephone.

Johnson lives with the telephone, using it to quiz department heads, cajole members of Congress, or surprise casual acquaintances.

On a usual morning, Johnson is in his oval office about 9:30 a.m., ready for appointments.

With many presidents, the appointments schedule has been semisacred. Visitors have moved in and out according to the timetable.

Schedules Vary

For Johnson, a schedule is something to exercise the imagination. Some appointments will be delayed, postponed or canceled. Others will be added.

While one man waits 30 minutes to see Johnson another may find a 10-minute appointment stretching into an hour. If Johnson gage in a thorough discussion of a topic he judges important, he will take whatever time is necessary.

There is another point, too, about the President's many meetings: he tends to observe the chain of command, dealing with top people in a department or agency.

Both Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara see more of Johnson than they did of Kennedy. Several contacts a day are not uncommon.

Has Many Contacts

Outside the official family, Johnson maintains an impressive array of contacts: with businessmen, labor leaders, civil rights partisans, local political leaders and the press. Many come for lunch and, to their surprise, are invited to stay for first a dip in the White House pool.

Johnson is an ardent wooer of all groups that influence public opinion. He sees them, phones them, dines them.

All this consultation takes time, and Johnson may leave his office any time between 7 p.m. and midnight—occasionally later. After dining with his family, or with guests, he may go to his bedroom about 10 or 10:30 p.m. to do some more reading. Or he may summon a medical corpsman from the White House staff to give him a rubdown.

Thus ends the longest day in Washington.

Hollywood News, Views

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — It was one of those rare, warm evenings when the past and the present merged for a mutual love—the movies.

The occasion was the annual dinner of Delta Kappa Alpha, which is not a rah-rah frat but the national fraternity for students of the cinema. It was being held at the University of Southern California, which has the oldest school of the cinema of any college in America and perhaps the world.

Past and Today

Gloria Swanson, Adolph Zukor, Jack Lemmon, Charles Brackett and Billy Wilder has been chosen for honorary memberships, and that's what made it a rare evening. Their friends and associates of the long history of films had been invited to share in the occasion.

Today's Hollywood was represented by such names as Stephen Boyd, Omar Sharif, Edd Byrnes, Diane Baker, Steve Forrest, Rhonda Fleming, Maureen O'Hara, Robert Stack, Dick Van Dyke, etc.

From the movies' earlier days came Donald Crisp, Madge Kennedy, Betty Blythe, Mae West, Jack Oakie, Claire Windsor, etc.

Informality was the plan of director George Cukor, described by Stack as the "house mother" of the fraternity. Film clips of the honored guests were shown. Miss Swanson and Bob Cummings roamed the room to chat on microphones with old - and new-timers.

Corrects Gloria

"I came to Hollywood in 1916," said Miss Swanson. "I'll bet nobody else in the rooom can say that."

"Why dear, I came here in 1912," Harold Lloyd corrected.

Claire Windsor reminisced of being stuck in the elevator during a party at Miss Swanson's palatial home.

Edward G. Robinson commented that he had never appeared with Miss Swanson. "I was always public enemy No. 1,'" he sighed. "They never gave me anyone as glamorous as you."

Gloria closed the evening with a reflection: "How I wonder what would have happened to us if Mr. Edison hadn't invented that wonderful box. We became famous because they could put us in tin cans and send us around the world. Those were wonderful times, and every time I come back to Hollywood I feel as if I'm home."

Johnson Dislikes GOP Tag for Treasury Head

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson heaped praise on Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon in a speech to Internal Revenue officials Tuesday.

Then he added: "Somebody called him a Republican. I think that is about the worst thing I have ever heard said about him."

Dillon is a Republican. He was ambassador to France and undersecretary of state under former President Dwight D. Eisenhower before being named to his present post by the late President John F. Kennedy.

Held in Coin Theft

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — The operator of a boating business is the second man to be arrested in connection with the recent theft here of $10,000 in rare coins.

William Lower, 33, of Ithaca was taken into custody yesterday and charged with conspiring to dispose of the stolen coins.

Lower posted $10,000 bail with police and was released, pending his arraignment.

Jamboree Scouts Outline Plans For Event in July

Plans for Rip Van Winkle Council's participation in the Sixth National Boy Scout Jamboree were revealed to an audience of 150 Jamboree Scouts, parents and leaders, Friday night in Bethany Hall, Old Dutch Church.

The occasion was a Jamboree Night program sponsored by Rip Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America. Serving as program chairman was Sherwood Lasher of Kingston, council activities chairman, who is also chairman of the Council's 6th National Jamboree planning committee.

Following his opening message of welcome, Chairman Lasher called on Scout Executive Alex Macdonald to introduce the adult leaders who will accompany the Rip Van Winkle Scout and Explorer delegation to the National Jamboree, to be held at Valley Forge National Park in July.

This group of veteran Scouters includes: Robert Tremper, Ulster Park; Richard Waltman, Kingston; Kenneth Magyar, Harry Slobodian and Paul Seyferth, Saugerties; Edmund Dapp, Lloyd; Anthony Zinnanti, Catskill; Lyle Proper, Kerhonkson.

An idea of the size, scope and activities of a National Scout Jamboree was given to the assembled Scouts and parents through the showing of a sound motion picture which revealed highlights of the last National Jamboree held at Valley Forge a few years ago.

Following the film showing, the Scouts assembled in a separate room to meet their Jamboree leaders and take initial steps in the formation of the two Jamboree troops:

To inform the parents regarding their sons' preparation for participation in the National Jamboree a special panel session was held. Scouting officials who served as members of the panel were Council Activities Chairman Lasher; Scout Executive Macdonald, and District Commissioner Waltman.

The Jamboree Family Night program closed with a ceremony staged by members of the two Council Jamboree Troops.

Periodicals Will Be Topic of Area Library System

Ramapo Catskill Library System members will meet Feb. 19 at the headquarters in Middletown to discuss the purchase and handling of periodicals.

If there are two people in any library, the probability is that one of them will be reading a magazine. Use of the magazines is made by oldsters with leisure, by youngsters doing assignments and by scholars of all ages.

Some of the problems that the librarians will discuss are those of magazine display, magazine covering for use in the reading room and for storage, purchase of magazines (which ones, and from what source), and storage of the back issues so that they can be readily consulted. The handy guide to finding what is required in a periodical Readers Guide to Periodical Literature in its full and abridged forms will also be discussed.

The meeting starts at 9:30 and ends at noon. Pubic librarians and trustees from the four county area of Orange, Rockland, Sullivan and Ulster are invited to attend.

Look, Mom, No Bacilli!

"What I want to know is this. If TB's an adult disease, why do they want us to have our children tested once a year?

The speaker was Mrs. Ella Rogers, a Pennsylvania mother. She asked her question during a local telephone-interview radio show. The announcer, a parent himself, didn't know the answer. It's a safe guess that the majority of American parents were in the same boat.

In such a situation, why not seek an answer from the horse's mouth — or, in this case, from the Christmas Seal Association that has fought TB on a national battlefront for 60 years? That's exactly what's been done; and here is the authoritative answer to Mrs. Rogers given by a spokesman for the National Tuberculosis Association.

"Your question is a sound and timely one. Tuberculin tests are important in childhood because, for one thing, the TB germ can be thoroughly active in young children who have caught the germ from an infected person. This is what can happen when a TB control program breaks down, and in children up to the age of three, it can result in tuberculosis meningitis, a frequent and rapid killer.

"On the other hand — and particularly in somewhat older children — the germ may remain inactive in the body until many years later and then become active. A person found to have active TB in his forties or later may well have been harboring the germ since teenage or preteen days. In that case, a tuberculin test, taken at an early age, normally would have revealed the presence of the inactive germ and warned against the possiblity of a later breakdown into active disease.

"In other words, the inactive TB child may be father to the active TB man. Another compelling reason why every child should have a regular periodic tuberculin test."

Dad Taught Him Early Rising

Johnson Gets Half Hour Start On All Other Men in Washington

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP) — As a boy, Lyndon B. Johnson was often awakened at 4:30 a.m. by having one bare foot twisted by his father's impatient hands.

"Git up, Lyndon!" the father's words were as sharp as the sudden twinge of the ankle. "Every other boy in town already has a half - hour's head start on you!"

Few men in Washington get a half-hour's head start on the President, and few work later.

The key fact about Johnson's work pattern is that he seldom stops working—even when he's socializing. Work and relaxation go hand in hand.

Awake at 6:30

On an average morning, Johnson is awake by 6:30 a. m. A lifetime of habit makes it difficult for him to sleep later. By 5:45, the President's aide and official shadow, Jack Valenti, is at the White House, prepared to go over the day's schedule and give Johnson a briefing on secret intelligence from around the globe.

After the intelligence briefing, the first order of business is a look at the day's schedule. How should the President handle each visitor or visiting delegation? What does he want to tell them? What does he want to learn from them? Johnson and Valenti, shuffling through folders of neatly filed memos on each appointment, decide the day's strategy.

Then comes the "reading hour," which may stretch to nearly two hours. There are special studies, intelligence reports, diplomatic cables and memoranda from various agencies.

Like the late President John F. Kennedy, Johnson is a fast reader. His assistants say he has "a blotting paper memory" for key facts.

Reads Newspapers

Newspapers are a major part of the President's morning reading. He thumbs through seven or eight of them, including the Washington Post, Baltimore Sun, New York Times, New York Herald Tribune, New York Daily News, Chicago Tribune and Philadelphia Inquirer. The list is limited only by the number available at dawn.

The President skims the paper, looking in particularly for prime news or for dispatches, columns and editorials concerning his own activities.

Like many a president, Johnson attaches great importance to the things that reporters and pundits write about him. If an article strikes him as favorable — "objective," he would say — Johnson is delighted. He has been known to venture into the White House lobby, where newsmen congregate, to bestow personal congratulations on a startled reporter. If the printed word is displeasing, the writer may get a personal phone call from the President, who does not hesitate to suggest amendments.

Sticks to Menu

His reading completed, Johnson is ready for breakfast: a half melon and a cup of tea. The menu seldom varies.

Sometimes Johnson remains in the White House living quarters for an hour or two after breakfast, seeing top officials or calling them on the telephone.

Johnson lives with the telephone, using it to quiz department heads, cajole members of Congress, or surprise casual acquaintances.

On a usual morning, Johnson is in his oval office about 9:30 a.m., ready for appointments.

With many presidents, the appointments schedule has been semisacred. Visitors have moved in and out according to the timetable.

Schedules Vary

For Johnson, a schedule is something to exercise the imagination. Some appointments will be delayed, postponed or canceled. Others will be added.

While one man waits 30 minutes to see Johnson another may find a 10-minute appointment stretching into an hour. If Johngage in a thorough discussion of a topic he judges important, he will take whatever time is necessary.

Litter — A Fuse for Fires

Litter, that careless fall-out of an affluent society, looks loathsome. But even worse, it can be lethal.

Take an accumulation of papers and other litter — indoors or out — add just one spark, and you have a truly deadly combination. Every twelve minutes, five times an hour, 120 times a day — an American home is damaged or destroyed by a fire starting in rubbish or litter.

Woodlands and forests, too, can be destroyed by litter-fed blazes. Combustible litter discarded in wooded areas by picnickers or motorists, together with the dry foliage of autumn, creates a special danger.

A gentleman had completed his purchases and the clerk, in filling out the sales slip, asked:

Clerk — O. K. Jepson.

Gentleman — Excuse me, it isn't O. K. You didn't understand; I said 'Oh'.

No. Not O. but K. Here give me the pencil and I'll write it myself. There, I guess it's O.K. now.

New Hampshire's Voluntary Taxation

Expect $4 Million From Two Races a Year for School Aid

By GORDON A. GLOVER
Associated Press Writer

CONCORD, N. H. (AP) — The New Hampshireman who ventures out of state these days isn't likely to feel like a rube anymore.

Wherever he goes, the New Hampshireman is certain to run into city slickers who want to know how to buy tickets in the New Hampshire Sweepstakes.

And when outlanders come to New Hampshire, they're likely to give with a sly nudge and say:

"Okay, friend, so where's all the action?"

This is what comes of living in the nation's only state with a state-sponsored, state-promoted lottery. It's a distinction that not everyone bears cheerfully, but even critics agree that New Hampshire's experiment in "voluntary taxation" has wide popular support.

The first real test of sentiment will come in the March 10 presidential primary election, when citizens will decide by local option whether they want sweepstakes tickets sold in their towns.

But the real day of destiny will be next Sept. 12, when a field of thoroughbreds will bolt from the starting gates at Rockingham Park for the first running of the Granite State Sweepstakes.

$100,000 Top Price

If all goes as planned, the person holding a ticket on the winning horse will win up to $100,000.

Depending on the number of tickets sold, hundreds of smaller prizes will go to second and third place winners, and to holders of tickets on any horse nominated to enter the race from a large field of candidates.

What's in it for New Hampshire?

Even the skeptics—and there are many—are hopeful that the sweeps will live up to its billing as an effective way of raising an estimated $4 million from two races a year.

The money will be distributed on a flag grant-per-pupil basis to New Hampshire school districts. If it does amount to $4 million, it will roughly double the state's aid to education program, one of the most meager in the nation.

"People are ready for an honest, efficient sweepstakes," says Edward J. Powers, the state's $20,000-a-year sweepstakes director.

Served With FBI

Powers, 50, took the sweepstakes job after 22 years with the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

His feelings on the sweepstakes are shared by Democratic Gov. John W. King, who signed the sweeps into law last April after passage by a Republican - controlled legislature.

King and Powers, both lawyers, are convinced that a rigidly regulated sweepstakes, operated in the public interest, will not run afoul of federal law, which forbids the use of the mails for transmitting lottery tickets or information.

Has Tight Controls

To keep New Hampshire's sweepstakes within the law, and to keep it from the hands of "racketeers, bums and thieves," Powers has created an elaborate system of controls.

Here are the basic elements:

—Prize winners will not be officially notified through the mails of their good fortune, but will simply receive a check or money order, with no explanation. It may also come in the form of a routine transfer of bank funds.

—Tickets, costing $3 apiece, will be sold only in New Hampshire at three race tracks or in state-operated liquor stores in those communities that approve of the ticket sales in the local option balloting. There are liquor stores in 49 communities.

—A name and address will be required for each purchase of tickets.

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—The Coast Guard Tuesday seized the 50-foot motor vessel Arroyo and 16 heavily armed Cuban exiles apparently headed for a raid on Cuba.

The Coast Guard boarded the Arroyo near the Dry Tortugas, the group of keys where four Cuban government fishing boats and their crews were picked up Feb. 2 and accused of poaching in U.S. waters.

Rochester Board To Discontinue Bookmobile Plan

Rochester Town Board voted last week to discontinue the Bookmobile service and disposed of a variety of other business at its meeting held in Town Clerk's office, Accord.

Following a lengthy discussion and after hearing opinions expressed by several residents present, the board voted 3 to 2 to discontinue the service. The contract with Sullivan County for the Catskill Ramapo Library Association service costing $1,250 per year was not renewed.

School Library Available

It was pointed out that the library at Rondout Valley Central School at Kyserike was open to the public during school hours and negotiations are in progress to have the library open during certain evening hurs.

Friend Sheldon presented maps and a deed of a road which he plans to dedicate to the town. It was agreed that Town Board members and Highway Superintendent Richard T. Gray will inspect the road prior to acceptance.

A communication from the Association of Towns was read in regard to the Uniform Commercial Code which will become effective Sept. 27. The new arrangement will mean a loss of revenue to towns as chattel mortgages and conditional sales will be filed in the county clerk's office rather than with the town clerk.

A resolution was passed asking the Legislature to reveal the code. A copy was sent to Assembly Kenneth L. Wilson.

Planner Resigns

The resignation of Nate Friedman as a member of the Planning Board was accepted with regret. He told the board he could no longer give the time needed for the position. The board appointed Angela Pellicane to fill the unexpired 2½ year term.

A resolution approved, dissolved the Multiple Residence Grievance Board as no further need was seen for this office.

The number of constables for the township was limited to seven by a resolution approved by the board.

Superintendent of Highways Gray was authorized to secure information on a used bulldozer which he advised was needed by the town. He also said the town needed a heavy duty truck.

Supervisor Franklin S. Kelder presided.

Editors to Meet June 14-16 Week

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—The State Society of Newspaper Editors announced today it would hold its next meeting at Niagara Falls on June 14-16.

The society also tentatively chose Long Island as the site of a 1965 meeting.

About 100 newspaper executives attended today's opening session of a two-day joint meeting of the Editors' Society and the State Publishers Association.

The presidency of the publishers' group passed from Stephen Rogers of the Syracuse Herald-Journal to Edwin S. Underhill 3rd of the Corning Leader.

At the morning session, the executives heard a panel discussion on teletypesetter operations from an editorial mechanical and management viewpoint. The panelists were George H. Bevan, editor of the Corning Leader, Thomas P. Dolan, general manager of the Newburgh Evening News, and Robert A. Hunter, production manager of the New Haven, Conn., Register and Journal-Courier.

The luncheon speaker was Gilbert Seldes, dean emeritus of the Annenberg School of Communications at the University of Pennsylvania.

The admission of 10 new members brought the size of the editors' group to 139. The Publishers Association has 61 members representing 78 newspapers.

League of Women Voters National Board Proposals

Mrs. David Gerbarg, president of the League of Women Voters of Kingston, made known today the recommendations of the national board of the league of Women Voters of the United States for a 1964-66 program of study and action for consideration by League members throughout the country. The recommended new program, resulting from an analysis of suggestions submitted by well over 900 state and local Leagues, was proposed by the national board during its six-day meeting in Washington last month.

The proposed agenda includes one new program subject—Equality of Opportunity: evaluation of U. S. policies and programs to provide for all citizens equality of opportunity for education and employment.

In addition, Mrs. Gerbarg said the national board also recommends that for the next two years Leagues continue to study and take action on foreign economic policy, the United Nations, and water resources conservation and development and, when appropriate, continue to take action in support of self-government for the District of Columbia, against constitutional limitations on tax rates, and against limitation of presidential treaty-making powers.

Mrs. Gerbarg added that the proposed program, sent for comment to all state and local Leagues at the conclusion of the League's national board meeting, will be fully discussed by the Kingston League and thoroughly debated before a program is adopted at the League's biennial national Convention in Pittsburgh, April 20-24.

"The final choice," Mrs. Gerbarg said, "is ultimately up to the members working through their convention delegates and the proposal of the national board is not necessarily what will come out of convention."

The national board's recommendations stated that, through study of the problems of underdevelopment in other parts of the world, the League has come to see that education is a prime requisite for all development. Although many approaches can be made to the problems of the underdevelopment of human resources in our own country the League, through the "equal opportunity" proposal, would begin with the fundamentals of adequate education and its corollary, improved job opportunities.

In developing community understanding of the nature of the problem, the national board report continued, the League could examine and evaluate current government programs in such fields as vocational education and counseling, manpower retraining, employment services, area redevelopment, and regulation of migrant labor.

The Civil Rights Commission's proposals on education and employment, as well as relevant sections of existing civil rights legislation, could be studied, along with the possibility of improvement of and new approaches to present programs in the same areas.

Action could be taken on pertinent federal legislation in the education and employment field only following consensus of the League's membership.

The League of Women Voters of Kingston, in preparation for a 1964-66 national program, first held discussions of current issues last fall. Recommendations resulting from meetings of the Kingston League and similar discussions held by state and local league all over the country formed the basis of the national board's 1964-66 proposed program.

Rochester Board To Discontinue Bookmobile Plan

Rochester Town Board voted last week to discontinue the Bookmobile service and disposed of a variety of other business at its meeting held in Town Clerk's office, Accord.

Following a lengthy discussion and after hearing opinions expressed by several residents present, the board voted 3 to 2 to discontinue the service. The contract with Sullivan County for the Catskill Ramapo Library Association service costing $1,250 per year was not renewed.

School Library Available

It was pointed out that the library at Rondout Valley Central School at Kyserike was open to the public during school hours and negotiations are in progress to have the library open during certain evening hurs.

Friend Sheldon presented maps and a deed of a road which he plans to dedicate to the town. It was agreed that Town Board members and Highway Superintendent Richard T. Gray will inspect the road prior to acceptance.

A communication from the Association of Towns was read in regard to the Uniform Commercial Code which will become effective Sept. 27. The new arrangement will mean a loss of revenue to towns as chattel mortgages and conditional sales will be filed in the county clerk's office rather than with the town clerk.

A resolution was passed asking the Legislature to reveal the code. A copy was sent to Assembly Kenneth L. Wilson.

Planner Resigns

The resignation of Nate Friedman as a member of the Planning Board was accepted with regret. He told the board he could no longer give the time needed for the position. The board appointed Angela Pellicane to fill the unexpired 2½ year term.

A resolution approved, dissolved the Multiple Residence Grievance Board as no further need was seen for this office.

The number of constables for the township was limited to seven by a resolution approved by the board.

Superintendent of Highways Gray was authorized to secure information on a used bulldozer which he advised was needed by the town. He also said the town needed a heavy duty truck.

Supervisor Franklin S. Kelder presided.

Editors to Meet June 14-16 Week

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—The State Society of Newspaper Editors announced today it would hold its next meeting at Niagara Falls on June 14-16.

The society also tentatively chose Long Island as the site of a 1965 meeting.

About 100 newspaper executives attended today's opening session of a two-day joint meeting of the Editors' Society and the State Publishers Association.

The presidency of the publishers' group passed from Stephen Rogers of the Syracuse Herald-Journal to Edwin S. Underhill 3rd of the Corning Leader.

At the morning session, the executives heard a panel discussion on teletypesetter operations from an editorial mechanical and management viewpoint. The panelists were George H. Bevan, editor of the Corning Leader, Thomas P. Dolan, general manager of the Newburgh Evening News, and Robert A. Hunter, production manager of the New Haven, Conn., Register and Journal-Courier.

The luncheon speaker was Gilbert Seldes, dean emeritus of the Annenberg School of Communications at the University of Pennsylvania.

The admission of 10 new members brought the size of the editors' group to 139. The Publishers Association has 61 members representing 78 newspapers.

League of Women Voters National Board Proposals

Mrs. David Gerbarg, president of the League of Women Voters of Kingston, made known today the recommendations of the national board of the league of Women Voters of the United States for a 1964-66 program of study and action for consideration by League members throughout the country. The recommended new program, resulting from an analysis of suggestions submitted by well over 900 state and local Leagues, was proposed by the national board during its six-day meeting in Washington last month.

The proposed agenda includes one new program subject—Equality of Opportunity: evaluation of U. S. policies and programs to provide for all citizens equality of opportunity for education and employment.

In addition, Mrs. Gerbarg said the national board also recommends that for the next two years Leagues continue to study and take action on foreign economic policy, the United Nations, and water resources conservation and development and, when appropriate, continue to take action in support of self-government for the District of Columbia, against constitutional limitations on tax rates, and against limitation of presidential treaty-making powers.

Mrs. Gerbarg added that the proposed program, sent for comment to all state and local Leagues at the conclusion of the League's national board meeting, will be fully discussed by the Kingston League and thoroughly debated before a program is adopted at the League's biennial national Convention in Pittsburgh, April 20-24.

"The final choice," Mrs. Gerbarg said, "is ultimately up to the members working through their convention delegates and the proposal of the national board is not necessarily what will come out of convention."

The national board's recommendations stated that, through study of the problems of underdevelopment in other parts of the world, the League has come to see that education is a prime requisite for all development. Although many approaches can be made to the problems of the underdevelopment of human resources in our own country the League, through the "equal opportunity" proposal, would begin with the fundamentals of adequate education and its corollary, improved job opportunities.

The Civil Rights Commission's proposals on education and employment, as well as relevant sections of existing civil rights legislation, could be studied, along with the possibility of improvement of and new approaches to present programs in the same areas.

Action could be taken on pertinent federal legislation in the education and employment field only following consensus of the League's membership.

State Senator Jack Bronston Speaker for Democratic Club

One of the most aggressive and hard-hitting State Senators on the current Albany scene will add political laurels and programming interest to next week's meeting of the Woodstock Democratic Club. Scheduled to address the group at their February meeting at the Town House next Thursday, Feb. 20, at 8 p. m., is Senator Jack E. Bronston of New York City.

Bronston, one of the new breed of lawyers who has recently infiltrated the state and national political fields, is currently the ranking minority member of several important educational and legislative committees. He has been credited with a major role in obtaining additional state aid for New York City schools, and was a prime mover and leader in the now historic fight against arbitrary cancellation of auto insurance policies.

SENATOR BRONSTON

Interested In Education

His heavy work schedule in Albany has placed him on the Joint Legislative Committee to Revise the Education Law, and this credit alone is expected to interest many Woodstock parents and educators in his address here. In addition, he serves on the Joint Legislative Committee on School Financing, is ranking minority member of the Affairs of Cities Committee, and holds down seats on both the Agriculture and Civil Service and Pensions Committees. His capital city experience has also seen him serving on the Finance Committee and the Special Legislative Committee for the Revision and Simplification of the Constitution, both of which he has contributed to as a former member.

Still in his early forties, Bronston is a Harvard man, who received his A.B. from that college, graduating magna cum laude as a Phi Beta Kappa scholar. He also holds the LL.B. degree from Harvard Law School, as well as the LL.M. in Taxation from N.Y.U. Law School.

In Major Battles

Since his election to the State Senate, Bronston has been in the thick of the fight on two of the hottest subjects aired in Albany in recent years, education and reapportionment. He helped to pass major constitutional revisions and legislation for additional teachers in New York City schools, and served with distinction as a member of the Reapportionment Subcommittee of the former Constitutional Revision Committee.

An author as well as a lawyer and politician, Bronston has three books to his credit, including "Educational Finances", "A Program for Queens", and "Handbook for Homeowners".

The Senator is a veteran of World War II and served in the U. S. Marine Corps with Combat Intelligence from 1942-46. He saw active duty overseas on Guam and Okinawa and, in 1945, was stationed in Tientsin during the occupation of North China.

Active Figure

Married since 1948 to the former Adele Schwartz, he is the father of three children, and finds time to be active in the community and civic affairs of his home town. In addition to serving on the Citizens Budget Commission and the Academy of Religion and Mental Health, he is a director of the Flushing Boys Club, a former vice-president of the Jamaica Lodge of B'Nai Brith, and a member of the Hillcrest Jewish Center.

Senator Bronston's appearance here next week under the sponsorship of the Woodstock Democratic Club adds yet another illustrious name to a long line of distinguished speakers presented by the club in the past. The group has been responsible for the appearances here within the past several years of State Comptroller Arthur Levitt, internationally famed political scientist James MacGregor Burns, author-playwright and Congressional candidate Gore Vidal, and Assemblyman Jerome Kretchmer. The public is invited to attend Senator Bronston's address at the Town House next Thursday.

Albany Silver Exhibit Planned

The first comprehensive study of late 17th, 18th and early 19th century silver made in Albany has been undertaken by Curator Norman Rice of the Albany Institute of History and Art.

A special exhibition will be held at the Institute from March 15 through the month of April. A fully illustrated catalog, the third in the Cogswell Fund Series entitled "Albany Silver, 1660-1825" will be available shortly thereafter.

Though not comparable in quantity of production to such silversmith centers as New York, Boston and Philadelphia, Albany, both before and after the Revolutionary War and through the first quarter of the 19th century, was producing silver comparable in beauty of design and craftsmanship to that of the larger cities.

Work of the three Ten Eyks, the two Lansings, Cluet and Hutton will be represented by examples from the large collection of the Institute, as well as pieces borrowed from important private and museum collections.

One-Man Show

Salvatore Cascio of Schenectady will have an exhibition of his watercolors beginning February 25 at the Institute. A native of Italy, Cascio came to Schenectady, studied art and then taught in various schools. He has had a number of one-man shows and his prizes include a first in the 27th Regional at the Institute. He is also a commercial artist with the General Electric Company.

Ashokan Pupils Hear Lecture On Conservation

Bryan Burgin, a regional conservation officer, in a speech before the third and fourth graders at the Ashokan Annex of Onteora Central defined conservation as "the protection and management of all our natural resources so that they will be most beneficial to the greatest number of people over the longest period of time."

Asserting that children can make valuable contributions to the conservattion program, Burgin made several points during his talk. Fires are the enemies of birds, animals and trees. They can be prevented. He said: Make sure that burnable litter is burned in the camp fire when you are picnicking. Make doubly sure the fire is out by poking around it with a stick, pouring water on it, and covering it with dirt. Streams should be kept free of paper and refuse.

He told the youngsters that birds should be fed in winter. Make simple bird feeders for them. Many birds are insect eaters and they help rid the trees of them. The insect-eating birds have narrow pointed beaks. The chikadee is an important insect-eating bird. It tests the eggs of the tent caterpillar. Seed-eating birds have a broad, triangular beak and many of these birds eat weeds.

In the spring, if you find any wild life, leave it alone, Burgin stressed. If any has been injured, ask your parents to phone the conservation department. Do not molest birds' nests or trees.

Earthworms are beneficial to soil, they help areate the soil and allow water to seep in. If you need earthworms for bait when you go fishing, get them from people who make a business of raising them.

The children enjoyed the highly interesting talk and many questions were asked and answered. The third grade is taught by Mrs. Schlesinger and Mrs. Gray teaches the fourth grade. Further activities in science, social studies and language arts were stimulated by Burgin's visit to the school.

Kenyon Lecture Pleases Bennett School Audience

The following article is a report on a lecture demonstration by Raymond Kenyon, a professor of education at State University (New Paltz) before the pupils of the Reginald R. Bennett School at Boiceville. It was written by Ellen Schwarz and Jessie Wolf of the Sixth Grade at the Bennett school.

"Mr. Kenyon brought some of the rockets he built himself. He showed us that all through time man has wanted to go into space. The models he built went back to the eighth century. Most of the rockets he showed us were worked by CO_2 cartridges. The rockets of our time were mostly run by solid and liquid fuels, although all of his models were not. At the end of his performance, he displayed a space station he had built.

Examined by Pupils

"After the performance, some of the pupils went on the stage to inspect the rockets close up. Most of the space craft was made of balsam wood, except for the space station which was plastic.

"He stated that, although you may wish to try making and testing your own rocket, he advised against it without state consent, because you can get seriously injured. He said that even with a lot of experience you run the risk of getting injured. We all enjoyed his performance very much and we hope he will return."

Senior Citizens Set February 18 Meeting

Weather permitting, the Senior Citizens' monthly meeting will be held Tuesday, Feb. 18 at the Methodist Church hall.

A film on New York State will be shown through the courtesy of the New York Telephone Company. All interested persons 60 years and over are invited to attend.

Prose and Poetry Works Will Be In Book Form

Onteora Board of Education has authorized an appropriation not to exceed $1,100 to publish in book form outstanding prose and poetry works created by students in the Writers Workshop at Onteora Central.

Superintendent of Schools George R. Sullivan presented the prose and poetry by five students in a special workshop conducted by Miss Joan Silberstein. He suggested that these extremely good works be published in book form which would give the Onteora school an opportunity to demonstrate leadership in the creative arts.

During the discussion, it was suggested that the cost of paperbacks be investigated. Trustee Arthur P. Knight then moved that the appropriation be made available. It was seconded by Trustee Ebbs and carried unanimously.

State Aid Bills Passage Is Urged By OCS Board

Support of several bills now pending in the state legislature to increase state aid to public schools was urged by Trustee John W. Ebbs in his monthly report to the Onteora Board of Education. Ebbs serves as the board's legislative watchdog.

Ebbs urged that particular attention be given to the following bills:

SI 778 a) Raise ceiling on operation expenses in school districts from $500 to $585; b) allow districts with operating expenses below the $585 level to use current year expenditures as state aid basis; c) raise the required minimum local support from True Tax Rate of $9.00 to $9.50 scaled upward to $10.50 on property valuation.

SI 119 (a) — grant tax relief for persons over 65 years owning property in the school district.

SI 50 (a) — Permit use of state scholarships in colleges outside the state instead of only within the state.

Ebbs moved that the superintendent be directed to forward correspondence of supporting evidence to state legislators, committee chairmen, the Ulster County and New York State School Boards Association on the bills. He further moved that the superintendent inform local community organizations of the board's decision and to urge them to file support to the Educational Conference Board's recommendations.

Eliminate Plans For Large Gym At High School

The Onteora Board of Education has decided to eliminate the addition of a large two-station, 1,500-seat capacity gymnasium in new high school plans, as an economy move.

The board's decision was revealed in a report to a special Board of Education meeting at which Superintendent of Schools George R. Sullivan reported he, Trustee Raymond C. Cruthers and school architect Warren had met that day with the State Education Department officials to present preliminary high school alterations and plans for their approval.

Superintendent Sullivan noted that the existing high school site would probably meet state approval.

The board plans to substitute a smaller addition for physical education facilities. Trustee John W. Ebbs moved to rescind the motion made at the Jan. 20 meeting and that the estimate presented by the architectural firm be approved with the deletion of a two-station large gymnasium, thus cutting the cost by $175,000 to $1,291,000.

Collius Dissents

Trustee Arthur P. Knight seconded Ebbs' motion. On the roll call vote, Trustees Philip Gordon, board president; Ebbs, Knight, Herbert Epstein, Anne Larys and Herbert Shultis voted affirmatively. Trustee Lloyd Collins voted no. Trustees David Carlson and Cruthers were absent.

Also passed was a resolution determining the terms, form and details of issuance of $1,997,700 school district bonds-1964 for the Onteora Central Schools District and providing for their sale on Feb. 18, 1964. Placed on file were the legal documents prepared by the district bonding attorneys, Hawkins, Delafield and Wood covering the transaction.

Predicts GOP Has Candidates, Issues For Victory in 1964

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON (AP) —Republican National Chairman William E. Miller predicted today the "polsters notwithstanding" the GOP has the organization, the candidates and the issues to win in November.

That doesn't mean I welcome it," he told the National Press Club. "I think the whole business is pretty sickening, and I wish we could campaign on issues which do not strike at the personal integrity of officials in high places."

Hits Baker Handling

Miller, in his prepared remarks, accused the White House of a clumsy effort to frustrate the Senate Rules Committee investigation of Baker, who resigned under heat as secretary to the Senate Democratic majority.

Miller said information had been made available to several newsmen impugning the character of Don Reynolds, the insurance man who told the committee he gave then-Sen. Johnson a stereo set after selling a $100,000 insurance policy on his life.

The GOP chairman said there can be no doubt the dossiers "reportedly obtained from files in the possession of the Air Force, the State Department and the FBI" were leaked by persons "high in the present administration."

In addition to the issues, Miller said, the party had a stronger organization than in 1960 and "we will have a candidate chosen from the long list of people any one of whom can run this government better than any known Democrat."

Among those on "the long list"—

Sees Calif. Pivotal

Sen. Barry Goldwater opens his California campaign today, declaring that the winner of that state's primary "will be the Republican nominee." He set his own chances for the nomination at 50-50 "but I'm not betting yet."

New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller opens a three-day round of speeches, hand-shaking, coffee hours and teas as he presses his candidacy in preference primary, March 10.

As to contentions that the primary will be meaningless because of the large number of entrants, Rockefeller said "to those who lose, that probably will be the conclusion. But to the ones who won, it is going to be a very significant primary."

Also on the vote trail in New Hampshire, Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine said she has received a large number of contributions for her campaign, but "I don't know what to do with it because I don't usually take any campaign contributions."

Progress reports were given on the annual Industrial Exposition and Home Show scheduled for the Armory later in the spring.

Announcement also was made that the Lions will hold their Valentine dinner-dance Feb. 29.

A report was given on the clothing drive being held by the Salvation Army. A considerable amount of clothing has been given by Lions members.

LBJ Welcomes Home to Capital

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson welcomed Britain's prime minister to Washington today with a remark that the United States and Britain are much like two brothers who squabble occasionally "but whose ties are too strong ever to break."

Johnson, addressing Sir Alec-Douglas - Home in a formal ceremony at the north portico of the White House, said, "May God bless our work together."

Two-Day Talks

Looking ahead to two days of talks on a multitude of world trouble spots, Johnson said he and the prime minister will meet in friendship "with a high resolve to face our common problems and to try to solve them for the common good."

Douglas - Home said much of their talk undoubtedly will focus on ways and means to promote world order and stability.

The American and British chiefs normally confer a couple of times a year in the continuing close U.S.-British association.

Probable topics for the meetings between the two leaders included trade with the Communists, generally, and with Cuba, in particular; the state of the Western Alliance; Southeast Asia; and negotiations with the Soviet Union.

In Toronto, Douglas - Home made plain Tuesday night that Britain will refuse to cancel its sale of buses to Cuba or join the U.S. economic boycott of Cuba aimed at toppling Prime Minister Fidel Castro's regime.

In an address at the 60th anniversary dinner of the Empire Club of Canada, Douglas-Home called on the Soviet Union to join with the West in expanding trade with underdeveloped nations to relieve their poverty.

Would Oust Educators

CAMDEN, N.Y. (AP)—A citizens group is pressing for the removal of two school administrators who were reinstated last week after being fined and censured for alleged negligence in a morals case.

A 10-member committee calling itself the Citizens Committee of the Camden Central School District is circulating petitions demanding the ouster of Bruce R. Brummitt Jr., supervising principal of the district, and Robert Miles, a guidance counselor.

At least 800 persons attended a committee meeting here Monday night.

Rocky Endorsed By High Official Of Labor Union

WASHINGTON (AP)—The endorsement of Republican presidential hopeful Nelson Rockefeller by a high AFL-CIO official fell with something of a dull thud among other leaders of the "House of Labor."

A spokesman at AFL - CIO headquarters said in a slightly pained voice that at least one member of the official family frequently has "exercised his right as a citizen to be on the wrong side."

The current maverick in the traditionally Democratic labor camp is Lee W. Minton, president of the Glass Bottle Blowers Association, a vice president of the AFL-CIO and a member of its ruling executive council.

Minton announced in New York the formation of a "National Labor for Rockefeller Committee" and said he expected a number of other union leaders throughout the nation to join the New York governor's camp within the next few days.

Girl, 6, Fatally Hurt in Dutchess, On Way to School

While on her way to school at 8 a. m. today Lori Elena Cioffi, six year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cioffi of Rossway Road, Pleasant Valley was fatally injured when hit by a car on Route 44 in that community.

The child was Dutchess County's sixth highway fatality of 1964.

Sheriff's Sgt. Hugh Brennan told The Freeman the girl's father had taken her to school and as she walked across the highway toward the Pleasant Valley grade school she was hit and hurled into the air by a 1961 car operated by Gus Joseph Tancredi, 23, of LaGrangeville.

Brennan said the car operator told deputies he failed to observe the child. She was taken to St. Francis Hospital, Poughkeepsie in the Pleasant Valley Fire Department Ambulance. She died at 10:30 a. m. of a skull fracture and internal injuries Sgt. Brennan said.

The fatality was investigated by South Millbrook State Police Chief Investigator Charles Borchers, Sgt. John Dakin and Deputy Albert Traver of the Dutchess County Sheriff's Office.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)— Inspired by American Telephone's stock rights offering, the stock market continued to rise early this afternoon in unusually active trading for Lincoln's birthday.

Gains of fractions to about a point among key stocks outnumbered gainers. A scattering of selected issues put on a stronger performance.

AT&T's setting of a $100 price per share for stock which owners of 20 shares may subscribe to was a windfall for "Telephone's" army of 2¼-million shareholders.

Both AT&T common and the rights—which began trading on a when-issued basis—were delayed an hour before they opened.

Telephone rights opened on a monster block of 2 million at 29-32 (about $2.28) and rose fractionally in later dealings.

AT&T common opened on a big block of 20,000 shares, up 1¼ at 147¼ and also improved slightly in later dealings.

Elsewhere in the list, savings-and-loan holding companies resumed their rally, with gains running to more than a point. Big Three motors, nonferrous metals, aerospace issues, electrical equipments, rails, office equipments and drugs worked generally higher.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange advanced in moderately active trading.

New Type Clinic Is Suggested For Safe Smoking

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A new kind of smokers' clinic—for people who enjoy and want to continue cigarettes—was suggested today by a chest specialist.

The clinics would teach how to smoke safely, without inhaling, said Dr. Alvan L. Barach of New York City.

He said one method is to take a puff of smoke into your mouth. Close your lips firmly. Then inhale air deeply through the nose. Then exhale — of course.

No Evidence, He Says

Dr. Barach told the New York State Medical Society, "There is no scientific evidence that non-inhaling smoking causes cancer of the lung" and other diseases.

"As physicians, we must be careful not to indict the non-irritant smoking of the non-inhaler just because excessive inhaling smoking is harmful, nor to support a war against enjoyment unless harm can be demonstrated in each individual case," he said.

Dr. Barach commented on a speech presented by Dr. Richard H. Overholt of Boston on "The Physician's Obligation to the Public Regarding Cigarette Smoking."

Up to the Medicos

Dr. Overholt, of Tufts University and the Overholt Clinic, in his text declared the medical profession must be the leader in dissuading people from smoking because "'the government cannot and will not be the emancipator."

Dr. Overholt said doctors should "convincingly advise relatives, friends and patients of the immediate and long-term ill effects of smoking" while avoiding "'any Carrie Nation type of prohibition."

Dr. Overholt declared the "devastation" from smoking "is far greater than smallpox or the plague ever was."

Johnson's OT May Stir Protest by U.S. Automakers

DETROIT (AP)—Auto manufacturers were reported "up in arms" today over President Johnson's proposal to create more jobs by forcing employers in selected industries to pay double overtime rates.

"Their indignation has reached the point where it may take the form of an industry-wide protest," it was reported by Jack Crellin, industry writer for the Detroit News.

The protest, Crellin said, would be based on the grounds that the double time plan, if approved by Congress, could result in unwarranted government interference in the conduct of private business.

"Further," he wrote, "there is a feeling among many of the top industry labor relations people that the President's recommendations will put them at a disadvantage at the bargaining table when negotiations open with the United Auto Workers in midsummer."

In his State of the Union message last month, Johnson asked Congress to provide machinery whereby the present time-and-a-half rate for overtime work could be boosted to double time in industries where such a move would increase employment.

Administration spokesmen left no doubt the auto industry was one he had in mind.

Motorists Are Advised To Remove 1963 Plates

Kingston Police Department issued a warning today that several motorists have been given summonses for displaying last year's license plate on the front of the car.

Last year's plate should be removed even if the motorist has the same number this year. Display of last year's plate is illegal and those discovered by police will be issued summonses.

One Bid Received On New Bulldozer For Refuse Area

Only one bid was received for a bulldozer needed in the city refuse area, it was reported at Tuesday night's meeting of Kingston Board of Public Works held in the mayor's office.

H. O. Penn Machinery Company submitted a bid of $22,770. The emergency action was taken by the board to replace the nine-year-old equipment which broke down and could not be repaired.

Following a check of the specifications the Common Council must authorize a bond issue for the new equipment, possibly at a special meeting.

In other business the board approved payment to James Berardi, contractor for alteration work to the sewage treatment plant and a new sewer inceptor including pumphouses and pipe lines.

Alderman-at-Large Joseph F. Carroll Jr., serving as acting mayor in the absence of Mayor John J. Schwenk, presided at the session. Mayor Schwenk is vacationing in Florida.

Friday Deadline For PhoneWorker To Vote on Union

There has been "good response" from the approximate 620 local telephone company workers who are qualified to vote in the present dispute as to whether they shall continue to be represented by the Communications Workers of America or shift to the Teamsters' Union, it was reported today by Harold Van Etten, president of Local 1120, CWA.

The vote is being conducted by secret mail ballot and all ballots to be eligible for count must be postmarked by midnight on Friday. The ballots go to the National Labor Relations Board in New York City, where after being counted, the result will be announced on February 18.

Included in those eligible to vote are employes of the plant department. This includes the maintenance, construction, assignment bureau clerks, truck drivers, supply and engineering department employes.

President Van Etten of Local No. 1120, said response from members of the CWA throughout the state at meetings called by the Teamsters Union had not been "good" compared to meetings which had been called by the CWA and that the outlook appeared to be "good for us" to continue CWA representation.

The vote is being conducted to determine whether the telephone workers want to switch from the CWA to the Teamsters Union.

As a result of the conflict a representative election is being conducted by the National Labor Relations Board to determine which local will represent about 24,000 throughout the state.

Meetings have been held at various places at which time arguments as to which union should represent the workers have been presented.

Birnbaum's Views

Another education - group spokesman, Eliot Birnbaum of the Empire State Federation of Teachers, also called for an increase in the $500 ceiling on aid.

At the same time, Birnbaum spoke out against the State Education Department's move to correct racial imbalance in the public schools.

He said in his prepared statement:

"What is needed is not so - called 'racially balanced' schools...but rather educationally balanced schools, where each child will receive an education that will prepare him to find a useful and respected place in our society."

Among witnesses from New York City was Dr. Gustave G. Rosenberg, chairman of the city's board of higher education. He called for a $1.5-million increase in state aid for the city university's graduate program and asked the state to share in a $2.1-million program to bring more freshmen into the university.

Nyerere Urges Force to Check Further Mutiny

DAR ES SALAAM, Tanganyika (AP) — President Julius Nyerere of Tanganyika called on the new organization of African unity today to consider forming a temporary African security force to prevent recurrence of the army mutinies that shook East Africa last month.

Nyerere told the 33-nation conference urgent action was needed to end the "national humilitation" experienced when British troops had to be called to put down last month's military mutinies in Tanganyika, Kenya and Uganda.

Nyerere said there was no evidence "to suggest that the mutinies in Tanganyika were inspired by outside forces, either Communist or imperialist."

The mutinies in all three countries were aimed ostensibly at the British officers commanding native troops, but all challenged the authority of the new African governments.

Nyerere said it would take considerable time to train native troops to operate without British help.

"It may well be," he said, "that Africa can find from Africa means of assisting Tanganyika in the task of maintaining law and order while we are training our forces.

"In matters of this kind the cooperation of other states is required and we are concerned that problems arising from the mutiny should be dealt with in a way which fosters and not harms the common objective of African unity."

Ideals in Crisis, Pope's Message on Beginning of Lent

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul VI told preachers and parish priests of Roman Catholic church today that modern life has become characterized by doubt, public scandal and spiritual confusion.

The Pope, who spoke to the Lenten preachers in the Sistine Chapel on the occasion of Ash Wednesday, said;

"Ideals are in crisis; philosophy has been replaced by calculations of immediate utility. Fears that things are worsening, as if this were inevitable, overcome the spirit, while spiritual and moral gains no longer are in fashion.

"The word of the spirit seems to have been left in the scabbard of doubt and spiritual confusion. Exactly for this reason, the message of the religious truth must be made to resound with the greatest strength."

The Pope added:

"Public morality (is) every day doubly offended by miserable scandals of bad customs and by publicity which spread them (the scandals) and makes pastures of those openly immoral spectacles which dishonor art, corrupt people, ignore the secret character of life and, what is worse, offend the law of God."

The Pope urged the preachers "to stimulate the spirits to better thoughts and aims," a thing which he said was in the present day "an urgent and grave task."

Growth 'Speculating' Offers Future Profits

Q) "I am considering speculating with about $1,000 in the stock market. Please tell me which of the following you would consider best for me: IBM, American Tel & Tel., or American Can?" — C. S.

A) I should hardly consider that you were speculating if you bought any of the stocks you list, except for the always present possibility of price fluctuations.

I presume that future profits are your reason for purchase. If that is so, we can easily eliminate American Can. This company probably earned little better in 1963 than it did a decade earlier and the price also has been static.

IBM is one of the strongest growth stocks on the list but sells at a high price-earnings ratio and would not be my choice for what appears to be an initial purchase.

That leaves American Telephone, a fine performer, which plans an increase dividend, a rights offering and a stock split. I believe it is a good buy even at present relatively high levels.

Q) "I fel that I have too much money in savings banks, where interest rates are currently relatively high and may not stay so forever. I am temperamentally unfitted to hold stocks because price fluctuations bother me. My income from business and real estate puts me into the 30 per cent income braket. Into what medium do you think I might syphon off $25,000, where the interest rate would be fixed?" — C. A.

A) For a man in your position, I recommend the purchase of $25,000 in tax-exempt bonds.

These are of very high quality and in your bracket would bring you a better return than you could get from any other well-secured fixed income security. There are currently available City of New York 3.30's (when issued) due 1988 on a 3.40 basis.

The taxable equivalent yield in your income bracket would be 4.64 per cent, based on the Federal income tax alone.

Hoffa Will Ask Higher Court for Spy Charge Help

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — James R. Hoffa, charging the FBI is spying on his every move and the judge in his jury-tampering trial won't do anything about it, says he will ask a higher court for help.

The Teamsters President's charge overshadowed the wind-up today of cross-examination of the government's chief witness, Edward G. Partin of Baton Rouge, La. Partin began his testimony eight days ago.

Hoffa said his attorneys will ask the 6th Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati to compel Dist. Judge Frank Wilson to listen to his charges.

Wilson's refusal to interrupt the trial, now in its 18th day, for a special hearing to consider the matter means "we are being denied our constitutional rights," Hoffa said at a news conference Tuesday.

Chief Prosecutor James F. Neal of Washington flatly denied government agents were watching Hoffa, his five co-defendants or their lawyers.

The defense has charged nearly every day since the trial began Jan. 20 that its activities were being observed. But Hoffa injected something new—an affidavit from a self-styled professional wiretapper, Bernard B. Spindel of New York.

Hoffa, who will be 51 on Valentine's Day, and the other five are being tried for allegedly attempting to fix the jury in his 1962 conspiracy trial at Nashville. That trial ended with a hung jury.

In his affidavit, Spindel said he was hired by Hoffa "to detect whether or not there is or has been surveillance of the defendants."

Moonport Pickets Are Halted by U.S. Court Order

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) —A federal court order, issued just before midnight Tuesday, has halted union picketing which had stopped $213-million worth of construction on Cape Kennedy and the adjacent Merritt Island moonport.

U.S. Dist. Judge George C. Young issued a temporary restraining order requested by the National Labor Relations Board. The ruling directed the Order of Railroad Telegraphers, AFL-CIO to withdraw picket lines.

The action opened the way for 3,200 construction workers who had honored the lines to return to work.

Judge Young declared the restraining order effective until 5 p.m. Thursday. He set another hearing for NLRB and union attorneys for 2 p.m. that day, at which time he indicated he could extend the order.

The Telegraphers, one of 11 nonoperating unions which struck the Florida East Coast Railway 13 months ago, established picket lines here Monday to protest movement of one of the line's freight trains onto new government - owned track on Merritt Island. The National Aeronautics and Space Administration is building facilities on the island to launch American astronauts to the moon.

Predicts GOP Has Candidates, Issues For Victory in 1964

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON (AP) —Republican National Chairman William E. Miller predicted today the "polsters notwithstanding" the GOP has the organization, the candidates and the issues to win in November.

That doesn't mean I welcome it," he told the National Press Club. "I think the whole business is pretty sickening, and I wish we could campaign on issues which do not strike at the personal integrity of officials in high places."

Hits Baker Handling

Miller, in his prepared remarks, accused the White House of a clumsy effort to frustrate the Senate Rules Committee investigation of Baker, who resigned under heat as secretary to the Senate Democratic majority.

Miller said information had been made available to several newsmen impugning the character of Don Reynolds, the insurance man who told the committee he gave then-Sen. Johnson a stereo set after selling a $100,000 insurance policy on his life.

The GOP chairman said there can be no doubt the dossiers "reportedly obtained from files in the possession of the Air Force, the State Department and the FBI" were leaked by persons "high in the present administration."

In addition to the issues, Miller said, the party had a stronger organization than in 1960 and "we will have a candidate chosen from the long list of people any one of whom can run this government better than any known Democrat."

Among those on "the long list"—

Sees Calif. Pivotal

Sen. Barry Goldwater opens his California campaign today, declaring that the winner of that state's primary "will be the Republican nominee." He set his own chances for the nomination at 50-50 "but I'm not betting yet."

New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller opens a three-day round of speeches, hand-shaking, coffee hours and teas as he presses his candidacy in preference primary, March 10.

As to contentions that the primary will be meaningless because of the large number of entrants, Rockefeller said "to those who lose, that probably will be the conclusion. But to the ones who won, it is going to be a very significant primary."

Also on the vote trail in New Hampshire, Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine said she has received a large number of contributions for her campaign, but "I don't know what to do with it because I don't usually take any campaign contributions."

A report was given on the clothing drive being held by the Salvation Army. A considerable amount of clothing has been given by Lions members.

LBJ Welcomes Home to Capital

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson welcomed Britain's prime minister to Washington today with a remark that the United States and Britain are much like two brothers who squabble occasionally "but whose ties are too strong ever to break."

Johnson, addressing Sir Alec-Douglas - Home in a formal ceremony at the north portico of the White House, said, "May God bless our work together."

Two-Day Talks

Looking ahead to two days of talks on a multitude of world trouble spots, Johnson said he and the prime minister will meet in friendship "with a high resolve to face our common problems and to try to solve them for the common good."

Douglas - Home said much of their talk undoubtedly will focus on ways and means to promote world order and stability.

The American and British chiefs normally confer a couple of times a year in the continuing close U.S.-British association.

Probable topics for the meetings between the two leaders included trade with the Communists, generally, and with Cuba, in particular; the state of the Western Alliance; Southeast Asia; and negotiations with the Soviet Union.

In Toronto, Douglas - Home made plain Tuesday night that Britain will refuse to cancel its sale of buses to Cuba or join the U.S. economic boycott of Cuba aimed at toppling Prime Minister Fidel Castro's regime.

In an address at the 60th anniversary dinner of the Empire Club of Canada, Douglas-Home called on the Soviet Union to join with the West in expanding trade with underdeveloped nations to relieve their poverty.

At least 800 persons attended a committee meeting here Monday night.

Rocky Endorsed By High Official Of Labor Union

WASHINGTON (AP)—The endorsement of Republican presidential hopeful Nelson Rockefeller by a high AFL-CIO official fell with something of a dull thud among other leaders of the "House of Labor."

A spokesman at AFL - CIO headquarters said in a slightly pained voice that at least one member of the official family frequently has "exercised his right as a citizen to be on the wrong side."

The current maverick in the traditionally Democratic labor camp is Lee W. Minton, president of the Glass Bottle Blowers Association, a vice president of the AFL-CIO and a member of its ruling executive council.

Minton announced in New York the formation of a "National Labor for Rockefeller Committee" and said he expected a number of other union leaders throughout the nation to join the New York governor's camp within the next few days.

Girl, 6, Fatally Hurt in Dutchess, On Way to School

While on her way to school at 8 a. m. today Lori Elena Cioffi, six year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cioffi of Rossway Road, Pleasant Valley was fatally injured when hit by a car on Route 44 in that community.

The child was Dutchess County's sixth highway fatality of 1964.

Sheriff's Sgt. Hugh Brennan told The Freeman the girl's father had taken her to school and as she walked across the highway toward the Pleasant Valley grade school she was hit and hurled into the air by a 1961 car operated by Gus Joseph Tancredi, 23, of LaGrangeville.

Brennan said the car operator told deputies he failed to observe the child. She was taken to St. Francis Hospital, Poughkeepsie in the Pleasant Valley Fire Department Ambulance. She died at 10:30 a. m. of a skull fracture and internal injuries Sgt. Brennan said.

The fatality was investigated by South Millbrook State Police Chief Investigator Charles Borchers, Sgt. John Dakin and Deputy Albert Traver of the Dutchess County Sheriff's Office.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)— Inspired by American Telephone's stock rights offering, the stock market continued to rise early this afternoon in unusually active trading for Lincoln's birthday.

Gains of fractions to about a point among key stocks outnumbered gainers. A scattering of selected issues put on a stronger performance.

AT&T's setting of a $100 price per share for stock which owners of 20 shares may subscribe to was a windfall for "Telephone's" army of 2¼-million shareholders.

Both AT&T common and the rights—which began trading on a when-issued basis—were delayed an hour before they opened.

Telephone rights opened on a monster block of 2 million at 29-32 (about $2.28) and rose fractionally in later dealings.

AT&T common opened on a big block of 20,000 shares, up 1¼ at 147¼ and also improved slightly in later dealings.

Elsewhere in the list, savings-and-loan holding companies resumed their rally, with gains running to more than a point. Big Three motors, nonferrous metals, aerospace issues, electrical equipments, rails, office equipments and drugs worked generally higher.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange advanced in moderately active trading.

New Type Clinic Is Suggested For Safe Smoking

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A new kind of smokers' clinic—for people who enjoy and want to continue cigarettes—was suggested today by a chest specialist.

The clinics would teach how to smoke safely, without inhaling, said Dr. Alvan L. Barach of New York City.

He said one method is to take a puff of smoke into your mouth. Close your lips firmly. Then inhale air deeply through the nose. Then exhale — of course.

No Evidence, He Says

Dr. Barach told the New York State Medical Society, "There is no scientific evidence that non-inhaling smoking causes cancer of the lung" and other diseases.

"As physicians, we must be careful not to indict the non-irritant smoking of the non-inhaler just because excessive inhaling smoking is harmful, nor to support a war against enjoyment unless harm can be demonstrated in each individual case," he said.

Dr. Barach commented on a speech presented by Dr. Richard H. Overholt of Boston on "The Physician's Obligation to the Public Regarding Cigarette Smoking."

Up to the Medicos

Dr. Overholt, of Tufts University and the Overholt Clinic, in his text declared the medical profession must be the leader in dissuading people from smoking because "the government cannot and will not be the emancipator."

Dr. Overholt said doctors should "convincingly advise relatives, friends and patients of the immediate and long-term ill effects of smoking" while avoiding "any Carrie Nation type of prohibition."

Dr. Overholt declared the "devastation" from smoking "is far greater than smallpox or the plague ever was."

Johnson's OT May Stir Protest by U.S. Automakers

DETROIT (AP)—Auto manufacturers were reported "up in arms" today over President Johnson's proposal to create more jobs by forcing employers in selected industries to pay double overtime rates.

"Their indignation has reached the point where it may take the form of an industry-wide protest," it was reported by Jack Crellin, industry writer for the Detroit News.

The protest, Crellin said, would be based on the grounds that the double time plan, if approved by Congress, could result in unwarranted government interference in the conduct of private business.

"Further," he wrote, "there is a feeling among many of the top industry labor relations people that the President's recommendations will put them at a disadvantage at the bargaining table when negotiations open with the United Auto Workers in midsummer."

In his State of the Union message last month, Johnson asked Congress to provide machinery whereby the present time-and-a-half rate for overtime work could be boosted to double time in industries where such a move would increase employment.

Administration spokesmen left no doubt the auto industry was one he had in mind.

Motorists Are Advised To Remove 1963 Plates

Kingston Police Department issued a warning today that several motorists have been given summonses for displaying last year's license plate on the front of the car.

Last year's plate should be removed even if the motorist has the same number this year. Display of last year's plate is illegal and those discovered by police will be issued summonses.

One Bid Received On New Bulldozer For Refuse Area

Only one bid was received for a bulldozer needed in the city refuse area, it was reported at Tuesday night's meeting of Kingston Board of Public Works held in the mayor's office.

H. O. Penn Machinery Company submitted a bid of $22,770. The emergency action was taken by the board to replace the nine-year-old equipment which broke down and could not be repaired.

Following a check of the specifications the Common Council must authorize a bond issue for the new equipment, possibly at a special meeting.

In other business the board approved payment to James Berardi, contractor for alteration work to the sewage treatment plant and a new sewer inceptor including pumphouses and pipe lines.

Alderman-at-Large Joseph F. Carroll Jr., serving as acting mayor in the absence of Mayor John J. Schwenk, presided at the session. Mayor Schwenk is vacationing in Florida.

Friday Deadline For PhoneWorker To Vote on Union

There has been "good response" from the approximate 620 local telephone company workers who are qualified to vote in the present dispute as to whether they shall continue to be represented by the Communications Workers of America or shift to the Teamsters' Union, it was reported today by Harold Van Etten, president of Local 1120, CWA.

The vote is being conducted by secret mail ballot and all ballots to be eligible for count must be postmarked by midnight on Friday. The ballots go to the National Labor Relations Board in New York City, where after being counted, the result will be announced on February 18.

Included in those eligible to vote are employes of the plant department. This includes the maintenance, construction, assignment bureau clerks, truck drivers, supply and engineering department employes.

President Van Etten of Local No. 1120, said response from members of the CWA throughout the state at meetings called by the Teamsters Union had not been "good" compared to meetings which had been called by the CWA and that the outlook appeared to be "good for us" to continue CWA representation.

The vote is being conducted to determine whether the telephone workers want to switch from the CWA to the Teamsters Union.

As a result of the conflict a representative election is being conducted by the National Labor Relations Board to determine which local will represent about 24,000 throughout the state.

Meetings have been held at various places at which time arguments as to which union should represent the workers have been presented.

Birnbaum's Views

Another education - group spokesman, Eliot Birnbaum of the Empire State Federation of Teachers, also called for an increase in the $500 ceiling on aid.

At the same time, Birnbaum spoke out against the [illegible] Education Department's move to correct racial imbalance in the public schools.

He said in his prepared statement:

"What is needed is not so - called 'racially balanced' schools...but rather educationally balanced schools, where each child will receive an education that will prepare him to find a useful and respected place in our society."

Among witnesses from New York City was Dr. Gustave G. Rosenberg, chairman of the city's board of higher education. He called for a $1.5-million increase in state aid for the city university's graduate program and asked the state to share in a $2.1-million program to bring more freshmen into the university.

Nyerere Urges Force to Check Further Mutiny

DAR ES SALAAM, Tanganyika (AP) — President Julius Nyerere of Tanganyika called on the new organization of African unity today to consider forming a temporary African security force to prevent recurrence of the army mutinies that shook East Africa last month.

Nyerere told the 33-nation conference urgent action was needed to end the "national humilitation" experienced when British troops had to be called to put down last month's military mutinies in Tanganyika, Kenya and Uganda.

Nyerere said there was no evidence "to suggest that the mutinies in Tanganyika were inspired by outside forces, either Communist or imperialist."

The mutinies in all three countries were aimed ostensibly at the British officers commanding native troops, but all challenged the authority of the new African governments.

Nyerere said it would take considerable time to train native troops to operate without British help.

"It may well be," he said, "that Africa can find from Africa means of assisting Tanganyika in the task of maintaining law and order while we are training our forces.

"In matters of this kind the cooperation of other states is required and we are concerned that problems arising from the mutiny should be dealt with in a way which fosters and not harms the common objective of African unity."

Ideals in Crisis, Pope's Message on Beginning of Lent

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul VI told preachers and parish priests of Roman Catholic church today that modern life has become characterized by doubt, public scandal and spiritual confusion.

The Pope, who spoke to the Lenten preachers in the Sistine Chapel on the occasion of Ash Wednesday, said:

"Ideals are in crisis; philosophy has been replaced by calculations of immediate utility. Fears that things are worsening, as if this were inevitable, overcome the spirit, while spiritual and moral gains no longer are in fashion.

"The word of the spirit seems to have been left in the scabbard of doubt and spiritual confusion. Exactly for this reason, the message of the religious truth must be made to resound with the greatest strength."

The Pope added:

"Public morality (is) every day doubly offended by miserable scandals of bad customs and by publicity which spread them (the scandals) and makes pastures of those openly immoral spectacles which dishonor art, corrupt people, ignore the secret character of life and, what is worse, offend the law of God."

The Pope urged the preachers "to stimulate the spirits to better thoughts and aims," a thing which he said was in the present day "an urgent and grave task."

Growth 'Speculating' Offers Future Profits

Q) "I am considering speculating with about $1,000 in the stock market. Please tell me which of the following you would consider best for me: IBM, American Tel & Tel., or American Can?" — C. S.

A) I should hardly consider that you were speculating if you bought any of the stocks you list, except for the always present possibility of price fluctuations.

I presume that future profits are your reason for purchase. If that is so, we can easily eliminate American Can. This company probably earned little better in 1963 than it did a decade earlier and the price also has been static.

IBM is one of the strongest growth stocks on the list but sells at a high price-earnings ratio and would not be my choice for what appears to be an initial purchase.

That leaves American Telephone, a fine performer, which plans an increase dividend, a rights offering and a stock split. I believe it is a good buy even at present relatively high levels.

Q) "I fel that I have too much money in savings banks, where interest rates are currently relatively high and may not stay so forever. I am temperamentally unfitted to hold stocks because price fluctuations bother me. My income from business and real estate puts me into the 30 per cent income braket. Into what medium do you think I might syphon off $25,000, where the interest rate would be fixed?" — C. A.

A) For a man in your position, I recommend the purchase of $25,000 in tax-exempt bonds.

These are of very high quality and in your bracket would bring you a better return than you could get from any other well-secured fixed income security. There are currently available City of New York 3.30's (when issued) due 1988 on a 3.40 basis.

The taxable equivalent yield in your income bracket would be 4.64 per cent, based on the Federal income tax alone.

Hoffa Will Ask Higher Court for Spy Charge Help

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — James R. Hoffa, charging the FBI is spying on his every move and the judge in his jury-tampering trial won't do anything about it, says he will ask a higher court for help.

The Teamsters President's charge overshadowed the wind-up today of cross-examination of the government's chief witness, Edward G. Partin of Baton Rouge, La. Partin began his testimony eight days ago.

Hoffa said his attorneys will ask the 6th Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati to compel Dist. Judge Frank Wilson to listen to his charges.

Wilson's refusal to interrupt the trial, now in its 18th day, for a special hearing to consider the matter means "we are being denied our constitutional rights," Hoffa said at a news conference Tuesday.

Chief Prosecutor James F. Neal of Washington flatly denied government agents were watching Hoffa, his five co-defendants or their lawyers.

The defense has charged nearly every day since the trial began Jan. 20 that its activities were being observed. But Hoffa injected something new—an affidavit from a self-styled professional wiretapper, Bernard B. Spindel of New York.

Hoffa, who will be 51 on Valentine's Day, and the other five are being tried for allegedly attempting to fix the jury in his 1962 conspiracy trial at Nashville. That trial ended with a hung jury.

In his affidavit, Spindel said he was hired by Hoffa "to detect whether or not there is or has been surveillance of the defendants."

Moonport Pickets Are Halted by U.S. Court Order

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) —A federal court order, issued just before midnight Tuesday, has halted union picketing which had stopped $213-million worth of construction on Cape Kennedy and the adjacent Merritt Island moonport.

U.S. Dist. Judge George C. Young issued a temporary restraining order requested by the National Labor Relations Board. The ruling directed the Order of Railroad Telegraphers, AFL-CIO to withdraw picket lines.

The action opened the way for 3,200 construction workers who had honored the lines to return to work.

Judge Young declared the restraining order effective until 5 p.m. Thursday. He set another hearing for NLRB and union attorneys for 2 p.m. that day, at which time he indicated he could extend the order.

The Telegraphers, one of 11 nonoperating unions which struck the Florida East Coast Railway 13 months ago, established picket lines here Monday to protest movement of one of the line's freight trains onto new government - owned track on Merritt Island. The National Aeronautics and Space Administration is building facilities on the island to launch American astronauts to the moon.

President Johnson Has Thin Skin

Evidence Is Republicans May Bear Down on Criticism

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has a thin skin and some of his critics are getting under it already. He hit back. He called them "belly-achers," although he didn't identify them.

This evidence that Johnson can be irritated so early in a presidential campaign year will probably just encourage Republicans, who have been criticizing his handling of foreign policy, to do more of the same.

The degree of Johnson's irritation can be glimpsed from a part of a talk he made Tuesday to agents of the Internal Revenue Service.

Says He Was Careful

"When I became (Democratic) majority leader (in the Senate) when President Eisenhower was president, I took the position politics stopped at the water's edge," Johnson said.

"We had but one president and one commander in chief. I would support his policies and give him strength and comfort, and I would not be aligning myself with any enemies of the United States in criticizing him."

"That's pretty hard to digest in a country like this where the national football game traditionally has the out-party spending a lot of time criticizing a president and, in a campaign year like this, even more time.

Regarded as Enemies

He said critics of an administration in office can be "almost as much of a problem as some of our other enemies."

His talk at least had the effect of raising a pertinent question about himself. If he can get this hot this soon, what's his temperature going to be when the presidential campaign really gets rolling?

In the 1960 presidential campaign year—before he got the Democratic vice presidential nomination on the ticket with John F. Kennedy—Johnson was critical of Eisenhower's handling of foreign policy.

And he was critical before that during those years of his majority leadership, which he mentioned Tuesday.

If Johnson runs for election this year, as expected, and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon once again is the Republican presidential candidate, as he was in 1960, this will be the 1960 campaign in reverse.

Two Strong Critics

Among Republicans Nixon and Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, in particular, have been Johnson critics.

Although Goldwater is openly seeking the nomination, Nixon insists he is not a candidate while, at the same time, sounding more and more like one in his trips and speeches. He does say he'd accept a draft.

In that 1960 campaign Nixon, after two terms as Eisenhower's vice president, was in a political box. He had to defend the Eisenhower-Nixon foreign policy while Democrats were free to bang at it.

Johnson did his share of banging, although Kennedy did the most of the talking. Now Johnson will have to defend his policy while Nixon is free to criticize.

Must Puzzle Foreigners

In doing it now he sounds, in a way, like Johnson of 1960, which is one of those oddities in American politics which must make a foreigner wonder how Americans are ever able to choose between their politicians.

Recently Nixon said some areas of U.S. foreign policy need a "new direction." He mentioned Latin America, especially Panama, and Southeast Asia.

In 1960 Johnson said "we need a new, vigorous and different foreign policy," and he especially callled for a "positive and dynamic" policy for Latin America. He was also critical of American Asian policy.

The relationship between Johnson and Nixon, judging from what they have said about each other, could hardly be called clubby.

Nixon recently called Johnson a "past master of a political shell-game" with "something for everybody—liberal to the liberals, conservative to the conservatives."

In 1960 Johnson called Nixon "dangerous" and "deceptive" and accused him of resorting in the campaign that year "to the kind of language little boys write on fences."

Terrorism Continues

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — A grenade exploded in the front of the home of a U.S. Air Force captain tonight, blasting down the fence and smashing windows. No one was reported hurt.

U.S. sources said the incident was part of a Communist guerrilla campaign of terror against Americans in Saigon. They said the grenade apparently was thrown from the roadway in front of the house. It hit the fence and bounded back into the roadway before it went off.

The captain was not identified.

Today's highlight in history:

In 1733, Gen. James Oglethorpe and 35 families from England, Scotland and Ireland landed by ship at the site of Savannah where they settled the colony of Georgia.

In 1832, Ecuador took possession of the Galapagos Archipelago.

In 1898, the American Flag Association was formed to promote honor and respect for the U.S. flag.

In 1935, the U.S. Navy dirigible "Macon" sank off the California Coast with all but two of 83 persons aboard rescued.

In 1944, allied reinforcements began reaching the embattled Anzio Beachhead in Italy during World War II.

Castro Deals Himself Out Of Dollars by Water Cutoff

EDITOR'S NOTE — Edwin Tetlow, a British correspondent, spent six days at the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo after Cuba cut off the water supply, American newsmen since have been prevented by the government from going to the base and Tetlow was flown out Tuesday to Jamaica.

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP)—Fidel Castro only pinpricked the Americans but dealt himself out of precious U.S. dollars with his water cutoff of the naval base at Guantanamo Bay in eastern Cuba.

Water facilities at the U.S. base were almost back to normal only seven days after Castro turned off the taps in retaliation for the seizure of Cuban fishermen charged with fishing inside Florida waters.

By improvisation and with abundant help from Jamaica, the Americans now have enough water for everything except washing cars, watering lawns or wasteful uses. Abandoned was the strict rationing that gave them water only three times a day for periods of one hour each in the first days of the crisis.

Castro's action deprived him of $14,000 a month under a contract for the water. The speed with which he had been cashing this regular American check testified to the pinch caused by the shortage of U.S. currency.

It appears that the Americans are not going to use Castro's water again even if it should be offered. The plan is to make the base completely self-sufficient.

Millions of gallons of water had been stored at Guantanamo for just such an emergency. The American community of 10,000 persons, including 2,500 women and children, was prepared when Castro cut the pipeline from the Yateras River five miles away.

More than a week's supply was on hand when the water was cut off and more water is on the way from Jamaica and the United States.

Closed to the Public

Cape Kennedy, the 15,000-acre missile test center, is closed to the public. But an exhibit of Air Force Titan, Thor, Snark, Matador and Bomarc missiles is on display in front of the Technical Laboratory at Patrick Air Force Base, 15 miles south of the cape.

President Johnson Has Thin Skin

Evidence Is Republicans May Bear Down on Criticism

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has a thin skin and some of his critics are getting under it already. He hit back. He called them "belly-achers," although he didn't identify them.

This evidence that Johnson can be irritated so early in a presidential campaign year will probably just encourage Republicans, who have been criticizing his handling of foreign policy, to do more of the same.

The degree of Johnson's irritation can be glimpsed from a part of a talk he made Tuesday to agents of the Internal Revenue Service.

Says He Was Careful

"When I became (Democratic) majority leader (in the Senate) when President Eisenhower was president, I took the position politics stopped at the water's edge," Johnson said.

"We had but one president and one commander in chief. I would support his policies and give him strength and comfort, and I would not be aligning myself with any enemies of the United States in criticizing him."

That's pretty hard to digest in a country like this where the local football game traditionally has the out-party spending a lot of time criticizing a president and, in a campaign year like this, even more time.

Regarded as Enemies

He said critics of an administration in office can be "almost as much of a problem as some of our other enemies."

His talk at least had the effect of raising a pertinent question about himself. If he can get this hot this soon, what's his temperature going to be when the presidential campaign really gets rolling?

In the 1960 presidential campaign year—before he got the Democratic vice presidential nomination on the ticket with John F. Kennedy—Johnson was critical of Eisenhower's handling of foreign policy.

And he was critical before that during those years of his majority leadership, which he mentioned Tuesday.

If Johnson runs for election this year, as expected, and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon once again is the Republican presidential candidate, as he was in 1960, this will be the 1960 campaign in reverse.

Two Strong Critics

Among Republicans Nixon and Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, in particular, have been Johnson critics.

Although Goldwater is openly seeking the nomination, Nixon insists he is not a candidate while, at the same time, sounding more and more like one in his trips and speeches. He does say he'd accept a draft.

In that 1960 campaign Nixon, after two terms as Eisenhower's vice president, was in a political box. He had to defend the Eisenhower-Nixon foreign policy while Democrats were free to bang at it.

Johnson did his share of banging, although Kennedy did the most of the talking. Now Johnson will have to defend his policy while Nixon is free to criticize.

Must Puzzle Foreigners

In doing it now he sounds, in a way, like Johnson of 1960, which is one of those oddities in American politics which must make a foreigner wonder how Americans are ever able to choose between their politicians.

Recently Nixon said some areas of U.S. foreign policy need a "new direction." He mentioned Latin America, especially Panama, and Southeast Asia.

In 1960 Johnson said "we need a new, vigorous and different foreign policy," and he especially callled for a "positive and dynamic" policy for Latin America. He was also critical of American Asian policy.

The relationship between Johnson and Nixon, judging from what they have said about each other, could hardly be called clubby.

Nixon recently called Johnson a "past master of a political shell-game" with "something for everybody—liberal to the liberals, conservative to the conservatives."

In 1960 Johnson called Nixon "dangerous" and "deceptive" and accused him of resorting in the campaign that year "to the kind of language little boys write on fences."

Terrorism Continues

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — A grenade exploded in the front of the home of a U.S. Air Force captain tonight, blasting down the fence and smashing windows. No one was reported hurt.

U.S. sources said the incident was part of a Communist guerrilla campaign of terror against Americans in Saigon. They said the grenade apparently was thrown from the roadway in front of the house. It hit the fence and bounded back into the roadway before it went off.

The captain was not identified.

NEW "MAKE-UP" FOR HANDS DIMS FLAWS, FRECKLES AND DARK SPOTS

Scandia's new two-way treatment called Polished Hands is duo that lightens hands, helps conceal discoloration at the same time.

BY LIZ OGDEN

There are now new horizons in the beauty care of the hands! A new way to dim freckles, flaws and dark spots, and to put a coat of beauty on your hands just as you would smooth a skim of blandishing make-up on your face.

POLISHED HANDS is a two-step treatment to keep your hands looking youthfully light and flawless day or night.

IT IS IMPORTANT to follow the simple directions for this two-way beauty aid, to get the almost unbelievable results that occur.

MAKE UP YOUR HANDS after every handwashing with Polished Hands Cream. Stroke this pink coverage over your hands just like gloves, to dim-out spots, freckles, flaws. This is the part of the treatment that you will use daily, after every washing, to keep the hands looking beautifully light and free of dark grubby areas. Just slick, soft, lovely looking hands!

THE SECOND PART of this interesting new duo is the Polished Hands Buffing Lotion. This you will use every night to buff away dead cuticle, roughness, unpretty calluses. Buffing Lotion provides surgical cleanliness, lightens the total look and prepares your hands for the Cream.

THE EASE of use means you can keep Polished Hands Cream in your office desk, your travel case, tucked away in a dressing table drawer . . . any place where you spend lots of time, and wash your hands frequently.

A PINK PARASOL . . . that's how we think of Polished Hands Cream, with its faint fragrance and shady coolness. Along with friend Buffing Lotion, it can bring sore, sorry-looking hands back to beauty sometimes in minutes! and helps heal those painful nicks and hangnails, too.

TRIAL KIT of Polished Hands Cream and Buffing Lotion is 3.00 complete. Or larger sizes of the Cream come at 3.00, 5.00 and 8.00. Buffing Lotion, alone, at 3.00. All prices plus tax.

To start you on your way to beautiful hands be sure to stop in tomorrow at Shirley Melton's, 306 Wall St., Kingston

NEW "MAKE-UP" FOR HANDS DIMS FLAWS, FRECKLES AND DARK SPOTS

Scandia's new two-way treatment called Polished Hands is duo that lightens hands, helps conceal discoloration at the same time.

BY LIZ OGDEN

There are now new horizons in the beauty care of the hands! A new way to dim freckles, flaws and dark spots, and to put a coat of beauty on your hands just as you would smooth a skim of blandishing make-up on your face.

POLISHED HANDS is a two-step treatment to keep your hands looking youthfully light and flawless day or night.

IT IS IMPORTANT to follow the simple directions for this two-way beauty aid, to get the almost unbelievable results that occur.

MAKE UP YOUR HANDS after every handwashing with Polished Hands Cream. Stroke this pink coverage over your hands just like gloves, to dim-out spots, freckles, flaws. This is the part of the treatment that you will use daily, after every washing, to keep the hands looking beautifully light and free of dark grubby areas. Just slick, soft, lovely looking hands!

THE SECOND PART of this interesting new duo is the Polished Hands Buffing Lotion. This you will use every night to buff away dead cuticle, roughness, unpretty calluses.

Buffing Lotion provides surgical cleanliness, lightens the total look and prepares your hands for the Cream.

THE EASE of use means you can keep Polished Hands Cream in your office desk, your travel case, tucked away in a dressing table drawer . . . any place where you spend lots of time, and wash your hands frequently.

A PINK PARASOL . . . that's how we think of Polished Hands Cream, with its faint fragrance and shady coolness. Along with friend Buffing Lotion, it can bring sore, sorry-looking hands back to beauty sometimes in minutes! and helps heal those painful nicks and hangnails, too.

TRIAL KIT of Polished Hands Cream and Buffing Lotion is 3.00 complete. Or larger sizes of the Cream come at 3.00, 5.00 and 8.00. Buffing Lotion, alone, at 3.00. All prices plus tax.

To start you on your way to beautiful hands be sure to stop in tomorrow at Shirley Melton's, 306 Wall St., Kingston

Accused Police Slayer Returns To Capital City

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Ex-convict Harold P. Linn was returned to Albany from Chicago today to face a charge that he shot an Albany policeman to death when the latter interrupted a robbery.

Albany detectives brought Linn back by train after he waived extradition.

The 55-year-old handyman is accused of killing Sgt. Thomas P. McAvoy, 44, at a Manning Boulevard home Jan. 28 after terrorizing Mrs. Robert J. Huba and her six children and taking $32 from Mrs. Huba.

Linn was seized by FBI agents Feb. 5 in a hospital in Cicero, a Chicago suburb. He was there recovering from minor injuries received in an automobile accident.

Tuesday, Linn, who has served time for a second-degree murder conviction, waived extradition in Chicago Criminal Court.

He appeared before U.S. Commissioner C. S. Bentley. But when advised of his rights, he said:

"I'm willing to go back."

Cleared of Charge, Now Facing Another

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — An operator of a boating business was cleared today of a charge of conspiring to conceal stolen rare coins, after a judge dismissed the count.

However, Dist. Atty. Richard Thaler of Tompkins County said he would draw up a new charge against William Lower, 33, of Ithaca.

The original charge against Lower was dismissed Tuesday by Acting City Judge Kenneth Johnson. The judge ruled that court information presented by Thaler was insufficient and not backed by an affidavit.

Lower was the second man to be arrested in connection with the theft of a $10,000 coin collection from a home here.

Mrs. Oswald May Conclude Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — After a brief flareup of disputed testimony and confusion over her legal counsel, Mrs. Marguerite Oswald resumed today her testimony to the presidential commission investigating the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

It is the third and possibly final day of the story of her son, Lee Harvey Oswald, from his birth until his arrest in Dallas last Nov. 22. Oswald, charged with the sniper killing of Kennedy, was shot to death Nov. 24.

Chief Justice Earl Warren, chairman of the commission, declined to comment on any of her specific statements — including a reported contradiction of vital testimony given by Oswald's young widow, Marina. But he told questioners that it includes heresay, opinions and conjecture along with some relevant material.

Although the 56-year-old practical nurse from Fort Worth had asked the commission to obtain a lawyer for her because her own counsel was busy "on other matters," she turned up Tuesday with both lawyers.

One was the designated counsel, former Asst. U.S. Atty. John F. Doyle, of Washington. The other was Mark Lane of New York City, who said he was retained without fee by Mrs. Oswald four weeks ago, to represent her son.

Lane asked and was refused permission to join Doyle as Mrs. Oswald's counsel in the closed hearing room. Told that she must pick one attorney, she settled on Doyle.

Meetings Listed For Enrollment In Grain Program

Chairman Joseph Sauer of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Office advised that enrollment is now being taken for the 1964 Agricultural Conservation Program and Feed Grain Program.

Federal cost-sharing for carrying out conservation practices on agricultural land is available through the A.C.P. program. Some of the practices included in the list for 1964 in Ulster County are: liming, stripcropping, planting trees and woodland improvement, constructing ponds for livestock and irrigation, building drainage ditches and planting cover crops. Included again this year are practices for planting shrubs and trees for wildlife feed and cover and developing water and marsh areas for fish, Sauer said.

Under the Feed Grain Program, farmers will be paid for reducing their acreage of corn, sorghum or barley and diverting a like acreage of cropland to a soil conservation use during 1964. Farmers have been notified of their feed grain base and payment rates.

Farmers interested, may enroll in the programs at the ACS Office, 54 John Street, at any time; or, for the convenience of farmers, the following enrollment meetings have been scheduled.

Lloyd — Monday, Feb. 24, Highland Town Clerks Office, 1 to 4 p. m.

Plattekill — Tuesday, March 3, Plattekill Grange Hall, 10 to 4 p. m.

Chairman Sauer urged all farmers to enroll in the program if interested.

Dallas Students Send Four-Foot Card to Caroline

DALLAS (AP)— First-graders at a private Dallas school have sent poignant Valentine wishes to Caroline Kennedy, 6-year-old daughter of President Kennedy who was assassinated in Dallas Nov. 22.

The 44 children attend St. Thomas Aquinas School.

A lacy, four-foot-tall valentine was finished Tuesday, and a picture of it with the students was mailed to Caroline, along with hand-printed personal messages.

"Dear Caroline Kennedy," the valentine said. "We love you. Wish we could say this in person, but since we can't, have a happy Valentine's Day. Your first-grade friends."

In brief, simple letters, the children talked to Caroline.

Georgeann Brady, 6, wrote: "I hope you are smart in first grade. I am sorry that your daddy got shot. I bet he is in heaven. He was a good man."

Accused Police Slayer Returns To Capital City

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Ex-convict Harold P. Linn was returned to Albany from Chicago today to face a charge that he shot an Albany policeman to death when the latter interrupted a robbery.

Albany detectives brought Linn back by train after he waived extradition.

The 55-year-old handyman is accused of killing Sgt. Thomas P. McAvoy, 44, at a Manning Boulevard home Jan. 28 after terrorizing Mrs. Robert J. Huba and her six children and taking $32 from Mrs. Huba.

Linn was seized by FBI agents Feb. 5 in a hospital in Cicero, a Chicago suburb. He was there recovering from minor injuries received in an automobile accident.

Tuesday, Linn, who has served time for a second-degree murder conviction, waived extradition in Chicago Criminal Court.

He appeared before U.S. Commissioner C. S. Bentley. But when advised of his rights, he said:

"I'm willing to go back."

Cleared of Charge, Now Facing Another

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — An operator of a boating business was cleared today of a charge of conspiring to conceal stolen rare coins, after a judge dismissed the count.

However, Dist. Atty. Richard Thaler of Tompkins County said he would draw up a new charge against William Lower, 33, of Ithaca.

The original charge against Lower was dismissed Tuesday by Acting City Judge Kenneth Johnson. The judge ruled that court information presented by Thaler was insufficient and not backed by an affidavit.

Lower was the second man to be arrested in connection with the theft of a $10,000 coin collection from a home here.

Mrs. Oswald May Conclude Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — After a brief flareup of disputed testimony and confusion over her legal counsel, Mrs. Marguerite Oswald resumed today her testimony to the presidential commission investigating the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

It is the third and possibly final day of the story of her son, Lee Harvey Oswald, from his birth until his arrest in Dallas last Nov. 22. Oswald, charged with the sniper killing of Kennedy, was shot to death Nov. 24.

Chief Justice Earl Warren, chairman of the commission, declined to comment on any of her specific statements — including a reported contradiction of vital testimony given by Oswald's young widow, Marina. But he told questioners that it includes heresay, opinions and conjecture along with some relevant material.

Although the 56-year-old practical nurse from Fort Worth had asked the commission to obtain a lawyer for her because her own counsel was busy "on other matters," she turned up Tuesday with both lawyers.

One was the designated counsel, former Asst. U.S. Atty. John F. Doyle, of Washington. The other was Mark Lane of New York City, who said he was retained without fee by Mrs. Oswald four weeks ago, to represent her son.

Lane asked and was refused permission to join Doyle as Mrs. Oswald's counsel in the closed hearing room. Told that she must pick one attorney, she settled on Doyle.

Meetings Listed For Enrollment In Grain Program

Chairman Joseph Sauer of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Office advised that enrollment is now being taken for the 1964 Agricultural Conservation Program and Feed Grain Program.

Federal cost-sharing for carrying out conservation practices on agricultural land is available through the A.C.P. program. Some of the practices included in the list for 1964 in Ulster County are: liming, stripcropping, planting trees and woodland improvement, constructing ponds for livestock and irrigation, building drainage ditches and planting cover crops. Included again this year are practices for planting shrubs and trees for wildlife feed and cover and developing water and marsh areas for fish, Sauer said.

Under the Feed Grain Program, farmers will be paid for reducing their acreage of corn, sorghum or barley and diverting a like acreage of cropland to a soil conservation use during 1964. Farmers have been notified of their feed grain base and payment rates.

Farmers interested, may enroll in the programs at the ACS Office, 54 John Street, at any time; or, for the convenience of farmers, the following enrollment meetings have been scheduled.

Lloyd — Monday, Feb. 24, Highland Town Clerks Office, 1 to 4 p. m.

Chairman Sauer urged all farmers to enroll in the program if interested.

Dallas Students Send Four-Foot Card to Caroline

DALLAS (AP)— First-graders at a private Dallas school have sent poignant Valentine wishes to Caroline Kennedy, 6-year-old daughter of President Kennedy who was assassinated in Dallas Nov. 22.

The 44 children attend St. Thomas Aquinas School.

A lacy, four-foot-tall valentine was finished Tuesday, and a picture of it with the students was mailed to Caroline, along with hand-printed personal messages.

"Dear Caroline Kennedy," the valentine said. "We love you. Wish we could say this in person, but since we can't, have a happy Valentine's Day. Your first-grade friends."

In brief, simple letters, the children talked to Caroline.

Georgeann Brady, 6, wrote: "I hope you are smart in first grade. I am sorry that your daddy got shot. I bet he is in heaven. He was a good man."

Sleek Whippet Best in Show

NEW YORK (AP)—Bob Forsyth has been a bridesmaid four times in the Westminster Kennel Club Dog Show, but on his fifth try he finally made it to the altar.

"I just had a feeling I had it halfway through the final judging," said the 40-year-old Forsyth today after guiding Ch. Courtenay Fleetfoot Pennyworth a sleek whippet, to a precedent shattering best-in-show in the Westminster Kennel Club Dog Show.

A crowd of about 9,000 in Madison Square Garden Tuesday night saw judge Len Carey select Fleetfoot as the first whippet ever to win the ancient event.

Fleetfoot, a 22-pound fawn and white high stepper, is owned by the Pennyworth Kennels of Newington, N.H. He came over here from England only 14 months ago and has been campaigning steadily since.

Mike Bernstein Gets Key Points To Pace Panthers

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Guard Mike Bernstein gave Dave Brownbill and Ty Sands, the Monticello High scoring twins, some help last night at the Sullivan County court. As a result, the Panthers stormed to a 71-60 DUSO league decision over Kingston High before the usual sellout crowd.

Bernstein had only three points when the Monties lost a 58-55 decision at the local court. He tallied 15 last night, many of them in crucial stages of the contest. As a result, the home side eased past the KHS cagers into third place in the city circuit.

The Maroon players, who had their four-game winning streak snapped, led through most of the opening period. Bernstein's three-point play at the start of the second quarter put the Monties ahead, 17-15. Sam Tompkins then made a layup and Brownbill hit with his patented corner shot, shoving the home side ahead, 21-15.

Lead Is Sliced

Monticello never trailed from that point. The Panthers led by as many as 14 points in the second quarter. However, just before halftime, Larry Armstead scored from near the bucket and then hit from the corner. Jim Plunket tallied on a side jumper and Armstead hit again from the side. Brownbill's tap just before the buzzer sent the Monties into the dressing room with a 40-34 lead.

Coach Bucky Roche's cagers stayed safely ahead in the third quarter and early in the fourth period. With 3:50 left, the home side had a big margin, 62-48. Big Leon Hanna sank two buckets, Armstead converted a pair of free throws and Heppner scored from in close.

The once big lead was now shaved down to six points, 62-56, and the home crowd was beginning to feel a little uneasy. At this stage Bernstein came to the rescue of his floundering mates.

A Crucial Bucket

He cut inside for a layup and was fouled on the play. The pint sized guard calmly sank the free throw to open the lead to nine points.

Coach Jack Gilligan was forced to press the rest of the way and the Monties built up their margin on free throws.

Brownbill, who is deadly from the corner of the small gym, finished with 21 points. Sands hit for 17 while Bernstein added 15 big ones. Sands and Brownbill dominated the backboards.

Armstead, playing his finest high school game, potted 20 points for Kingston. Plunket had 12. Heppner 11 and Hanna 10 before fouling out late in the game. The Monties stopped Larry Marcus without a field goal and limited him to seven points, all from the foul line.

Kingston will return home for a Friday night DUSO game with Middletown.

Origin of Twaalfskill - Part 2

By CHARLES J. TIANO
(Freeman Sports Editor)

In yesterday's column, we traced the origins of organized golf in Kingston from 1899, through three clubs — Kingston Golf Club, Colonial Golf Club and The Twaalfskill Club, Inc., as we know it today.

Twaalfskill has been in continuous operation since May 21, 1902. It was the real beginning of country club golf in this area.

Much was accomplished at that historic meeting which organized Twaalfskill and set the golf club on a "golf and social" basis.

Members of the original Board of Governors included: George J. Smith, Alphonso T. Clearwater, John G. Van Etten, Rodney B. Osterhoudt, Frank Coykendall, Gilbert Hasbrouck and Frank D. Dewey. Van Etten, Clearwater and Everett Fowler made up the committee on constitution and by-laws. Coykendall and J. H. Sanford were named Team Captains in the best Scottish tradition of the sport.

Application was made for membership in the Hudson River Golf Association, with the stipulation that play could not start before June 1, because the "grounds are not yet in condition."

Named to the membership committee were Mrs. Charles Walton, Mrs. Watson Freer and Gilbert Hasbrouck. The Greens Committee consisted of Dewey, Clearwater, Coykendall, Van Etten and Hasbrouck.

An imposing list of names was submitted and approved for membership in the charter "Twaalfskill Club." Among them were: Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kennedy, Charles Kennedy, Miss Ann Kennedy, Miss Adelaide Kennedy, Mr. and Mrs. C. Gordon Reel, Emmanuel Metzger, the Rev. C. G. Ellis, C. F. Cantine, Mr. and Mrs. T. Phillips, Myron Fuller, Jacob Tremper Jr., Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Potts, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Skop, H. A. Lord, A. T. Shultis Jr., M. B. Quincey, Mr. and Mrs. James Fuller, Anna Fuller, Miss Inson Fuller, Miss Martha Fuller, Mr. and Mrs. William Hiltebrant, Mr. and Mrs. William Lawton, Mr .and Mrs. Irving Hornbeck, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Fowler, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Walton, Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Clarke, Miss Isabella Clarke, Mrs. Anna V .Kenyon, Fred Durrone, Miss Margaret Loughran, Dr. W. H. Connelly, Fred Stephan, Mrs. Abram Hasbrouck, Miss Helena Hasbrouck, Miss Annie Hart, Miss Ceil Phillips, Miss Edna Osterhoudt, Miss Jane Fuller and T. V. R. Brown.

SEVERAL SOURCES HELPED IN HISTORICAL RESEARCH

These names, dates and facts represent some extensive research and will be generally accepted as historically accurate. The spelling of some of the names involved may not be correct but time has faded the classic handwriting of Charles DeLa-Vergne Sr.

But the two main points have been settled on and will be recognized official, unless proved to the contrary. First organized golf in Kingston began in 1899 — Twaalfskill was formed in 1902.

We are indebted to several persons for assistance in this research. Among theme were: Mrs. Harold F. King, Captain Hickey, Rodney B. Osterhoudt, William Buddenhagen, Charles DeLa-Vergne, Robert O'Reilly, Cornelius J. Heitzman and Louis R. Netter.

Don Weiss, Public Information Editor of the USGA, reported that based on documented evidence St. Andrew's of Yonkers is the oldest known golf club in the United States. The oldies are ranked in this order by historians: 1) St. Andrew's, Yonkers 1888; 2) Tuxedo Club, Tuxedo, N. Y. 1889; and in 1890, Hotel Champlain Course, Bluff Point, N. Y.; Middlesboro Golf Club, Middlesboro, Ky.; and Newport Golf Club, Newport, R. I.

The Foxburgh Country Club of Foxburg, Pa., traces its beginning to 1887, the year before St. Andrew's was founded, but does not have dated minutes of its beginning as does St. Andrew's. The Dorset Field Club of Dorset, Vt. traces its establishment to 1886 and, like at Foxburg, there have been depositions taken from old timers recalling the early days. However again, there is no accepted documented evidence of the club's formation. It is quite possible that one or both pre-dated St. Andrew's.

GOLF MAY HAVE HAD BEGINNINGS IN 1700s

Actually, golf's beginning in this country goes back into the 1700s wih newspaper evidence of play in Charleston, S. C., near New York City; in Savannah, Georgia and what is now Sarasota, Fla.

Golf was also played in Oakhurst, W. Va., near White Sulphur Springs, prior to Dorset, Foxburg and St. Andrew's, but it did not last there and one of the tests the historians use in club ranking is "continuous" play—at least to the extent that it outlasts pure recreation in a cow pasture for years without any formal club organization. There are also many clubs that were formed quite early but did not adopt golf until some years later the USGA reports.

The USGA takes no position whatever in the matter. The information above is a general summation of what its research has turned up at the present time.

The USGA said that its early documents contained no reference to Twaalfskill. But it's official now. The date was 1902.

Richard (Rod) Aurigemma potted 28 points and Neil Fino contributed 22 to pace Marlboro to an 87-78 UCAL win last night over visiting Highland.

Coach John O'Donnell's hot and cold Dukes were red hot against their arch rivals. They had quarter leads of 20-15, 47-36, and 71-49, before the visitors made a rally in the final period which made the final score close.

Tom Gruner had 25 points and Frank Passante 24 for the losers.

Sleek Whippet Best in Show

NEW YORK (AP)—Bob Forsyth has been a bridesmaid four times in the Westminster Kennel Club Dog Show, but on his fifth try he finally made it to the altar.

"I just had a feeling I had it halfway through the final judging," said the 40-year-old Forsyth today after guiding Ch. Courtenay Fleetfoot Pennyworth a sleek whippet, to a precedent shattering best-in-show in the Westminster Kennel Club Dog Show.

A crowd of about 9,000 in Madison Square Garden Tuesday night saw judge Len Carey select Fleetfoot as the first whippet ever to win the ancient event.

Fleetfoot, a 22-pound fawn and white high stepper, is owned by the Pennyworth Kennels of Newington, N.H. He came over here from England only 14 months ago and has been campaigning steadily since.

Mike Bernstein Gets Key Points To Pace Panthers

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Guard Mike Bernstein gave Dave Brownbill and Ty Sands, the Monticello High scoring twins, some help last night at the Sullivan County court. As a result, the Panthers stormed to a 71-60 DUSO league decision over Kingston High before the usual sellout crowd.

Bernstein had only three points when the Monties lost a 58-55 decision at the local court. He tallied 15 last night, many of them in crucial stages of the contest. As a result, the home side eased past the KHS cagers into third place in the city circuit.

The Maroon players, who had their four-game winning streak snapped, led through most of the opening period. Bernstein's three-point play at the start of the second quarter put the Monties ahead, 17-15. Sam Tompkins then made a layup and Brownbill hit with his patented corner shot, shoving the home side ahead, 21-15.

Lead Is Sliced

Monticello never trailed from that point. The Panthers led by as many as 14 points in the second quarter. However, just before halftime, Larry Armstead scored from near the bucket and then hit from the corner. Jim Plunket tallied on a side jumper and Armstead hit again from the side. Brownbill's tap just before the buzzer sent the Monties into the dressing room with a 40-34 lead.

Coach Bucky Roche's cagers stayed safely ahead in the third quarter and early in the fourth period. With 3:50 left, the home side had a big margin, 62-48. Big Leon Hanna sank two buckets, Armstead converted a pair of free throws and Heppner scored from in close.

The once big lead was now shaved down to six points, 62-56, and the home crowd was beginning to feel a little uneasy. At this stage Bernstein came to the rescue of his floundering mates.

A Crucial Bucket

He cut inside for a layup and was fouled on the play. The pint sized guard calmly sank the free throw to open the lead to nine points.

Coach Jack Gilligan was forced to press the rest of the way and the Monties built up their margin on free throws.

Brownbill, who is deadly from the corner of the small gym, finished with 21 points. Sands hit for 17 while Bernstein added 15 big ones. Sands and Brownbill dominated the backboards.

Armstead, playing his finest high school game, potted 20 points for Kingston. Plunket had 12, Heppner 11 and Hanna 10 before fouling out late in the game. The Monties stopped Larry Marcus without a field goal and limited him to seven points, all from the foul line.

Kingston will return home for a Friday night DUSO game with Middletown.

Origin of Twaalfskill - Part 2

By CHARLES J. TIANO
(Freeman Sports Editor)

In yesterday's column, we traced the origins of organized golf in Kingston from 1899, through three clubs — Kingston Golf Club, Colonial Golf Club and The Twaalfskill Club, Inc., as we know it today.

Twaalfskill has been in continuous operation since May 21, 1902. It was the real beginning of country club golf in this area.

Much was accomplished at that historic meeting which organized Twaalfskill and set the golf club on a "golf and social" basis.

Members of the original Board of Governors included: George J. Smith, Alphonso T. Clearwater, John G. Van Etten, Rodney B. Osterhoudt, Frank Coykendall, Gilbert Hasbrouck and Frank D. Dewey. Van Etten, Clearwater and Everett Fowler made up the committee on constitution and by-laws. Coykendall and J. H. Sanford were named Team Captains in the best Scottish tradition of the sport.

Application was made for membership in the Hudson River Golf Association, with the stipulation that play could not start before June 1, because the "grounds are not yet in condition."

Named to the membership committee were Mrs. Charles Walton, Mrs. Watson Freer and Gilbert Hasbrouck. The Greens Committee consisted of Dewey, Clearwater, Coykendall, Van Etten and Hasbrouck.

An imposing list of names was submitted and approved for membership in the charter "Twaalfskill Club." Among them were: Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kennedy, Charles Kennedy, Miss Ann Kennedy, Miss Adelaide Kennedy, Mr. and Mrs. C. Gordon Reel, Emmanuel Metzger, the Rev. C. G. Ellis, C. F. Cantine, Mr. and Mrs. T. Phillips, Myron Fuller, Jacob Tremper Jr., Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Potts, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Skop, H. A. Lord, A. T. Shultis Jr., M. B. Quincey, Mr. and Mrs. James Fuller, Anna Fuller, Miss Inson Fuller, Miss Martha Fuller, Mr. and Mrs. William Hiltebrant, Mr. and Mrs. William Lawton, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Hornbeck, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Fowler, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Walton, Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Clarke, Miss Isabella Clarke, Mrs. Anna V. Kenyon, Fred Durrone, Miss Margaret Loughran, Dr. W. H. Connelly, Fred Stephan, Mrs. Abram Hasbrouck, Miss Helena Hasbrouck, Miss Annie Hart, Miss Ceil Phillips, Miss Edna Osterhoudt, Miss Jane Fuller and T. V. R. Brown.

SEVERAL SOURCES HELPED IN HISTORICAL RESEARCH

These names, dates and facts represent some extensive research and will be generally accepted as historically accurate. The spelling of some of the names involved may not be correct but time has faded the classic handwriting of Charles DeLa-Vergne Sr.

But the two main points have been settled on and will be recognized official, unless proved to the contrary. First organized golf in Kingston began in 1899 — Twaalfskill was formed in 1902.

We are indebted to several persons for assistance in this research. Among theme were: Mrs. Harold F. King, Captain Hickey, Rodney B. Osterhoudt, William Buddenhagen, Charles DeLa-Vergne, Robert O'Reilly, Cornelius J. Heitzman and Louis R. Netter.

Don Weiss, Public Information Editor of the USGA, reported that based on documented evidence St. Andrew's of Yonkers is the oldest known golf club in the United States. The oldies are ranked in this order by historians: 1) St. Andrew's, Yonkers 1888; 2) Tuxedo Club, Tuxedo, N. Y. 1889; and in 1890, Hotel Champlain Course, Bluff Point, N. Y.; Middlesboro Golf Club, Middlesboro, Ky.; and Newport Golf Club, Newport, R. I.

The Foxburgh Country Club of Foxburg, Pa., traces its beginning to 1887, the year before St. Andrew's was founded, but does not have dated minutes of its beginning as does St. Andrew's. The Dorset Field Club of Dorset, Vt. traces its establishment to 1886 and, like at Foxburg, there have been depositions taken from old timers recalling the early days. However again, there is no accepted documented evidence of the club's formation. It is quite possible that one or both pre-dated St. Andrew's.

GOLF MAY HAVE HAD BEGINNINGS IN 1700s

Actually, golf's beginning in this country goes back into the 1700s wih newspaper evidence of play in Charleston, S. C., near New York City; in Savannah, Georgia and what is now Sarasota, Fla.

Golf was also played in Oakhurst, W. Va., near White Sulphur Springs, prior to Dorset, Foxburg and St. Andrew's, but it did not last there and one of the tests the historians use in club ranking is "continuous" play—at least to the extent that it outlasts pure recreation in a cow pasture for years without any formal club organization. There are also many clubs that were formed quite early but did not adopt golf until some years later the USGA reports.

The USGA takes no position whatever in the matter. The information above is a general summation of what its research has turned up at the present time.

The USGA said that its early documents contained no reference to Twaalfskill. But it's official now. The date was 1902.

Montie Jayvees Score 48-45 Win

Kingston High School's jayvees ran into hot shooting Ed Strong and lost a 48-45 decision last night at Monticello. It was the second straight time the Montie jayvee decisioned the locals.

Strong threw in 10 baskets and had eight free throws for 28 points. Gene Rios rimmed 13 markers and John Spinneweber had 11 for Coach Mike Rienzo's club, which is now 9-4.

Finley to Meet With City Heads

KANSAS CITY (AP) — With little indication of a compromise, the city and owner Charles O. Finley of the Athletics will meet again today at the request of American League President Joe Cronin, three days from the league's lease-or-else deadline.

This will be the seventh round of negotiations in the stadium lease dispute. The last one last Thursday broke up with the two sides farther apart than ever. Finley insists he can't sign for more than two years and the city is just as firm on at least four years. Both sides rejected arbitration. Finley has threatened to take his case to court.

Greet McDermott On Return Home

ESSEXVILLE, Mich. (AP) — Terry McDermott came home to a tumultous welcome by more than 50,000 persons Tuesday and told how he won America's only gold medal at the Winter Olympics.

At Tri-Cities Airport where he was greeted by 4,000 persons, McDermott — referring back to his seventh-place finish in 1960 Olympics skating — quipped, "I was four years older and eight-tenths of a second faster.

"Besides, I had a good race at Innsbruck. Everything is determined on fractions of seconds. Nothing can go wrong."

The 23-year-year-old skating barber set a record in the 500-meter speedskating event at Innsbruck, Austria, a week ago. He returned with his wife, Virginia, from New York where the couple had been honeymooning. they have been married four months.

McDermott led a 200-car motorcade past 5,000 cheering and waving citizens through Bay City and into his hometown Essexville, a small east-central Michigan community.

Saugerties will play a DCSL game Friday at Roosevelt and it's expected that Smith will again be at the helm.

Chicago Black Hawks Sell 'Bad Boy' Young

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Black Hawks wrote an end to their chapter in the Howie Young saga Tuesday night when they sold hockey's "Bad Boy" to the Los Angeles Blades of the Western H key League for cash and players to be named later.

Attempts to reform Young, obtained from Detroit last summer for goalie Roger Crozier, failed to such a point that when the Hawks asked waivers on Young two weeks ago no team in the National Hockey League would put up $20,000 for the 26-year-old defenseman.

The Hawks refused to announce the amount of cash involved or the number of players in the deal. However, Young apparently agreed to go back to the minor leagues or the deal never would have been made.

Trout Fishing Sportsmen Topic

Rosendale Sportsmen's Association members discussed trout fishing at their February meeting in the Tillson fire house.

Several members indicated interest in trout fishing and expressed hope that some stream improvement can be made in one of the local brooks. A study is being made to determine the feasibility of erecting several small dams on a suitable brook which is located on property posted by the club.

Members voted to hold their annual banquet in the fall—Nov. 7 or Nov. 14—and appointed a committee to arrange the event which attracts around 150 persons.

Panthers Keep Pace With Easy 70-35 Triumph

Shooting well over fifty percent for the game, Wallkill kept pace with Rondout Valley in the UCAL race with a 70-35 whipping of Onteora last night at the Boiceville court.

The visitors controlled the backboards and hit from close range as they completely overpowered the hustling but outmanned Indians.

Dennis Mullen (24), George Druttman (14) and Harold Kearns (12) were tops for coach Jack Higgings' cagers. Gary Beesmer had 18 markers for the Indians.

Wallkill won a thrilling jayvee contest, 45-40. It was only the third loss of the season for the Onteora jayvees.

Greet McDermott On Return Home

ESSEXVILLE, Mich. (AP) — Terry McDermott came home to a tumultous welcome by more than 50,000 persons Tuesday and told how he won America's only gold medal at the Winter Olympic.

At Tri-Cities Airport where he was greeted by 4,000 persons, McDermott — referring back to his seventh-place finish in 1960 Olympics skating — quipped, "I was four years older and eight-tenths of a second faster.

"Besides, I had a good race at Innsbruck. Everything is determined on fractions of seconds. Nothing can go wrong."

The 23-year-year-old skating barber set a record in the 500-meter speedskating event at Innsbruck, Austria, a week ago. He returned with his wife, Virginia, from New York where the couple had been honeymooning. they have been married four months.

McDermott led a 200-car motorcade past 5,000 cheering and waving citizens through Bay City and into his hometown Essexville, a small east-central Michigan community.

Sawyers Thwart Late Rally to Record Decision

Head Coach John P. (Bud) Smith was under the weather so Jeff Smythe did the tutoring for the Saugerties High cagers as they squeezed to a 56-55 verdict last night at Ellenville.

The Sawyers broke a 52-52 last quarter deadlock with a couple of baskets and then held off a belated Ellenville rally.

Paul Buytkins rimmed 24 points and John Luchkowec added 11 for the Sawyers. The home side had eight players in action and they all scored.

Saugerties will play a DCSL game Friday at Roosevelt and it's expected that Smith will again be at the helm.

Smythe made it a clean sweep for the evening as his jayvee cagers won, 48-46. Grant Crum scored 19 for the winners, who are 11-2 to date.

Chicago Black Hawks Sell 'Bad Boy' Young

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Black Hawks wrote an end to their chapter in the Howie Young saga Tuesday night when they sold hockey's "Bad Boy" to the Los Angeles Blades of the Western H key League for cash and players to be named later.

Attempts to reform Young, obtained from Detroit last summer for goalie Roger Crozier, failed to such a point that when the Hawks asked waivers on Young two weeks ago no team in the National Hockey League would put up $20,000 for the 26-year-old defenseman.

The Hawks refused to announce the amount of cash involved or the number of players in the deal. However, Young apparently agreed to go back to the minor leagues or the deal never would have been made.

Trout Fishing Sportsmen Topic

Rosendale Sportsmen's Association members discussed trout fishing at their February meeting in the Tillson fire house.

Several members indicated interest in trout fishing and expressed hope that some stream improvement can be made in one of the local brooks. A study is being made to determine the feasibility of erecting several small dams on a suitable brook which is located on property posted by the club.

Members voted to hold their annual banquet in the fall—Nov. 7 or Nov. 14—and appointed a committee to arrange the event which attracts around 150 persons.

A film, Fabulous Florida, was shown. Another film will be shown at the March meeting.

Hard Windstorm Carries Wet Snow Out Over Atlantic

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A wind-driven storm which dumped heavy wet snow across wide areas in parts of the South and East swept out to the Atlantic Ocean today, with only flurries reported in some coastal areas.

Colder air spread into the snow-covered sections which extended from eastern Kentucky to the mid-Atlantic states and into New England. Clear skies prevailed in most of the storm belt.

Some of the chill was felt in Florida as the cold air spread southward. Temperatures fell to freezing in some parts of northern Florida and were near freezing southward to Tampa.

Snow depths up to two feet were reported in parts of West Virginia Tuesday as the storm swept across the heavily populated areas in the East and South. Hundreds of schools were closed, highway and air travel was disrupted and some remote areas were isolated.

Strong winds whipped the snow into huge drifts in many areas, up to six feet high in the extreme eastern section of West Virginia. The storm was described as the worst of the winter season in Baltimore, which reported eight inches of snow. Similar amounts covered the Washington, D.C., area and Philadelphia.

A new storm appeared developing in the Far West, spreading snow in the Rocky Mountain region.

Florida's Governor Explains 'Frog Rains'

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—Fifth-grader Terry White, a former Floridian, stirred up skepticism when he told his classmates at Follansbee, W.Va., that it sometimes rained frogs in Florida.

Today he had powerful support for his story. Florida's governor, Farris Bryant, agreed that sometimes it not only rains frogs but also tiny fish.

Terry wrote the governor "my room and teacher doesn't believe my story" about seeing it rain green frogs when he was 5.

Bryant explained to Terry that the frogs were sometimes swept up into clouds by high winds, and fell back to earth later with the rain.

"I hope that your teacher will accept this verification of your story," Bryant said.

Lake Superior was discovered in 1623 by a Frenchman named Brule.

Newsmen Watch As B26 Crashes

FORT WALTON BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Two hundred newspapermen and foreign military personnel saw a B26 bomber crash in flames Tuesday night during a demonstration at Eglin Air Force Base. The crew of two perished.

John Egan of the Napa (Calif.) Register said the bomber had just completed a strafing run with its 50-caliber machine guns blazing and was pulling up when the right wing fell off.

The craft fell grotesquely to earth in an open field two miles from the shocked spectators.

The fliers were members of first Air Commando Wing of the Tactical Air Command based at Hurlburt Field, Fla.

Their names were withheld pending notification of their families.

Hard Windstorm Carries Wet Snow Out Over Atlantic

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A wind-driven storm which dumped heavy wet snow across wide areas in parts of the South and East swept out to the Atlantic Ocean today, with only flurries reported in some coastal areas.

Colder air spread into the snow-covered sections which extended from eastern Kentucky to the mid-Atlantic states and into New England. Clear skies prevailed in most of the storm belt.

Some of the chill was felt in Florida as the cold air spread southward. Temperatures fell to freezing in some parts of northern Florida and were near freezing southward to Tampa.

Snow depths up to two feet were reported in parts of West Virginia Tuesday as the storm swept across the heavily populated areas in the East and South. Hundreds of schools were closed, highway and air travel was disrupted and some remote areas were isolated.

Strong winds whipped the snow into huge drifts in many areas, up to six feet high in the extreme eastern section of West Virginia. The storm was described as the worst of the winter season in Baltimore, which reported eight inches of snow. Similar amounts covered the Washington, D.C., area and Philadelphia.

Temperatures were below zero again this morning in parts of New England and near zero in upstate New York. One of the lowest marks was 10 below zero in Old Town, Maine.

A new storm appeared developing in the Far West, spreading snow in the Rocky Mountain region.

Florida's Governor Explains 'Frog Rains'

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—Fifth-grader Terry White, a former Floridian, stirred up skepticism when he told his classmates at Follansbee, W.Va., that it sometimes rained frogs in Florida.

Today he had powerful support for his story. Florida's governor, Farris Bryant, agreed that sometimes it not only rains frogs but also tiny fish.

Terry wrote the governor "my room and teacher doesn't believe my story" about seeing it rain green frogs when he was 5.

Bryant explained to Terry that the frogs were sometimes swept up into clouds by high winds, and fell back to earth later with the rain.

"I hope that your teacher will accept this verification of your story," Bryant said.

Lake Superior was discovered in 1623 by a Frenchman named Brule.

Newsmen Watch As B26 Crashes

FORT WALTON BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Two hundred newspapermen and foreign military personnel saw a B26 bomber crash in flames Tuesday night during a demonstration at Eglin Air Force Base. The crew of two perished.

John Egan of the Napa (Calif.) Register said the bomber had just completed a strafing run with its 50-caliber machine guns blazing and was pulling up when the right wing fell off.

The craft fell grotesquely to earth in an open field two miles from the shocked spectators.

The fliers were members of first Air Commando Wing of the Tactical Air Command based at Hurlburt Field, Fla.

Their names were withheld pending notification of their families.
